

Tragedies in Area: Taconic Drowning, 2 Die in RR Mishap

By JON POWERS

A three-year old Long Island girl was reported drowned while vacationing with her parents at Taconic State Park in the Columbia County community of Copake yesterday.

The incident was that community's third fatality of the weekend. Late Saturday afternoon, two teenage girls, both from Long Island were killed when their auto was struck by a Penn Central train at an unguarded crossing on New Copake Road, several miles southeast of Hudson.

Alone on West Beach.

At approximately 11:30 a.m. Sunday morning, State Police report that Kathleen Robinson of 5 Oak Street, South Farmingdale was playing alone on the west beach of the park when she apparently fell headfirst into the water.

Lifeguards who were on duty at the beach, saw the youngster lying face down in approximately one foot of water, but their efforts to revive the child were futile. By the time they were able to pull her out of the lake, she had swallowed a large quantity of water.

The youngster was rushed by the Greenport Rescue Squad to Columbia County Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival by Dr. Elia Bliss of Hudson.

The child's parents, James and Margaret Robinson were treated at Columbia Memorial Hospital for shock and later released.

Unguarded Crossing

At 5:15 p. m. Saturday an auto operated by Donna Campanile, 18, of 80-37 255th Street, Floral Park, L. I., was struck by a train operated by Hugo H. Staff, 63, of Germantown at an unguarded crossing on New Copake Road in the Town of Copake.

The driver, who was traveling north on the highway at the time of the incident, apparently drove through the crossing without checking for possible traffic on the tracks. The auto was struck on the right side by the train and carried for approximately 150 yards before being pushed off the side of the tracks.

The driver of the auto was pronounced dead at the scene with massive internal injuries. A passenger in the auto, Joan R. Slotnick of Little Neck, L. I., died of compound fractures of the skull.

Warning Lights Flashing

The train was traveling at a speed of 40 miles per hour when the incident occurred. State Police from the Claverack station said that the train's red warning lights were flashing before it reached the intersection, and that the engineer had sounded his horn several times to warn motorists of its approach. This is standard procedure for all trains approaching an unguarded crossing, it was explained. The crossing itself was identified only by cross marks on the road. There were no gates or lights at the intersection. Police report that, had the driver of the vehicle checked for oncoming trains, the accident could have been avoided.

No Action Pending

The auto was owned by the driver's brother, Davis Campanile, also of Floral Park. The engineer of the train was questioned by State Police investigators and released. There is no criminal action pending.

One other area fatality occurred over the weekend. On Saturday afternoon Brian T. Traynor, 18, of New York City, drowned while swimming in a small pond at a private campsite near the Sullivan County Community of DeBruce.

Across New York State a total of 25 persons died as a result of accidents during the weekend. Eighteen persons were reported killed in traffic accidents while four persons were the victim of drowning incidents.

Ulster County authorities reported no serious accidents on the area's highways and only a few minor incidents.

Three Hurt on 209

At 3 a. m. Sunday, three persons were injured in a one-car crash on Route 209 in the Town of Wawarsing. Police report that an auto operated by Francine Nachman, 19, of Brooklyn was traveling south on Route 209 when the driver was blinded by the lights of an oncoming vehicle. The auto left the road and went into a ditch on the right side of the highway. The driver suffered head and right shoulder pains, while two passengers in the car received minor injuries. Eighteen-year-old Ronald Finn of Brooklyn suffered lacerations of the shoulders and chin and Bruce Hendricks, 17, also of Brooklyn received lacerations of the left hand. All three were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where they were released after treatment.

Two persons were injured in a one-car crash on Oak Ridge Road, three-tenths of a mile west of Route 209 in the Town of Wawarsing at 10:15 p. m. Saturday.

Romutal Nowakowski, 17, of Brooklyn was operating a vehicle when it failed to negotiate a right turn. The auto went off the right side of the road and struck a tree. Nowakowski was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the head. The owner, and passenger, of the auto, Irene Stobierski, 21, of Spring Glen was treated for lacerations of the forehead.

Nowakowski was issued a summons for failure to keep to the right, and driving without a license.

Still in Hanoi

The three captured American fliers, who are being released by the North Vietnamese, were reported still in Hanoi. Stephen B. Cary, an official in Philadelphia of the American Friends Service Committee, said an associate had wired from Hanoi that the release has been delayed one week.

"We have no idea why they were held up," Cary said. The three airmen are Maj. James F. Low 43, Sausalito, Calif.; Maj. Fred N. Thompson, 32, Taylors, S.C., and Capt. Joe V. Carpenter, 37, Vicksburg, Miss.

Unit Wiped Out

East of Khe Sanh near Con Thien, Marine fighter pilots and artillery wiped out most of a 30-man North Vietnamese unit that was spotted moving in an open area. The U.S. Command reported 22 North Vietnamese bodies were found.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 10 Viet Cong and capturing 21 others during the first contingent of a new infantry division from Thailand. Some 1,500 troops of Thailand's 12,000-man Black Panther Division arrived at the U.S. Army's Newport port facility just north of the capital.

The Thai division will have a dual mission: to block enemy infiltration into Saigon from the northeast, where elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division are said to be based, and to smash Viet Cong guerrilla bands in Bien Hoa province, east of the capital, easing the threat of enemy harassment against allied military installations there.

Along the northern frontier, an outnumbered U.S. Marine force hurled back a North Vietnamese battalion near Khe Sanh Sunday. The enemy opened up with mortars before launching a ground probe at dusk, U.S. headquarters said. While Marine artillery pounded the North Vietnamese, the defending Marines unleashed heavy automatic weapons fire.

When the fighting died down two hours later, the Leathernecks counted 12 enemy bodies outside their positions and reported 10 of their own men wounded.

Terrorists set off bombs outside two theaters in Ben Tre, another provincial capital in the Mekong Delta 50 miles southeast of Saigon. Government headquarters said four persons were killed and 16 wounded.

Vietnamese informants say at least 1,000 Viet Cong troops have infiltrated the capital city in preparation for the third major offensive of the year expected within the next two months.

Allied defenses around Saigon were promised more reinforcements today with the arrival of

Seaplane Salvaged in Saugerties

An amphibian aircraft, owned by Murray Pearlman of Tannersville is shown after it crashed while attempting to land in the Hudson River near Saugerties on Saturday afternoon. Police report that the plane landed in a boat wake, bounced back into the air, overturned and sank. Pearlman was rescued by three Port Ewen youths who were water skiing on the river at the time of the incident.

While there were several boats in the area at the time, the three boys, Jan Kline, Michael Leiching and Joseph R. Leiching, were the only ones who responded to the crash. The plane was recovered by Dedrick's Wrecker Service and towed back to shore. Pearlman was not injured in the crash. (Freeman photo by Haines)

Terrorists Bomb Four Theaters

SAIGON (AP) — A new wave of Viet Cong terrorism hit Saigon and two provincial capitals Sunday, killing 13 Vietnamese and wounding 92.

Intelligence sources have said terrorist attacks might precede the threatened third major enemy offensive of the year, but the lull in the ground war still continued.

Twelve Vietnamese were killed and 91 wounded in the weekend bombing of four theaters, one of them only a block from national police headquarters in Saigon. A large explosive charge set off outside the Saigon theater killed four persons and wounded 52. Also in Saigon, a minor official was assassinated and a 17-year-old boy seriously wounded.

Grenade

A hand grenade was thrown into a group of militiamen watching a traveling troupe perform in Phu Cuong, a provincial capital 15 miles north of Saigon. Four persons were killed and 23 wounded, including two of the performers.

No Let-Up in Viet War

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson is enjoying a rancher's respite in the Texas hills after U. S.-Vietnam summit sessions that withered hopes for any early cease-fire or even a let-up in the Vietnamese war.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam did see some prospect, nevertheless, that his army's power will grow to the point of permitting what he termed a phasing out of some American military units one at a time in 1969. But he stressed this would not mean a complete U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Johnson and Thieu put in 10 hours conferring privately with key advisers flanking them in meetings Friday and Saturday in Hawaii.

Thieu stayed on a bit afterward to relish the delights of sun, sand and surf at famed Waikiki beach.

Johnson, never known publicly to have tried this type of relaxation on visits to the "paradise of the Pacific," was off by jet for the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, 65 miles west of here, shortly after the final meeting ended at the U.S. Pacific Command hilltop headquarters overlooking Pearl Harbor.

Back home, the President and Mrs. Johnson attended Mass Sunday at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church in Stonewall, a mile or so up the Pedernales River from the ranch.

The time of the presidential return to Washington was flexible. It could be Tuesday night, by way of Cincinnati. The National Governors' Conference there has been putting on pressure for a Johnson appearance and speech.

The Honolulu summit conference closed with a communique, a statement by Johnson to reporters, and a Thieu news conference.

The two presidents agreed that the comparative lull in the Asiatic war by no means represents any deescalation by the enemy, but rather a regrouping for "Renewed offensive action at some time in the next two months." They promised "to meet and defeat whatever military and terrorist actions might be initiated by the other side."

Johnson and Thieu said they detected no signs of a breakthrough at the U.S.-North Vietnamese preliminary peace discussions in Paris and called on the other side "to take the road toward peace now open to them."

Secretary of Defense Clark Clifford had told newsmen earlier that his talks with Thieu and other Vietnamese officials in Saigon last week had skipped the topic of a complete halt to the bombing of North Vietnam in order to leave that to Johnson and Thieu. Johnson said this never came up at Honolulu.

"The big rumors about meeting here to discuss stopping the bombing or to pull out or to do these things are just pure absolute tommyrot and fiction," he said in his final statement to reporters.

He said there was no "fighting among us or division among the allies," and thus the conference was not very exciting.

He summed it up this way: "We are resolutely determined to continue to pursue every avenue that might lead to peace, and the two presidents are in full agreement . . . We are equally determined to defend South Vietnam."

Both Thieu and the communique emphasized that any end to hostilities must be accompanied by effective controls and guarantees.

What in the World!

2,000 Under Tent Collapse

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A sudden gust of wind collapsed a large tent on more than 2,000 rock 'n' roll fans Sunday night. Authorities said a tragedy was averted because the young people refused to panic.

About 65 persons were injured. It was the second such incident in the past two weeks. On July 9 at Auburn, N. Y., a large tent of the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus fell on 1,400 of 2,000 persons under the Big Top. Eighty-five persons were hurt, 24 seriously.

Forty persons, many of them teen-agers, were treated at three Milwaukee hospitals, Sunday night, and officials estimated another 25 were treated for cuts and bruises at a Red Cross station near the scene of the tent collapse on the shores of Lake Michigan. No one was seriously injured.

3rd Day With New Heart

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred C. Everman was in "very satisfactory" condition today — his third day with a new heart.

Everman, 58, an Arlington, Va., barber, Saturday received the heart of Mrs. Evelyn G. Krikorian, a Houston housewife who died of complications from a kidney disease.

The operation was the sixth human-to-human heart transplant for the St. Luke's Hospital surgical team headed by Dr. Denton Cooley.

One of Cooley's transplant patients, Everett C. Thomas of Phoenix, Ariz., has been released from the hospital.

Peking Aid Has a Price

LONDON (UPI) — Peking has renewed its call on Hanoi to "fight to the end" as apparent price for further Communist Chinese aid. But Hanoi has deftly avoided any commitment to Mao Tse-tung to change its present Vietnam strategy, diplomats said today.

Peking's move and Hanoi's reaction emerged from exchanges of the two sides in Peking during the recent visit there of a North Vietnamese top level mission. The exchange was revealed by the Communist Chinese diplomatic mission in London.

Biafra Famine Talks

NIAMEY, Niger (AP) — Representatives of Nigeria and secessionist Biafra have begun talks aimed at breaking the stalemate that is keeping food from millions of refugees threatened with starvation in the breakaway West African tribal state.

The two delegations met Sunday in Niamey, the Niger capital northwest of Nigeria and agreed on an agenda for peace talks getting under way soon in Ethiopia. A communique issued after the conference said the delegates also discussed "concrete proposals for the transportation of relief to the civilian victims of the war."

There was no indication, however, of any progress toward agreement on relief measures.

Not Guilty: Ray; Trial November 12

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — James Earl Ray pleaded not guilty today at his arraignment on charges of assassinating Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Trial was set for Nov. 12.

Ray was arraigned under heavy security in an 11-minute hearing before Judge W. Preston Battle in the Shelby County Criminal Court.

Dressed in blue from his suit to a light blue shirt, Ray did not say a word throughout the brief hearing.

Judge Battle set the trial to begin November 12 and asked each side to try to complete the case within six weeks.

Ray also pleaded not guilty to a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon with intent to do bodily harm.

Against Gimmicks

Meanwhile, according to the Associated Press, Ray's lawyer, Arthur Hanes, a former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said he wants "gimmicks" removed from the atmosphere in which Ray will be tried.

Hanes said Sheriff William N. Morris Jr. has sworn on his "Boy Scouts honor" that conversations between Ray and Hanes will not be monitored.

By gimmicks, Hanes said he meant bodyguards and bullet-proof vests of the type worn by Ray when he was whisked into Shelby County jail early Friday after an overnight flight from London.

Hanes and his son, Arthur Hanes Jr., had a city police bodyguard Sunday when they toured the neighborhood where King was shot.

The elder Hanes said he and his law partner visited the Lorraine Motel where flowers and a plaque mark the spot where the civil rights leader was standing on a second-floor balcony when he was shot.

Visit Rooming House

The lawyers also visited a rooming house which overlooks the motel. It was from this house and its communal bathroom that police say the fatal shot was fired.

A mattress fire broke out on the third floor of the jail Sunday night.

City firemen rushed into the building. Sheriff Morris would say only that the fire did little damage and was extinguished quickly.

The sheriff would not say if the fire was set, where on the third floor it broke out, or whether it was considered the work of other inmates who reportedly are irked over the elaborate treatment Ray is receiving.

Hanes described Ray's mood as one of optimism. "He's in good health and has no complaints whatsoever. He reads newspapers and magazines."

State Ends City Pigeon Trapping

By HUGH REYNOLDS

A State Department of Fish and Game official put Kingston out of the pigeon trapping business last week when he confiscated the city's cage.

Fish and Game Protector Phillip Gillen appeared at city hall Wednesday afternoon and informed City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle that the city's pigeon trapping operation was illegal and demanded the city's pigeon cage.

The cage, according to Lyle, was not in city hall at the time of Gillen's visit. It had been atop the roof for several weeks but was taken down recently after trapping only one bird.

The Conservation Department acted under a law that states . . . "Pigeons shall not be killed within the limits of any city except for food purposes or unless sick or injured beyond recovery." The law also states that . . . "pigeons may be trapped within any city whenever the Board of Health finds they have become a menace to public health."

The pigeon "menace" in Kingston first became a public issue through Editorials of the Air by Radio Station WGHIQ president, Harry M. Thayer.

After blasting city officials over the radio at length, Thayer appeared at the June meeting of the Common Council and called for a committee to deal with the nuisance of pigeons and unlicensed dogs.

At that time, Alderman Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward) suggested that Thayer be appointed as chairman of a Nuisance Committee by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan.

The appointment has yet to come from Garraghan.

Meanwhile, Thayer teamed up with First Ward Alderman Florence S. Ludlow and had a pigeon cage built by City Department of Public Works at a cost of about $30. The cage was placed upon the roof of city hall, a favorite roosting place for pigeons where it quickly attracted its first and only customer.

Thayer's plan to trap pigeons in the city was thwarted by Mrs. Marguerite Isaacs, a strong advocate of animal protection and leader of a group called Raccoon Refugees at Large.

It was Mrs. Isaacs who defended the pigeons, found the law prohibiting their trapping in the city and alerted conservation officials to the city's illegal pigeon cage.

Mrs. Isaacs has been a long-time friend of the pigeon which she says are not violent or dangerous. For a time she fed them in the early morning hours but found it detrimental to the birds since local cats were attacking them when they landed for food.

Mrs. Isaacs said the best way to control pigeons is through birth control pills which have proven effective in Budapest, Hungary.

Thayer says he is still determined to get rid of the pigeons and will petition the board of health to declare the birds a health menace so that the city can resume trapping. He added that he would prefer to approach the board with official city sanctioning, that is, as chairman of the Nuisance Committee.

Thayer, who has met with county officials on the pigeon problem hopes to get $1,000 appropriated from both the city and the county for his war against the birds.

Garraghan, when informed of Thayer's desire to be named chairman of the Nuisance Committee, said he had no objections.

4 New Drug Arrests

By LYNN MULVANEY

The alertness of two Ellenville state troopers led to the arrest of four New York City men this weekend on charges of drug possession.

Cruising Rt. 52 in the Town of Wawarsing about 3 a.m. Sunday, Troopers R. M. Houst and J.J. Schetzel observed the driver of a 1964 car acting suspiciously.

Investigation disclosed that the three Brooklyn residents in the car were allegedly in possession of marijuana and amphetamine.

Those Arraigned

Ronald Bader, 16; Marc Edelstein, 19 and Mark Baron, 19, were turned over to Investigator Michael Mahoney at Ellenville and the trio were arraigned before Justice Frank Spada. Each was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail.

At 1:30 this morning, the two troopers, again cruising Rt. 52, attempted to apprehend an alleged speeder whom they were forced to chase for three or four miles before making the arrest.

While being issued the speeding ticket, the driver, Harry Wagoniski, 19, of the Bronx, stepped out of his car. It was then that Troopers Houst and Schetzel observed the odor of freshly burned marijuana and upon a search of the car found a quantity of marijuana in the glove compartment, the police report states.

Also found in the glove compartment was an instrument for use in administering narcotics.

Wagoniski was turned over to Investigator Mahoney and arraigned before Justice Spada who ordered him confined to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail.

The defendant is scheduled to appear before Justice Spada on Aug. 14.

This weekend's drug arrests are among a growing list of those made by state police in connection with cars passing through the area.

Liz Reported Resting After Abdominal Surgery

LONDON (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor was today "resting comfortably and in satisfactory condition" following "abdominal surgery" Sunday at a north London clinic, a medical spokesman said.

"She will not be going home for some time year," said the spokesman for the Fitzroy Nuffield Nursing home.

The spokesman said the 36-year old actress' husband, Richard Burton, had visited her after the operation, Miss Taylor's second in less than a week.

Details were not disclosed. Both operations were described only as a "woman's operation."

A fawn was born at Forsyth Park Zoo on July 4. This, together with the arrival of two emus, filled the zoo to capacity.

The construction of a new bear cage is scheduled to start this month.

Prague to Soviet

Halt 'Uncomradely Interference'

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovakia's Communist reform leaders today demanded the Soviet Union stop its "uncomradely interference" in this country's affairs.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of the Czech Communist liberals who ousted Stalinist Antonin Novotny, told the Russians in an article in the party newspaper Rude Pravo that the reformers are true Communists.

"We therefore demand—calmly, deliberately but absolutely definitely—from our best friends too that they respect our rights and stands that exclude any kind of uncomradely interference," he said.

In Moscow, underlining the Soviet-Czech crisis rocking Eastern Europe, the Soviet Communist party warned that the Czechoslovakian situation threatens the security of the East Bloc and the military balance of power in Europe.

The Soviet party organ Pravda aimed a flurry of warnings at the American-led West which it calls imperialist.

Pravda said the Soviets and their allies would never allow imperialism to "breach the socialist system and thus change the relation of forces in Europe in their favor."

Pravda's warning more than attacked the Czech Communist reform drive for more democracy and independence. It raised once more the threat of Soviet armed intervention in Czechoslovakia.

The exchange of demands and threats flared here and in Moscow as Soviet forces still dawdled en route to their long promised pullout from this country, Czech Communist leaders in turn kept silent about a Kremlin request for a face-to-face showdown meeting between leaders of both Red nations.

President Ludvik Svoboda, the only Czech party president member to surface over the weekend, told a rally at Javornia Sunday night that this nation will remain loyal to the East Bloc. But he said, "The Russians must learn to tolerate those who do not toe the Moscow line."

However, Svoboda—whose name means "freedom" in Slavic and Russian—said nothing about the Kremlin's call for a Czech-Soviet summit today or Tuesday in either of the Soviet cities of Kiev or Lvov.

In Moscow, authoritative sources said, Dubcek was waiting for the last Russian troops to leave his country before meeting the Soviets.

The Soviet troops, estimated by Czechs at more than 27,000, came for East Bloc war games in June. They were to have left by June 30. But their departure has been at a snail's pace—causing alarm among Czechs, city such as the Hungarian capital of Budapest. It would make the meeting easier since both the Soviets and the Czechs have said they did not want to go to each other's nation for the talks.

The Abe Fortas Matter Hurts Thornberry Case

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The likelihood that the Senate won't act until September on the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice appears to have reduced chances of quick consideration of President Johnson's other Supreme Court appointment—Homer Thornberry as associate justice.

Recall Possible

Sen. James O. Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee said Thornberry probably would be dismissed after questioning today by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and a few other committee members, then recalled "after the Fortas matter is determined by the Senate."

Eastland, D-Miss., said several committee members oppose acting further on Thornberry because they feel there won't be a vacancy for him to fill until Fortas' elevation from associate justice to chief justice is confirmed. Many senators refuse even to question Thornberry until then, Eastland said.

The conservative Liberty Lobby, meanwhile, introduced strong opposition to confirmation of Fortas to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren.

W. B. Hicks Jr., the lobby's executive secretary, in prepared testimony assailed what he called Justice Fortas' record of permissiveness toward communism, crime and corruption.

Hicks also called Fortas "a fixer" who tried to keep the Walter Jenkins and Bobby Baker cases from embarrassing the Johnson administration.

Eastland said he will call a committee meeting this week to consider the Fortas nomination but Senate leaders said floor action probably will not come until after Labor Day because of a long recess for political conventions.

"It looks that way," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

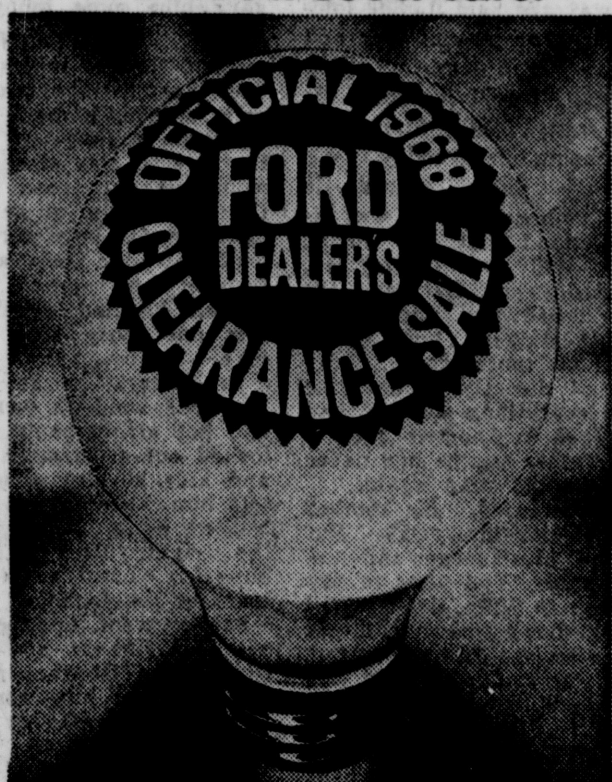

He said a Senate session is not likely to be sandwiched between the Republican National Convention starting Aug. 5 and the Democratic convention to begin Aug. 26.

One of the senators saying he would not question Thornberry until Fortas is confirmed was Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who is among GOP senators threatening to filibuster confirmation of both President Johnson's Supreme Court nominees.

They contend the appointments should be made by the new president in January, and some have accused Johnson of "cronyism" for nominating Fortas and Thornberry, both close friends of his.

Who Should Run Welfare?

Not so long ago, welfare was a non-government function run by professional sociologists through volunteer philanthropic organizations. That was a development from private charity. Now welfare is big business spending $5 to $6 billion a year; big politics, siphoning the benefits where they will do the incumbent administrations the most good; and big expectations, the source of big protests when the recipients don't get all they have been led to believe was coming to them.

You'd think that even a big federal administration would be satisfied to let the cities and states struggle with the consequences of their welfare doles, but not Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Wilburg J. Cohen. He proposed that the Federal Government—meaning his HEW department—should take over the entire running of the welfare program—"this would take the burden off the states and cities and make the entire system more uniform."

There is something to that argument. Welfare recipients getting little if anything in the South due to local opposition have flooded the cities of the North seeking the much richer handouts there, and created slums and ghettos that have made life miserable for them as well as their new neighbors. But what about the principle of local government? Is there no end to the Big Brother concept of doing things?

Cohen hinted at one reason for the change. He said, "The program is spending $5 to $6 billion annually and is still not fulfilling its responsibilities. If it were, this figure would probably be tripled." No idea of phasing out welfare by educating and training people to help themselves. Tripling the spending, a typical big government approach. At least local state officials try to hold welfare down, being responsible to the taxpayers that have to pay the bills.

Fighting Inflation

Now that the 10 per cent Federal income tax surcharge is in effect, with it the accompanying $6 billion cutback in Federal spending, the fight on inflation has begun in earnest. These weapons combine with the dampening effect of the tight money policy the Federal Reserve has pursued for months.

To reduce inflation, the economy must slow down and with it national economic growth. The money managers of the Federal Reserve must determine how much the economy should slow down, and when the slow down comes. Also, what it will do to the country in human terms—higher unemployment and more unrest in the country balanced against the balance of payments and the values of the dollar.

In current dollar terms, estimates are that the gross national product will increase at an annual rate of $12 billion to $14 billion in the third quarter as against $19 billion average in the first half. Also, that unemployment will rise from the 3.5 per cent to 3.8 per cent of the first half to perhaps as high as 4.5 per cent in the latter half.

Despite such a slow down, however, some easing in money is inevitable, observers believe, barring an international crisis. The question is one of timing—whether to start easing money now or wait to see what develops in the economy. With less money to spend, due to the surtax, the average citizen years for some loosening in money to conduct his own affairs.

Highway Vs. Golf Course

So next holiday you're going to escape all the nuts on the highway and spend a safe and sane day on the golf course?

Putt around with these statistics, as reported by Saga magazine:

Before the end of the year, more than 10,000 golfers, caddies and groundskeepers will have been skulled by flying balls; 1,600 will have been accidentally slashed by flailing clubs; 500 will have been felled by lightning, 2,000 by heat prostration and 1,200 by over-exertion and 1,500 either run down by, or overturned in, golf carts.

Burglar Time

The immutable fact that householders are often the unwitting accomplices of thieves through their negligence is shown in the rising volume of burglaries throughout the area.

It is acknowledged generally that summertime is a busy time for burglars and that homes and apartments vacated for weeks at a time are irresistible temptations.

Some folks invite trouble by leaving their home unlocked, or by alerting burglars that they are absent by leaving notes in milk bottles. There is no such thing as a burglar-proof home, but all deterrents are worthwhile such as locked doors and windows. Anything that slows down an attempted entry is good.

David Lawrence Says Will LBJ Keep Congress In Session to January?

WASHINGTON — Many unprecedented things have been happening in the relations of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the federal government, but there is talk now of another big surprise — namely, that President Johnson may try to keep Congress in session not just for a short time after the national political conventions but for a much longer period between Election Day and the inauguration of a new president.

It certainly would be unusual for a president going out of office to call both Houses of Congress into session after a presidential election in which he has not been a candidate. But while Congress may, by joint resolution, announce its adjournment, the President still retains the authority to call a special session thereafter.

On Capitol Hill there is some discussion already of the possibility that Mr. Johnson will seek to keep Congress in session almost up until January, when his successor will be inaugurated.

Mr. Johnson has put on his "must" list a large number of bills which cover some important projects. There is no emergency which would require action on all of them, but a president has the power just the same to continue to call on Congress for the enactment of bills which he would like to see become law.

Congress, on the other hand — unless there is a truly pressing emergency—could ignore a president's request for action on legislation, and could recess from time to time at its own pleasure.

While Congress may be reluctant to pass a good many of the pending bills and several will be left for the January session, much depends on who the president-elect will be. If, for example, Hubert Humphrey is the democratic nominee and wins the election, there would be a tendency for him to work in close co-operation with newspapermen with White House passes. It includes people who work at the White House.

Actually, the "trip file" — of people to be checked out if the President makes a trip to a city where any of them live — is somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 names, nationwide.

The truth of the matter is this. After the assassination of President Kennedy, the Secret Service was instructed to multiply its activities. It doubled the number of agents and installed computers. More importantly, the Secret Service, which a few years back depended on what information someone might think of interest, now receives on a systematic basis thousands of reports from the Defense Intelligence Agency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Department of State, the Post Office Department, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and state and local police departments.

The bits and pieces of raw information — rumors, tips, gossip, lies and truths which it now receives are running at about 20,000 a year. This compares with about 800 bits and pieces of information in 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Now it may be that President Johnson has been threatened more with assassination than previous presidents. But there is no hard evidence to prove or disprove this thesis — when the "threats" are analyzed.

Drew Pearson Says Conspiracy Theory Exploded By FBI in Dr. King Murder Case

WASHINGTON — It now looks as if the FBI has exploded the generally prevalent theory that the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King involved a conspiracy.

The conspiracy theory has long been held, as a result of the large amounts of money spent by James Earl Ray, the suspected killer, and the manner in which he was able to travel around the United States, Canada, and Europe. It was believed his operations would have been impossible without help from other conspirators who were out to murder King.

For instance, Ray rented a safe deposit box in the Birmingham Trust National Bank, August 30 of last year, and suddenly began passing out crisp $20 bills. He paid $499 for dancing lessons. He also paid $395 for mail-order photographic equipment that he didn't know how to operate.

He shelled out money for a bartending course, though he showed no interest in working behind any bar. He also took a course in lockpicking from a correspondence school in Michigan, which cost about $400.

His white Mustang cost $1,995, which he paid for in cash. He drove it from Mexico to Montreal, from Los Angeles to New Orleans, and always seemed to have enough cash.

Occasionally Ray slipped $20 tips to bar girls and prostitutes.

All told, Ray spent an estimated $10,000 in seven months. Yet during this time he never held a job. After the King murder, the suspect went to Canada and then to England where he also seemed to be in the dough. He had plenty of money to spend on clothes and airplane fare.

So the big question was: Where did he get the money? For a long time the FBI toyed with the possibility that Ray was financed by a white supremacy ring. He had boasted to fellow prisoners that he intended to make a big "score" on the outside and that he might try to collect a rumored $1 million bounty that a business group supposedly had offered for death of Dr. King.

Source of Money
Now, however, the FBI has found a robbery where Ray probably got his money. On July 13 the Bank of Alton, in Upper Alton, Ill., was robbed of $20,000. Alton is across the Mississippi River from Missouri, and it was from the Missouri State Penitentiary that Ray escaped on April 23, 1967, three months before the July 13 robbery in Alton.

The holdup was pulled off by two robbers who wore stocking masks. Their faces could not be identified. However, the FBI has been checking very carefully, and one of the robbers answers the description of James Earl Ray. He had the same long hair, the same height and the same physical make-up.

At first the FBI was inclined to be skeptical. However, rechecking the Alton bank robbery has convinced them that Ray was involved and that this was where he got the money on which he lived so extravagantly prior to the King murder.

The idea that a group conspired to murder King and paid Ray to do it has now been dropped.

Note 1: The FBI has also traced a British bank robbery to Ray from which he got more money.
Note 2: Arthur J. Hanes, the American lawyer who turned up in London to defend Ray, has been connected with various other cases involving racial violence. He was the attorney defending the Ku Klux Klansmen in the Viola Liuzzo case, has a flair for publicity and it's believed he went to London on his own. There is no evidence that he is being paid by conspirators.

CHE GUEVARA DIARY
Some authorities have questioned the authenticity of the Che Guevara diary which he wrote after his death in the Bolivian mountains. We can report that the diary is completely authentic.

Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro got hold of it by purchasing bootleg excerpts from Bolivian officials, then piecing the excerpts together. A few pages were missing from the version which he released to friendly publications around the world, including Ramparts magazine in this country.

Parade magazine's enterprising editor, Jess Gorkin, organized a consortium of publication which sought to purchase the rights to the diary from the Bolivian government. Gorkin sent Andrew St. George, a bring-em-back-alive correspondent, to Bolivia to translate the diary and research the story behind it.

Actually, some of the other documents captured with Guevara are much more revealing than his diary. He lugged them around the jungle in a waterproof jungle pack and a portable field safe made of special, high-impact plastic.

The papers included the outline of a book Guevara planned to write on the evolution of man's thinking, going back to the ancient Greek philosophers; also an original short story, entitled "Passing the Test," which he wrote in the jungle.

The bloodthirsty guerrilla leader also packed poetry with him to occupy his leisure moments. His favorite poet apparently was Ruben Dario, although some verses appear to have been written by Guevara himself.

He also rated his Cuban officers in a confidential "rating book," which indicates he may have found the characters for his short story among his own guerrilla band. In a typical comment on one officer, Commandante Marcos, Che wrote: "He will not perform at the expected level, he is undisciplined, anti-study and arbitrary."

Something they were burying him in a half hour. She was so glad that Willy had a friend. A true friend.

Shorty sat on a camp chair. He wished that someone would give him a coke or a piece of bread. He wouldn't ask. People kept coming in and whispering or crying. Shorty went to the bathroom and found that he was still holding the flowers. They didn't look like anything compared to those inside. He felt like crying, but he stopped it.

It would have been better if he had brought his bike and put that on the box. When he came out, the people were gone. There were petals on the floor. Shorty ran outside and saw the last coach pulling away. He tried to yell, but his throat hurt. Shorty ran and ran. The sweat was tickling inside his shirt. His lungs were bursting. As the funeral snaked along a picket fence and turned inside, someone saw him. The cars stopped. Old Lady O'Rourke opened the door and pulled him in. Shorty couldn't speak. He couldn't breathe.

It was sunny and green, and Shorty got his breath and said: "Willy didn't like bicycles, did he?" The old lady looked puzzled. "No," she said. "He never mentioned a bike to me." Shorty bent his head over his miserable flowers. Tears came. Deep sobs shook him. The old lady was lying. Willy would love to ride a bike—just once...

He was little for ten. A scrapper. The black hair came down over his forehead like a frond. Shorty came out of the bathroom with a towel on his shoulders and his mother was sitting in a chair and she said gently "Come here." He was disturbed by the way she said it. She folded her arms around him and rocked him against her bosom. "I just heard," she said softly. "Willy Stahl died. He's being buried today."

Shorty didn't move. He couldn't believe. Willy was his best friend that had moved away. Willy was big for ten. He had yellow hair and the kids called him Dutch. His mother talked, but Shorty heard no more words. Willy couldn't die. Dying was like when everything stops. It had happened to Shorty's great-grandfather and he had never seen the old man again.

"Get dressed," his mother said pushing him away. "Put on the blue serge and the good shoes. You want to say goodbye to Willy, don't you?" Shorty didn't know. "I'll get some flowers from the garden," she said. The child was dazed. Willy wouldn't like flowers. Flowers were for girls.

He got dressed and he kept thinking "Dead," but it was a word just outside the circle of comprehension. Until a year ago, Willy had lived next door with his grandparents: the O'Rourkes. They were janitors. The whole neighborhood around 45th and Tenth knew them as quiet people who cleaned the hall and took the garbage out and ran the dumbwaiterbell every night at six.

Willy never had a mother or father. Nobody ever told him anything. He was quiet in his bigness—almost confident. He played marbles between the curb and the flagstones, knocking down hard when Shorty yelled at him. He never had money for ice cream like the other kids. And he never had a bike like Shorty. Once Willy tried to take the bike for a ride and Shorty, once Willy tried to friend. A drop of blood stood on his lower lip as he gave up the bike.

She took him over to the box with the shiny handles. Shorty didn't want to look. He knew what was in it. Then he looked. He felt sickish; too much smell of flowers. The old lady was saying that Willy had a blue heart or a blue

Exploiting Animals
Editor, The Freeman

The Ulster County SPCA strongly disapproves the current practice of some merchants, of terminating a sale by selling chances on a puppy kitten, pony, burro or any other animal.

The custom may be acceptable legally, but it is certainly contrary to the morals of any one who has any consideration for animal life. There is no assurance that the animal will be properly cared for, and when the chances are bought by children, very often the parents do not want the animal or the responsibility of taking care for it.

The merchants must be hard-put to have to resort to exploiting animals, there are so many inanimate objects, which are much more suitable for raffles.

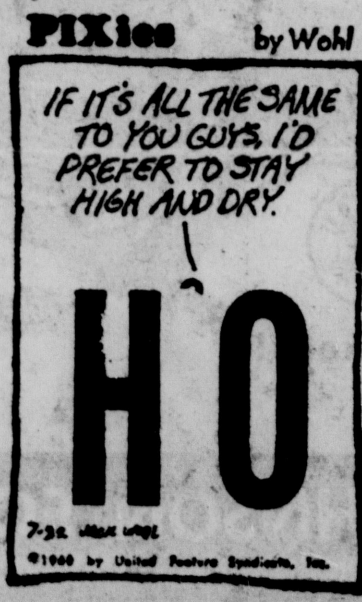

KATHERINE STOUTENBURG
Is Peace the Objective?
RD 2, Box 3A
Kingston, N. Y.
July 10, 1968

Editor, The Freeman:
Last night one of the local radio commentators, speaking about Vietnam, said that the bombing was stopped. In actual fact, bomb tonnage and sorties have increased by about a third. If this commentator (who has claimed to read many magazines and to be well informed) says this, then what can others think?

A news report in The Freeman for May 29 reported that a bluntly worded directive has gone out to all field commanders in South Vietnam telling them to break the current military stalemate and win the war within the next three months (before the August convention). The high casualty rates seem to reflect this order.

Does anyone believe that peace is the objective of the Johnson Administration? Certainly not those who voted for McCarthy and O'Dwyer. Tax increases are in the news again, yet about $30 billion is being wasted in Vietnam this year. If this money was split up according to population, a city of 25 thousand would receive about $3.75 million. Those whose tax bills are going up and whose paychecks are going down ought to think about this.

Sincerely,
RONALD SOBIERAJ

IF IT'S ALL THE SAME TO YOU GUYS, I'D PREFER TO STAY HIGH AND DRY.

'The Frustrated Voters'

Strong Affinity Between
McCarthy, Rocky - Backers

PRINCETON, N. J., July 20—In a year characterized by unusual political trends, one special interest is the strong affinity between followers of Democratic Senator Eugene McCarthy and Republican Governor Nelson Rockefeller, two groups sometimes described as "the frustrated voters."

A third of McCarthy supporters presently indicate that they would vote for Rockefeller over Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, a third of Rockefeller backers would vote for McCarthy over Nixon if this contest were to emerge from the nominating conventions.

This analysis is based on the latest nationwide test races that include third party candidate George C. Wallace. These races show McCarthy with a 3-point edge over Nixon and a 2-point edge over Rockefeller. Humphrey currently leads Nixon by 5 points and ties Rockefeller.

McCarthy supporters were selected on the basis of test races between McCarthy, Nixon and Wallace; Rockefeller supporters on the basis of test races between Rockefeller, Humphrey and Wallace.

The following table shows how McCarthy supporters would vote in a contest between Rockefeller, Humphrey and Wallace. The results are based on a combination of the last two national surveys that reached 2,374 registered voters over a period of two weeks.

Vote of McCarthy Backers

Rockefeller	33%
Humphrey	62%
Wallace	2%
Undecided	3%

Here is how Rockefeller supporters vote in a McCarthy-Nixon-Wallace contest:

Vote of Rockefeller Backers

McCarthy	34%
Nixon	59%
Wallace	3%
Undecided	4%

Wallace Vote Is Small
Further evidence of an affinity between McCarthy and Rockefeller followers is the small vote given Wallace by both groups.

Wallace receives the support of about one voter in six for the nation as a whole but among backers of McCarthy or Rockefeller his vote is only 2 and 3 per cent, respectively.

Hope Seen for 'Frustrated Voter'

While most political observers see Nixon and Humphrey far ahead in delegate strength, the "frustrated voter" may gain hope from the fact that dramatic trends can develop in the days prior to and during the political conventions.

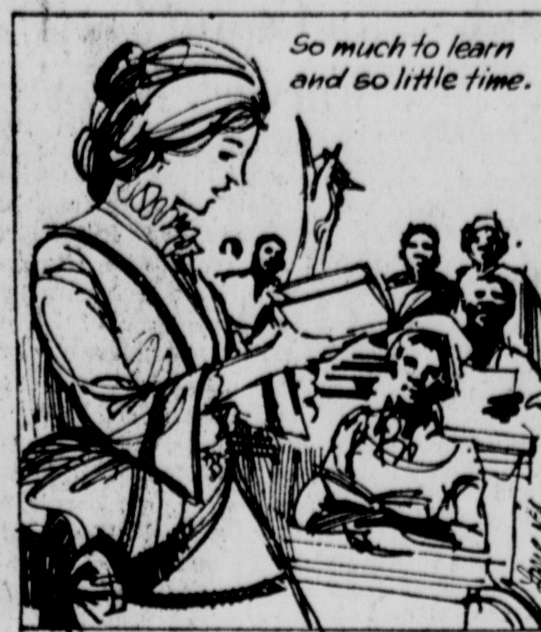

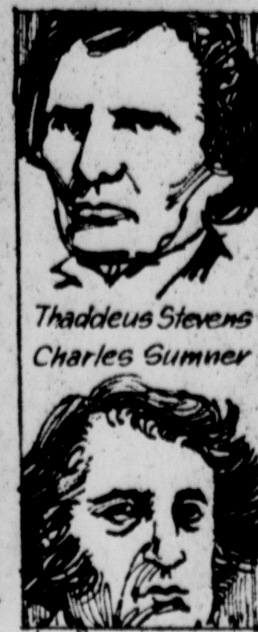

Wendell Wilkie's meteoric rise in popularity in 1940 and his capture of the GOP nomination that year was one of those times.

As late as March, 1940, nationwide Gallup surveys conducted among Republican voters in all parts of the United States, found less than one per cent naming Wilkie as their choice for the nomination. The GOP nominee was scarcely known at all in the West and Midwest, the surveys indicated.

Then, according to successive Gallup surveys, began a Wilkie trend that gathered momentum with the passing weeks until the actual moment of the nomination.

In the final pre-convention survey, Wilkie won the vote of 44 per cent of the GOP rank-and-file, to 29 per cent for Thomas E. Dewey and 13 per cent for Robert A. Taft.

THE LAST AMERICAN

13 Binding the Wounds

I had fondly dreamed that when any fortunate chance should have broken up for a while the foundation of our institution (we would have) . . . freed them of every vestige of human oppression, of inequality of rights.

—Thaddeus Stevens

The end of the Civil War found the South in ruins, its economy shattered, its cities devastated, its countryside laid waste—and with more than four million destitute former slaves.

In March 1865, the Freedman's Bureau was established, the first attempt by the government to directly aid the Negro.

Food distributed by the bureau saved thousands of Negroes—and whites—from starvation. The bureau resettled displaced persons, protected Negro workers and set up hospitals and schools, including universities like Howard and Fisk and Hampton Institute. Forerunners of the freedom riders of the 1960s came from the North to assist in teaching Negroes the basic rudiments of education and culture.

The much-maligned "Radical Republicans" had opposed the martyred Lincoln's lenient policies toward the South. Now under President Andrew Johnson, they saw their civil rights bills vetoed and ex-Confederate generals and politicians regaining power in Congress and the state legislatures. Legally, by means of restrictive "Black Codes," or illegally, by means of terror tactics, the slavocracy was restoring in peace what it had lost in war.

The radicals, led by Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania in the House and Charles Sumner of Massachusetts in the Senate, seized the reins of government, although they failed in an attempt to impeach Johnson in 1868. The South was divided into military districts and occupied by Union troops. The franchise was extended to Negroes and poor whites and denied to unregenerate rebels.

Stevens, a fervent believer in the words of the Declaration of Independence, realized that only by giving the freedmen land could they attain true freedom and equality. The cry was "40 acres and a mule." It was not to be, and it was this failure to institute thoroughgoing economic reform that ultimately doomed Reconstruction. Both the Negro and the poor white slowly drifted into a new kind of bondage called sharecropping.

In the meantime, however, the Negro was making stunning progress on the political front. For 10 years, between 1866 and 1876, black power was a fact.

NEXT: Bottom Rail on Top

Revolt by Rabid Mc Carthy
Delegates Feared by HHH

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is supposed to be something of a put-down for Vice President Humphrey that President Johnson seems to be stage-managing the 1968 Democratic national convention as he did the 1964 affair at Atlantic City.

Actually, the vice president's strategists are far more concerned over a put-down of another sort — how to put down an incipient rebellion at Chicago by the most militant of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's chosen convention delegates.

Humphrey men estimate that upward of 200 of the senator's committed delegates probably will be in noisy revolt throughout the convention and very likely will walk out under the glaring eye of glib television.

As one aide puts it: "These people are going to look upon Chicago simply as a place to demonstrate against the war."

The Humphrey camp's fears of a seriously disrupted convention thus are very real, and are not assuaged by tripleperimeter ticket checks to prevent packing of the hall — or provisions for a tight security seal to block any storming of the doors as some hotheads are calling for.

There is obviously no way to bar the doors to legitimately chosen McCarthy delegates obsessed with extreme dovish views on Vietnam and determined to condemn as undemocratic any convention that does not nominate McCarthy.

Humphrey leaders think they saw the shape of things to come in the Minnesota convention a few weeks ago.

A delegate who had been sharply criticized by McCarthyites in the hall stood up to answer on a point of personal privilege. A cluster of McCarthy delegates, loudly chanting, "We Want Peace!" from the convention floor, drowned him out for several minutes. He gave up.

"It was the first time in my memory," says a Minnesota Democrat, "that a delegate was not permitted to speak."

Curiously, not one of the many Humphrey men who voiced fears of a disrupted convention spoke of racial militants as a likely focus of trouble inside Chicago's International Amphitheater. The whole stress was on the peace types.

So it is these militants on the delegate rosters, rather than any gallery shouters or swirling demonstrators outside, who are believed to hold the potential for trouble. And there seems to be little confidence that the permanent convention chairman, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, or anybody else can contain it altogether.

Humphrey's managers are careful, however, to distinguish the no-compromise McCarthyites, whom they consider relatively few in number, from the larger bulk of McCarthy supporters. These latter, where they are delegates to Chicago, are expected to press hard but reasonably for their candidate's nomination and to contend heatedly but fairly for a strong antiwar plank in the Democratic platform.

But they are also expected to accept the convention verdict on both these matters and to support the party choices of man and platform in the fall campaign.

The militants, on the other hand, are considered already lost to the cause of the front running vice president and as virtually sure to launch a fourth party once they have done their disruptive best at Chicago.

China Suffers Summer of Torment

By MARK GAYN
Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

HONG KONG—China is in the midst of her own long, hot summer of torment — with violence reported from every corner of the nation.

The range of this violence runs all the way from the murder of bus drivers belonging to the wrong faction to sizable battles in which the military are said to have employed artillery and napalm to drive out "revolutionary rebels."

In Shanghai, according to the latest issue of its leading newspaper, Wen-Hui Pao, grave trouble has been produced by "black elements" opposed to the dispatch of urban youngsters to frontier areas or to the countryside.

It seems likely that these "black elements" include the youngsters who in the chaos of the last year managed to return to their homes from the remote and forbidding frontier areas to which they had been shipped prior to 1966. According to Premier Chou En-Lai, large numbers of youths had been sent from Shanghai to Sinkiang, in China's far west, "because it is better to have there bourgeois youths there than in Shanghai."

This summer, an effort is being made to send them back to the desolate region and both they and their parents have been objecting strenuously.

According to Wen-Hui Pao, these people "made trouble under all excuses and even assembled bandits to assault those (youths) who were prepared to return to where they had worked. Some others provoked fighting and attacked railway stations and piers. Still some others, waving the flag of rebellion, assaulted cadres of residents' committees and engaged in beating people, smashing things and looting, (thus) seriously disrupting law and order."

As a result, the so-called "civil offense, armed defense command" in the Shanghai municipality—a force of revolutionary vigilantes—has been ordered into action. Its "dragnet" is said to have caught "these culprits who had committed many crimes."

The roundup is said to have been welcomed by the "broad revolutionary masses," who included the youngsters who had slipped back to Shanghai from their posts in the border regions as well as their "revolutionary kinsmen." All these are reported to have cried, "this revolutionary action is very fine."

According to Red Guard periodicals, the napalm and artillery were used by the army and militia in Kwangsi Province to drive out radical Red Guards known as the "Kwangsi April 22 Grand Army." Following the pitched battles that destroyed much of the large city of Wuchow, the Red Guards fled to Canton, bringing their arms along with them.

Gen. Wei Kuo-Ching, the military boss of Kwangsi, is now said to have sent a force of 600 vigilantes to Canton to nab the escaped "Red Guards." This army of pursuit has been joined by the "Workers Militia Detachment Canton District General Headquarters," which wants the men of the "Kwangsi April 22" to leave the province.

Armed and desperate, the Kwangsi April 22 column has become a roving force determined to make revolution outside of its native province and has now become involved in the factional battles in Canton.

To make things still more complex, the Canton Workers Militia Detachment is also a force of armed malcontents at odds with the army command in Canton. And if this were not bad enough, a large delegation sent to Peking by the Kwangsi April 22 to complain and plead for succor found itself probably to its own surprise, welcomed by Chairman Mao Tse-Tung's inner circle. At the moment, it is the only out-of-town band in Peking being fed and housed at state expense.

As for the busmen's trouble, it finds the so-called "615 Headquarters" engaged in battle with a rival union faction known as "The Red Flag Headquarters of Kung-Kelien."

New York — William H. Osborn resigned Thursday as president of the Hudson River Conservation Society.

Osborn gave as his reason for resigning the presidency of the organization which was founded by his father, William Church Osborn, in 1936, as pressure from other activities which prevent devoting enough of his time to the affairs of the Society.

Manhunt Ends In Capture at Warwick Resort

WARWICK, N.Y. (AP) — A man wanted in connection with the burglary of more than 20 homes near here has been seized at a resort area, climaxing a two-week manhunt by about 50 state policemen.

Police went through a row of summer cottages Saturday night and flushed out a man they identified as George Wentwood, 29, of Newton, N.J. Troopers from the Monroe barracks said they spotted Wentwood walk out the back door of a Casca Road lodge owned by Ray Victor.

Wentwood, carrying a hunting rifle, fled into heavy brush, police said. They circled the fugitive and subdued him after a scuffle during which the rifle was discharged, troopers said. No one was injured.

Police said they found a loaded shotgun, two other rifles, two revolvers, five hunting knives and hundreds of rounds of ammunition hidden in nearby boulders.

Wentwood was arraigned before town Judge Thomas Talley on charges of grand larceny, burglary and parole violation. He was held in $100,000 bail in the Orange County jail.

Originally a New Jersey farm girl, she also came to fame as an actress, working with the theatrical genius, David Belasco. In this 1954 photo, the ballerina, at age 73, explains a point to members of her "Ballet of Light" dance troupe. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Ulster Ready to Unveil Specifications for Sewer

Town of Ulster will unveil details of its proposed $4,528,000 sewer project estimated to service 1,580 families within a four-mile area of the township at an informational meeting Thursday, July 25 at 8 p.m. in Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The Ulster Town Board will attempt to set a date for a public hearing on the Ulster Sewer Improvement Area project at this time.

According to specifications drawn by J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates, consulting engineers of Rensselaer, the cost based on and estimated total assessed valuation of $7,200,000 by the time of the first year of operation will be $34.85 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The target date for full operation is 1970. Breakdown of the $4,528,000 includes collection system cost of $3,584,000 and treatment plant $944,000 with $1,569,000 of this amount eligible for state and federal aid, or 34.6 per cent of the total project.

Along Esopus Creek

The proposed treatment facility would be located on a 10-acre plot to be acquired along the Esopus Creek in the area approximately 400 feet south of the Kingston by-pass.

The treatment plant would be constructed in stages, with the first stage to be constructed immediately and having a capacity of 85 million gallons daily. Treatment facilities would include grit removal, primary settling, high rate filtration through the use of trickling filters, secondary settling, disinfection of plant effluent prior to discharge to the Esopus Creek and the disposal of sludge through the use of sludge digesters and sludge drying beds.

The proposed improvement area embraces approximately 3.94 square miles and is generally bounded on the north by Leggs Mills Road, on the east by the natural drainage divide running generally parallel to and to the east of Route 9W, on the south by the city line and on the west by Esopus Creek.

The population to be served within the proposed improvement area was approximately 4,600 persons in 1965 and is estimated to be 5,400 in 1970; 7,085 in 1980; 10,440 in 2000, and 13,800 in 2020.

The project includes installation of about 134,000 feet of gravity sewers, 8 through 21 inches in size; construction of a .85 million gallons per day primary and secondary treatment plant; two sewage pumping stations, one for Orlando Street area and another for a portion of Parish Lane.

The consulting engineer's survey shows that the annual expense for proper operation and maintenance of the sewerage system is estimated at about $33,000 annually. It is assumed that the project will be financed with 40-year general obligation serial bonds having an average annual interest rate of 5 per cent.

The estimated total assessed valuation within the proposed improvement area as of December 1967 was $6,788,600. Based upon the growth within the area within recent years, it is anticipated that an annual growth rate of about $200,000 of assessed valuation per year will result in a total of $7,200,000 by the first year of operation 1970.

Depends on Aid

The actual annual cost per taxpayer will depend largely on the amount of state and federal aid that may be granted toward the project. By an intricate eligibility scale, the project could receive as much as 80 per cent aid covering both federal and state grants. However it was pointed out that many times the sums usually available are exhausted.

In the survey the engineers conclude that the minimum amount of state and federal aid assured by existing legislation at this time is 30 per cent state and 30 per cent federal for a total of 60 per cent. Based upon the receipt of 60 per cent, the local responsibility would be reduced by $914,000 of aid to a net responsibility of $3,587,000. Based on an estimated 1,580 families requiring sewer service in 1970, the average annual expense for operation and maintenance of the system would be about $16.80 per family. The average residential property owner having an assessed valuation of about $1,650 will pay a total of $74.32 per year for sewer service in 1970.

The engineering firm recommends that application for both state and federal aid should be made for construction grants during the period awaiting legal establishment and approval of the state comptroller.

Suggests Positive Steps

Fraser and Associates also suggested that the township take positive steps to insure the availability for purchase of a site for the proposed sewage treatment plant and to include sufficient land for access and for future expansions.

Town Supervisor Thaddeus Mustalkiewicz announced this week that he had filed a map of the proposed Ulster Sewer Improvement Area and report of full specifications with the town clerk.

Dr. Link Lists Ways to Beat Summer Heat

Dr. Vernon B. Link, Ulster County Commissioner of Health, has released some timely hints from the New York City Department of Health and the New York Heart Association on "How to Beat the Heat":

Take it easy. Physical activity places an extra burden on your heart—it has to pump extra blood to your muscles and work harder to cool your body down.

Eat light, cool, small meals often instead of a few large meals. Cut down on meat and fish because these and other protein foods tend to increase your body's temperature by raising metabolism.

Drink three to four extra glasses of water a day to replace the fluid lost through perspiration. Cool drinks help lower body temperature because body heat is used to warm the liquid to the temperature of your stomach. Drink iced drinks slowly.

Sprinkle an extra bit of salt on your food to replace that lost through perspiration.

Wear light-colored, loosely woven and loose-fitting clothing and absorbent undergarments. Dr. Donald J. Conwell, assistant health commissioner for New York, recommends shifts and A-line skirts for women and no jacket and open collar for men.

Dr. Conwell advises mothers not to worry if their children have no appetite. He suggests that this is a perfect time for a change in the family's diet.

Fresh fruit, leafy salads, and cold cuts come highly recommended because they are light, cold, and watery.

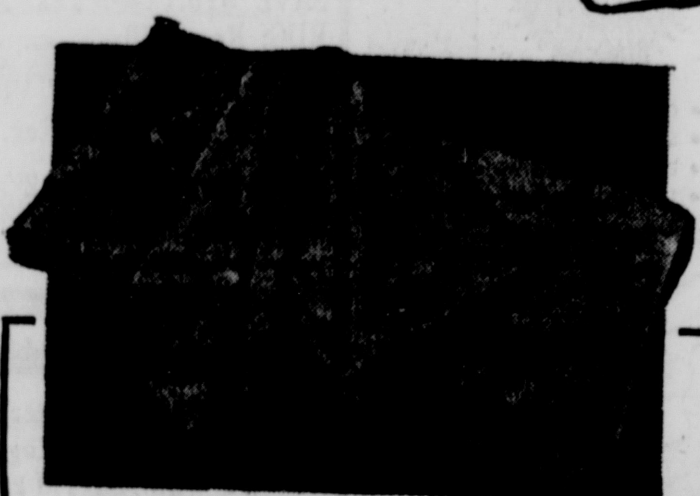

The New York Heart Association emphasizes that your comfort is only one reason why you should make every effort to keep cool. Summer heat places an extra workload on the heart because it has to pump blood faster to cool it down.

Hubert One Way on Viet; Claims No Private Doubts

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The authorized campaign biography of Hubert H. Humphrey, due out this week, repeats the contention that the vice president's private feelings about the war in Vietnam match his public pronouncements.

The book, entitled "A Man for All People," was written by Ralph Martin and will be released in Washington Wednesday. A copy will be sent to each delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

In one part of the book, Humphrey deals with recurrent doubts that his support of the Johnson administration's Vietnam war policy isn't as enthusiastic in private as it is in public.

"Muriel (Mrs. Humphrey) always called me the happy warrior," the vice president says in the book. "She says I'm happy because there's no conflict between my private views and my public views."

The major portion of the heavily illustrated book, composed of captions in Humphrey's words, deals with events in the past and present, including the problems of being a vice president.

"The vice presidency is a job with sobering responsibility and very little authority," says Humphrey. "I don't recommend it to everybody. When I first became vice president, I was warned that my relationship with the President would deteriorate within six months to a year, according to the standard pattern of history. Well, we fooled them."

"President Johnson and I have been friends for 20 years. He knows me well enough to expect loyalty but not mimicry. This has been my standard," Humphrey says.

On Vietnam Humphrey says, "Nobody wants to see the war in Vietnam come to an end any quicker than I do so that we can bring our boys back home. What I really like to see in Vietnam is a cease-fire so that we can have peace while we talk peace."

The book includes pictures of Humphrey with his chief opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a fellow Minnesotan.

Humphrey recalls how McCarthy had supported him in his past campaigns including his abortive attempt for the vice presidency in 1956—a year that Humphrey thought Adlai Stevenson would make him his running mate.

Back in 1956, Humphrey says, he had a meeting with Stevenson in Washington "and I understood that if I could drum up strong support, that he could pick me at the convention to be his running mate."

However at the last minute the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's strength at the convention forced Stevenson to let the delegates choose the No. 2 man, to Humphrey's deep disappointment.

G. I.'s Money Is Returned in New Car Racket

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said Sunday his office arranged for refunds for 16 servicemen who deposited down payments for cars that were never delivered to them.

Lefkowitz said a European representative of World Wide Military Sales Corp. of Levittown took deposits from U. S.

servicemen for new cars to be "waiting" in New York City when the soldiers returned to the states.

The cars failed to materialize, the attorney general said, and in some cases the company, a Florida corporation authorized to do business in New York State, asked for additional down payments.

The Consumer Frauds Bureau

subpoenaed officers of the company and the attorney general's office negotiated refunds of approximately $4,000 for the 16 soldiers.

Several Jobs In Libraries

Applications are presently being accepted by the New York State Department of Civil Service from qualified residents of Ulster and other area counties for clerking positions open in several area library systems.

The Mid-Hudson Library System and the Ramapo-Catskill Library System have clerking positions available for any qualified persons. The written Civil Service examination will be held in Albany on September 21 with applications for the available positions being accepted up to August 19. Salary for the clerking positions range from $3,490 to $5,900 per year.

In addition, there are several opportunities available in the high scale salary bracket. Examinations will be held for the positions of Senior Budget Examiner, Building Electrical Engineer, Director of Narcotic Education, Forest Ranger, Park Ranger and Park Surveyor to name a few. Salaries range from a low of $5,200 to a high of $25,050.

Applications for the Civil Service examinations can be obtained by contacting the local office of The New York State Employment Service, 16 Pine Grove Avenue, Kingston. Applications should be sent to the State Department of Civil Service, State Campus, Albany. The local office will not accept or process applications.

Nab Arsonist

HELSINKI (UPI)—Police Monday reported the arrest of a 29-year-old religious fanatic on suspicion of setting a fire which destroyed the church in Aeneoski. He was quoted as saying an apparition told him to burn the country church.

SUSPENDED — Rev. Terence J. Mangan, 30, was suspended by his Roman Catholic bishop after he spurned orders from Rome to give up his part-time police work in the Seaside Police Department in California. Known as "Angel One," the Rev. Mangan will doff his clerical collar Aug. 1 and become a regular patrolman in the coast city of 24,000. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Many Memories In Old Heidelberg

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—Students may no longer proudly display dueling scars or spend nights drinking and singing but the visitor still can recapture some of spirit of "The Student Prince" days of Old Heidelberg.

Head first for the Old University on Hauptstrasse in the old quarter of town and the picturesque student jail. Here, from 1788 to 1912, students guilty of minor infractions of university regulations or town laws were incarcerated on bread and water, sometimes for weeks.

There are five "cells" in the prison on the third floor in a wing of the university, which was founded in 1386 and was famous throughout Europe long before Sigmund Romberg wrote his operetta.

The windows are barred and there is an iron gate blocking the single stairway leading to the lower floors. Each room is still furnished with two iron cots, two hard chairs and a wooden table as in days of old. Other mementoes were left by the countless student-prisoners—walls, ceilings, tables, chairs and stairwell are covered with names, dates, cartoons, poems and other amusing graffiti. There are writings in German and other languages, including English. Foreign youths, among them Americans, studied and sowed some of their wild oats in this town in southwestern Germany over the years.

Doors Covered

The doors of the rooms also are covered with small photographs of former "inmates," wearing the small peaked, striped student cap and big grins, and inscribed with their names and dates. A few of the names may seem familiar—students who went on to become famous in various fields.

If you run out of film or flash bulbs, you can purchase colored picture cards of the student art work from the caretaker's daughter who has her desk on the second floor. She speaks some English.

There is not much more to see higher in the Old University or the adjoining New University building, built in 1921 with American contributions. But you should find time to visit the great library with its priceless collections of manuscripts dating back hundreds of years. Also interesting may be the student bulletin boards—they were covered with anti-Vietnam war posters during our visit as guest of the German National Tourist Office and Lufthansa.

It is only a short walk to other historical sites in the Old Town on the Neckar River, 10 miles southeast of Mannheim. There are the 15th century Protestant churches of the Holy Ghost and St. Peter, and the Roman Catholic Jesuit church built in the 18th century. The altars, stained glass windows and statuary are worth seeing. Also outstanding are the Zum Ritter House, an elaborately decorated example of Renaissance architecture, built in 1592 and now a hotel; the sprawling double-winged Marstall, stables and arsenal of the prince electors dating back to the early 1500s; and the Karl-Theodor Bridge with its twin gate towers constructed across the river in 1786.

You can take the funicular to another of Old Heidelberg's famous landmarks—the Schloss (castle) about 350 steep feet up the side of the Koenigstuhl overlooking the town and the river.

The castle was once the palatial residence of the prince electors. It was begun in the 13th century and finished in the 17th century, barely in time to be twice destroyed by the armies of King Louis XIV in the late 1600s. In 1764, it was destroyed again—this time by a lightning bolt and fire.

It was partially restored once more around the turn of the 20th century. But much of the sprawling reddish-rock castle was left in ruins. Still standing are an eight-sided bell tower, an intricately decorated arched gateway and a fountain with several columns said to have come from one of Charles Magne's palaces.

Decision by Czechs Gives Moscow Option

Sometime in the course of the week there may be a turning point in the history of the Communist world and Eastern Europe, Moscow observers report. As a result of Czechoslovakia's firm decision to go its own unconventional way towards what it still calls Communism, the following options remain open to Moscow and its four faithful allies:

—A face saving agreement which would involve removal of some Czech medium level leaders, an appeal to the communications media to exercise voluntary restraint in criticizing Soviet Communism and a moratorium on publicizing some of the misdeeds of the past.

—Invocation by the Soviet Union of economic sanctions which could slow down the country's economic development for several years.

—Armed intervention which would be applied only if the Russians despair and give up all hopes of compromise.

Although anything can happen, the chances are that despite the tough language, both sides will play for time and try to avoid a collision.

No Summit: Diplomatic sources in London say Russia may have to call off the world Communist summit conference she called in Moscow for Nov. 25 in an effort to unite the falter world movement. In the light of the Kremlin's pressures on Czechoslovakia and its interference with that Communist country's internal affairs Moscow will find it difficult to re-establish its prestige in the movement whose members insist on independence from Moscow and reject any interference with their party and internal affairs.

Communist-Gaullists: The crisis in Czechoslovakia will have important repercussions on the French Communist party, political sources report in Paris. The Communists were soundly defeated in the recent elections when President Charles de Gaulle's followers warned that if the Communists gained a foothold in the government France would be faced with accepting Moscow directives on how to conduct domestic and foreign policy.

This is why it is believed French Communist party leader Waldeck Rochet flew to Moscow and Prague—to convince Moscow that if it crushes the Prague independence movement it will play into the hands of the Gaullists and ruin Communist chances in France for years to come.

Theater Company Does Something New

SPRING GREEN, Wis. (AP) — For what may be the first time in the nation, a professional metropolitan theater company—the Milwaukee Repertory Theater—has cast its lot for the summer with a small community.

And the audience of local farmers and merchants, who turned out in their Sunday best during the opening week at the Robert E. Gard Theater here, appeared, after a startled pause, to love the initial production.

Wisconsin theater pioneer, Robert E. Gard, after whom the theater is named, said: "Our intention in these experiments has always been to furnish artistically fine events in communities to expand the horizons of the citizens."

What can be seen in and around Spring Green this summer, however, Gard said, is not meant to be a "mere banquet of plays and the allied arts."

Sincere Attempt "You will see a sincere attempt by hundreds of persons, both professional and volunteer, to root the arts in an area—in southwestern Wisconsin."

The MRT has opened its six week summer season—June 19 to July 28—in conjunction with a project called "Arts in the Uplands," which is designed to bring together many facets of the arts to a rural area of the state.

The Uplands program includes, in addition to MRT's repertory, classes and workshops for scholarship students chosen from throughout the state and adult students from the Uplands area. These career-oriented students are studying theater, opera, ballet, oil and acrylic painting, water color, pottery, and life drawing.

Gard says he hopes this summer's experiment will become a standard to be followed by other regions of the country.

Will Teach Negro History to All School Children

By THOMAS CORPORA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Matt Henson was one of those rollicking, romantic heroes of American history who went to the North Pole with Commander Peary on a bet and became the first man to stand atop the world.

The bet was that a Negro—as Matthew Henson was—could not reach the pole and return with all his fingers and toes intact. He did and won the $100 wager, twice saving the life of Robert Peary, leader of the first expedition to reach the North Pole, in the process.

Most school children in the United States know that Peary led the expedition, but the fact that his companion (Henson) was a black man is often glossed over in standard textbooks.

And most children old enough to watch television or go to the movies know that Geronimo was an Apache chief who terrorized the southwest until finally subdued by valiant U.S. Cavalry. How many know they were Negro cavalry?

Not many. But now the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has a program with the goal of teaching every American school child—black and white—about the role of the Negro in U.S. history.

The key to the program is the "integrated" or "multiracial" textbook.

"White racism is reflected at its worst in the textbooks and the curriculum of American public schools," said June Shagaloff, the national education director of the NAACP. She said most textbooks give a "distorted and stereotyped" picture of the Negro and ignore his contributions to American history.

During the past three or four years, most major textbook companies have begun to publish new books which point up the Negro role in American life.

The NAACP, for its part, has compiled a list of 399 "multiracial" texts on the pre-school and elementary school levels with evaluations of each one. It is also compiling a bibliography of secondary and college textbooks for use by local educators and students who are trying to get school districts and colleges to buy the books and include them in their curriculum.

History texts note that Negroes were among the first settlers in America, that Crispus Attucks, a Negro, died on Boston Common in the first battle of the Revolutionary War, that Charles Drew, another black man, was instrumental in developing the bloodbank.

An there are books which deal entirely with the Negro in the United States, such as the Pitman Publisher Corp.'s "Eye-witness: the Negro in American History," a book that tells of the Negro's contributions to all periods of U.S. history and then gives eyewitness accounts written by the principals.

There are social studies books such as Holt, Rinehart and Winston's "Five Friends at School," which tells the story of two Negro children, two white children and a Puerto Rican child who live in a low-income housing project in New York City.

According to Miss Shagaloff, this book and others like it present the Negro child a picture he can identify with rather than show him a family of "white suburbia" which has no relationship to his own life. They also teach white children from the suburbs how Negroes live.

Miss Shagaloff and other educators believe the next textbooks will help to upgrade the education that Negro children get by increasing their pride in themselves and giving them something to "shoot for." But having the books available is one thing and getting them into the classroom is another.

"Some officials and districts have been extremely responsive," said Miss Shagaloff, "but the vast majority are still dragging their feet." She said after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was assassinated the NAACP decided to accelerate its efforts to get the new textbooks into school systems in the north and south.

She said NAACP branches throughout the country had been directed to assure that federal aid to education money and state and local money be used to buy "multiracial" textbooks.

Detroit Cops Waging Uphill Battle for Peace in Ghetto

By JUSTIN BAVARSKIS

And MICHAEL J. CONLON

DETROIT (UPI) — A few weeks ago Howard King, a Negro, was pulled from his car and beaten. He said the police did it.

It was not a new charge. Three years ago he was also beaten, his hand broken, and a gash opened above his eye. He said the police did it then, too.

This time, police said they tried to sell tickets to a policeman's ball to King. They said he became offensive. King claims he has been harassed by the police ever since the first beating.

Cases such as this, scores of them, clutter the desk of Insp. Charles E. Heffernan. He heads the Citizens Complaint Bureau of the Detroit Police Department.

Complaints Increase

There were many complaints against the police before the devastating race riots that exploded in Detroit a year ago on July 23, 1967, and continued for a week of shooting, looting and burning. At least 43 persons died and property damage topped $200 million before police, troops and National Guardsmen restored order. It was the nation's most terrible race rioting.

The complaints against Detroit's police have not stopped since that July a year ago. They have multiplied. Here lies at least one of the answers to the question whether things have improved in Detroit since last year. It may be the most important answer.

The President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (the Kerner Commission) investigated the causes of Detroit's and the nation's disturbances for six months. It concluded that a community's dissatisfaction with police practices is a major cause of riots. Insp. Heffernan is aware of this. So is Al Dunmore, former editor of the Michigan Chronicle, a weekly Negro newspaper published in Detroit. Dunmore says of the present atmosphere in the city:

"Police-community relations are really as far apart as they have ever been apart. The black community is really on edge, and the tension is great; but there is also a wait and see attitude as to how the new police commissioner will act. (Detroit's present commissioner, Ray Girardin, is retiring). "A great deal of the kind of summer we will have will depend on the ability of the new commissioner to establish a new image as far as law and order are concerned, with equal justice."

Hire More Negroes

The Kerner Commission called for massive changes in police practices. It suggested removing officers with bad reputations, poor records or insufficient training from the ghettos, replacing them with experienced men. Detroit has not done this, according to Insp. Heffernan. It still sends rookie cops to the ghettos.

But Detroit has begun to implement one of the recommendations of the Kerner Commission. It has started a sustained drive to hire more Negro policemen. The graduating class of July 8 had 17 Negroes, 17 whites. Heretofore, the ratio has been one-third Negro.

"In the future," said Robert Tindall, executive secretary of the NAACP in Detroit, "the classes will be two-thirds Negro until we have exhausted the openings. We've worked out this program with the mayor (Jerome P. Cavanagh)."

In addition, on July 8 Albert Evans, a Negro, was appointed inspector in charge of the 10th precinct. Many persons were allegedly beaten at this precinct during the 1967 riot.

Another Negro inspector, Jim Clark, was put in charge of the 5th Precinct, also in the inner city, on the East Side.

Insp. Heffernan's job at the Citizens Complaint Bureau, made gravely more difficult by the rioting, is said to have been made even more difficult this summer by the heavy sale in Detroit of a paperback book on the "Algiers Motel Incident," by John Hersey.

Motel Deaths

It tells of the case in which three young Negro men died allegedly at the hands of police and National Guardsmen. Heffernan said the Algiers case is the most emotion ridden, difficult problem his bureau ever has had to handle. It is still hanging in the courts.

Before dawn on July 26, 1967, National Guard Warrant Officer Theodore J. Thomas heard what Hersey indicates were a few shots from a blank starter's pistol coming from the Algiers Motel. He reported he was under fire. Police and National Guard units rushed to the scene.

When they left, three Negro youths, Aubrey Pollard, Carl Cooper, and Fred Temple, were dead. Patrolman Ronald August was charged with first degree murder in the death of Pollard and charged with first degree murder in the death of Temple.

August's case came up for trial July 8, and was adjourned until Jan. 6. Pille's case was dismissed.

Rene Freeman, of the West Central Organization, a Negro group, said: "The Algiers Motel brings everything that we're up against home. It allows very little latitude for expecting to be dealt with or to deal with whites in any kind of sincere way at any level."

Veto Storefronts

Mayor Cavanagh tried to set up a store front concept in Detroit, where police could help out citizens in the inner city with any problems that came to them, or direct them to the agency that could provide assistance. "We already had the spots picked out," says Heffernan.

The Common Council overrode Cavanagh's veto of its budget cuts, wiping out the store front idea.

State Demo Choice: Peace or Disaster

By KIRTLAND I. KING

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — New York Democrats face political disaster unless they can get together before the November elections.

The powerful organization has been slipping for the past 10 or 12 years because of feuding among local leaders. And now a new problem has come up with supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy breaking with old line regulars.

State Chairman John Burns, who took over the state committee with the backing of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has a king-size headache trying to maintain peace. No matter what Burns does he just can't seem to satisfy both the McCarthy men and the "regulars."

"Unless we can restore harmony before November, our future will be hopeless," one influential leader said. "You can't win elections with an organization disrupted by bickering."

Had Top Power

Once the Democrats held top power bases—the governor's office, New York City Hall, several upstate cities and federal offices. At one time they had both houses of the state legislature.

First the governor's office fell, then "City Hall" and the State Senate. All they have left from

Cottekill

COTTEKILL — Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy were given a surprise anniversary party by their friends and relatives on Sunday, July 14. Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy and family, and Mrs. Rosemary Murphy, all of Hobart; Rosemary, Debby, Lorie, Lisa, and Amy Hillis of South Kortright; Mr. and Mrs. Frances Vermilyea of Oneonta; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truax of Oneonta; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald of High Falls and Donna Truax of Oneonta. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lutz of Paramus, N. J., spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Oscar Beach.

Mrs. Katherine Winchell of Lake Mohonk, spent a day with Mrs. Arthur DePuy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Perelli of East Northport, L. I., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osterhoudt. They were accompanied by their two daughters, Lori Ann and Lisa Ann.

Miss Donna Frick is employed at the Lake Mohonk Mountain House for the summer.

a patronage standpoint is the State Assembly, a few upstate areas and the state comptroller's office.

Continued control of the comptroller's office is due to the personal strength of Arthur Levitt. Levitt has been re-elected year after year despite Republican sweeps and has been the only statewide Democratic officeholder during Republican Governor Rockefeller's three administrations.

The open break now between McCarthy men and those backing Vice President Hubert Humphrey is going to make it difficult for Democrats to maintain a majority in the Assembly. This is the view of veteran party leaders.

Just how far the McCarthy backers will go is a matter of speculation. Some insist they will bolt the party in November if Humphrey is the nominee. The list includes Paul O'Dwyer, the Democratic U.S. senatorial candidate.

O'Dwyer's stiff opposition to the vice president has given Burns and other top leaders a serious problem. Should the Senate candidate go through with his threat, the leaders are wondering how they will be able to back O'Dwyer against Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Republican incumbent.

"What will we do?" one asked. "We certainly can't ignore the national ticket or run separate campaigns."

Some big and powerful party leaders have jumped on the McCarthy campaign. Eugene Nickerson, Nassau County Executive, and Percy Sutton, Manhattan Borough President, are a couple.

Close to Kennedy

Nickerson and Sutton were close to Kennedy and the late senator personally persuaded the Nassau leader to seek the Democratic senatorial nomination earlier this year. Nickerson was beaten by O'Dwyer in the primary.

Some leaders are unable to understand the switch of Kennedy men to McCarthy. They argue the Minnesota senator was prepared to go all-out after Kennedy in the New York primary. Their arguments are based on McCarthy's primary campaign expenses just filed with the New York secretary of state. The total was around $1 million.

"What other reason would he (McCarthy) have had in committing so much money to the New York primaries?" an upstate leader asked.

DICK LANDY'S DODGE CHARGER

Drag Racing Star Landy To Hold Safety Clinic

Drag Racing super star Dick Landy, whose 1967 campaign for a "Return to Stock Car Drag Racing" proved so successful last year, will hold a Safety Performance clinic at DeMico Motors in Kingston on Thursday, July 25 from 7-10 p. m.

Landy, along with his mechanics and pit crew, will show slides and movies on Drag Racing techniques as well as displaying two of the super stock Dodges that make up his nationally famous racing "stable."

Already off to a flying start, the race cars have garnered Super Stock Eliminator at the American Hot Rod Association's Nationals at Long Beach, California, and have picked up three class titles at the National Hot Rod Association's Nationals at Pomona, California.

More Than 70 Clinics Last year, Landy conducted more than 70 Safety Performance clinics in 29 states, and played to an audience of over 50,000 racing enthusiasts. This year, he will hold over 100 clinics and a substantial increase in attendance is expected.

Included in the sessions are safety measures for drag race cars, tuning tips, slides and movies, and a thorough presentation by Landy on how he prepares and races his cars. The Safety Performance clinics have been lauded by all sanctioning and law enforcement groups as a big move to return drag racing to the amateur. In addition, they are helping to encourage the youthful racing enthusiast to display his mechanical and speed talents in safe, sane and organized drag racing.

Kripplebush

A large number of people attended the carnival held at the firehouse recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz are on vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Davis of Erie, Penn., have returned home after visiting in this area.

The annual Labor Day Bazaar will be held with lunches served. Further details will be made later.

Church services will be held every Sunday at 9 a. m. with the Rev. Randall as pastor. The Museum is open every Sunday afternoon from 2 until 4 p. m.

The "Thimble Club" held its weekly meeting at the home of Mary Lukena, with Mrs. Warren Cole serving as co-hostess.

Commenting on the Safety-Performance clinics, Landy said, "While we had some people who doubted whether the idea of 'stock' would go, I think the reaction last year has proved our point. The idea of achieving faster and faster speeds will continue, but the exotic car is out of reach of

Should Encourage "Since Drag Racing is one of the fastest growing participant sports in the country," Landy continued, "all those professionally involved in the sport should encourage the interested public to participate in classes that they can afford and are capable of driving in."

"Our clinics emphasize the type of car that can be purchased from a dealer's stock, at a realistic price, and then be prepared with all safety and performance features and done so inexpensively."

Landy and his clinics will be appearing at all national championship meets, as well as making a scheduled tour of match racing for the remainder of the summer.

See Nixon As Chief Topic At Governor's Conference

By RAYMOND LAHR

United Press International If there is still a time and a place to organize an effective stop-Nixon movement, the time is now and the place is Cincinnati.

The nation's governors are holding their annual conference in Cincinnati this week for their formal talks about state issues and their informal talks about politics. Political talk is common at all governors' conferences, but is more noisy in presidential election years.

This 1968 conference opens just two weeks before the Republican National Convention meets at Miami Beach, Fla., to write a platform and nominate a candidate for the White House. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 ballot winner of the nomination.

Two Members

His most active opponent, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, is a member of the conference. An increasingly active potential rival, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, is another member.

There is nothing to indicate that governors opposing Nixon's nomination will have any more success in blocking him than those who scurried around a Cleveland hotel four years ago searching for a way to keep the 1964 nomination from Barry M. Goldwater.

The 1964 governors who opposed Goldwater met once or twice a day in a floundering search for an alternative candidate or a way for the Republicans to win.

Nixon met with the governors and suggested the convention should have a choice. He suggested that Gov. George Romney be a candidate. Romney thought about it for a couple of hours and decided that he did not want to bell the cat.

But after the conference ended, then Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went to Baltimore and embarked on his futile quest for the nomination.

After 1964, there was much talk about the governors uniting behind a presidential candidate for 1968. There was never any realistic chance that this unity could be achieved.

Romney became a candidate and quit before his first presidential primary confrontation with Nixon. Rockefeller became a candidate too late to enter primaries.

Before the conference, a UPI survey showed seven governors backing Rockefeller, including himself, and six behind Nixon.

Both may pick up more support before the convention. Proof is still needed to show that a coalition of favorite sons in alliance with Rockefeller and or Reagan backers can deny the nomination to Nixon.

Needs $20 Million

Doctor-Diplomat Has Plans for Crops

By MORT ROSENBLUM

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP)—Emile-Derlin Zinsou, a doctor-diplomat handed power by the ruling army, has drafted a plan to double crops in two years and better the lot of Dahomey's two million population.

All he needs, he says, is about $20 million.

"We need a loan to provide means for production," the 50-year-old president-designate said in an interview. "People have land, they have will... but no money or tools."

The plan involves an agricultural credit agency where subsistence farmers can borrow enough to spread out.

"If you fly over Dahomey you'll see one hundredth of the land cultivated... We just need the means," Zinsou said.

He looks forward to exporting perhaps 300,000 tons of corn and some cotton to supplement the palm oil.

A new peanut oil plant is expected to press 30,000 tons yearly by 1970.

"My program involves, above all, development of man," Zinsou asserted. "Governments are not for societies, they're for men."

He figures it will take five years to balance the $31 million annual budget, now $8 million off.

He hopes France will restore its $2 million budget support, stopped when Col. Alphonse Alley succeeded Gen. Christophe Soglo after a coup last December. It is understood France is waiting to see Zinsou's government working smoothly.

But Zinsou faces more than economic problems: Three former heads of state were stopped next door in Togo after unsuccessfully trying to take part in forming Zinsou's 10-man government.

Two of them were blamed for sabotaging May elections which had only a 27 per cent turnout. It's a safe bet Dahomey has not seen the last of them, Zinsou said.

Dahomey has had six governments since independence in 1960.

Zinsou lives in a two-story white house conspicuously rising above a shackled Cottonou side street with a drain sewer trench out front.

He reads poetry—a great fan of Senegal President Leopold Senghor's works—and admits to piles of unfinished manuscripts. He has a wife and five children.

Munoz Rivera Day Proclaimed By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller has proclaimed Sunday as Luis Munoz Rivera Day in honor of the Puerto Rican statesman, writer and poet who led the fight to win American citizenship for his people.

The law granting Puerto Ricans citizenship was enacted in 1917, a year after Munoz Rivera died.

Rockefeller, in his proclamation, said a "magnificent example" of Puerto Ricans' contribution to the state's economy and culture was their community development project in New York City. He said the project, composed of 100 Puerto Rican organizations working with both governmental and private funds, is putting most of its effort now into education and jobs.

Coney Beach Battle Goes Into 2nd Night

NEW YORK (AP) — A rock and bottle-throwing attack on a patrol car at Coney Island prompted a second straight night of battling late Sunday between police and youths of the Brooklyn amusement and beach area.

At least five policemen were reported hurt, not seriously, and eight persons were arrested. In a nonrelated incident in another part of the city, a bar was firebombed early today and one man seriously burned.

About 80 per cent of the 40,000 persons living in the area of Coney where the trouble centered are either Negroes or Puerto Ricans.

Police said Sunday night's battling began when youths pelted a passing patrol car with rocks and bottles. Both occupants, Patrolmen Roger Swanson and David Nadel, were injured, police said.

Other police sought to make arrests for the attack and said an unruly crowd, some standing on tenement roofs along Mermaid Avenue near 25th Street, began throwing more missiles and some firebombs at officers. Reinforcements from the riot-trained Tactical Patrol Force moved into the area and brought the disorder to a halt shortly before midnight.

TPF patrolmen also closed in on an area of the East Village in lower Manhattan early today following the tavern firebombing and a barrage of beer containers hurled from windows onto Ninth Street. Police reported the situation there under control by 2:30 a. m.

They picked up four men for questioning in the tavern fire, in which customer John Dorsey, 31, of Jersey City, N. J., suffered burns on both legs and was listed in serious condition at Bellevue Hospital.

Dorsey lives at 179 Newkirk St., police said.

Police said the first of five Molotov cocktails was tossed onto the bar's floor at 10:30 p.m., followed by the other four at about 1 a.m.

The owner of the firebombed Joe & Jack Bar and Grill, Joseph Anderson, told police he thought the trouble could be traced to a fray outside the tavern Saturday night between neighborhood residents and a group of Marines and Vietnam veterans.

Search for Motive
BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police searched today for a motive in the slaying of Andrew James, 48, of this city whose body was found slumped on the front seat of his automobile with a bullet wound in the back of his head.

The body was found Sunday in the car parked on an east side street. Police said the bullet wound was behind James' right ear. They said it appeared that James was shot outside his car and then carried there.

At Glenier Lake Park, Mrs. Mary Lou Duer of Barclay Heights, Saugerties said her parent's home on North Drive had been burglarized. Deputy Charles Daley and Donald Policastro, who responded found that entry had been gained by breaking a window. Nothing was reported taken.

Carl Wold of Hillside Farm Market and Dairy Bar on Route 9W, Glenierie reported a break-in Saturday night. He said someone broke the window of the men's room and went out the front door. Nothing appeared to be taken, he said.

Fish View
On the Czech, Soviet Crisis
Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican congressional candidate, said today that the political, psychological and military pressure on Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union posed a very dangerous threat to future disarmament negotiations between Russia and the United States.

Fish said, "The political assault upon Czechoslovakia should not be the prologue to another Hungary. If the Soviet leaders are sincere in their overtures to American officials to affect a disarmament agreement, then their words are not consistent with their actions in Eastern Europe. A liberal Czech government in no way threatens the Soviet Union's security."

4 Break-ins Keep Sheriff's Office Busy

Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies had a busy weekend investigating four break-ins, including Deitz automotive service station on Route 28 and a home in Rosendale where nearly $200 worth of tools were reported missing.

At 4:50 a. m. today an anonymous caller alerted the sheriff's department and said they saw two people attempting to enter the service station near the Route 28 traffic circle. Cpl. John R. Tudy was dispatched.

When he arrived he found the place had been illegally entered by forcing the locked door and knocking loose the latch. Nothing appeared to be missing.

Later, Burton Deitz, owner, called and said the cash receipts box with a sum between $50 and $100 dollars was missing. County Investigator Harold T. Bowers is continuing the investigation.

In Rosendale, Paul Whitten of Mountain Road said his cellar and garage had been burglarized between Wednesday and Sunday when he arrived home. He listed nearly $200 worth of tools missing, including a 3/4th Ram drill, gas cutting torch, 710 by 15 auto tire, load leveler shock absorber, two timing lights, a torque wrench and other miscellaneous smaller tools. Deputy Harold Dohnken was dispatched and Investigator Bowers will continue the investigation.

At Glenier Lake Park, Mrs. Mary Lou Duer of Barclay Heights, Saugerties said her parent's home on North Drive had been burglarized. Deputy Charles Daley and Donald Policastro, who responded found that entry had been gained by breaking a window. Nothing was reported taken.

Carl Wold of Hillside Farm Market and Dairy Bar on Route 9W, Glenierie reported a break-in Saturday night. He said someone broke the window of the men's room and went out the front door. Nothing appeared to be taken, he said.

Fish View
On the Czech, Soviet Crisis
Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican congressional candidate, said today that the political, psychological and military pressure on Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union posed a very dangerous threat to future disarmament negotiations between Russia and the United States.

Fish said, "The political assault upon Czechoslovakia should not be the prologue to another Hungary. If the Soviet leaders are sincere in their overtures to American officials to affect a disarmament agreement, then their words are not consistent with their actions in Eastern Europe. A liberal Czech government in no way threatens the Soviet Union's security."

"However," Fish continued, "mounting pressure against Czechoslovakia does imperil future United States-Soviet Union negotiations. Americans are afraid to begin disarmament agreements in the face of possible use of force by the Soviet Union against a nation striving to achieve freedom. Ellenville Man Would Leave U.S.

An Ellenville man, apprehended by police on a charge of public intoxication Saturday night, says he has sought legal advice from the Czechoslovakian embassies in Washington and New York and wishes to return to his native Czechoslovakia.

Bohumil Janda, arrested by Ellenville police, meanwhile is confined to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $250 bail.

According to Justice Ronald Elias, before whom he appeared Saturday night, Janda says he has requested a Czech lawyer to plead his case and arrange for his return to his native country.

Janda is scheduled to appear before Elias, with a lawyer tomorrow night at 7.

Economic Policymakers Give Taxpayers New Theme

NEW YORK (AP) — Cool it, but don't kill it. That, taxpayers, is the new theme of the economic policymakers as they attempt to steer the world's largest production machine onto a new course.

It might be a bit early to say they are heading toward their targets of wage-price stability and orderly growth, even though spokesmen for the Commerce Department say they detect the beginning of an "orderly cooling off."

The latest figures show inflation still running at a rate of 4 per cent a year and the economy growing at the rate of 5 per cent, both pretty hot by most measurements.

But the experts often see things that others miss. Like the weatherman who sees cold fronts on the weathermap when others see only lines, economists sometimes see trends in a jumble of statistics.

Could Level Off
Defense spending, the experts say, could begin to level off soon, although very serious miscalculations in this area have been damaging to the economy before. The expectation, then, cannot be assumed to be fact.

The coolest pattern in the latest quarterly figures was detected in the consumer economy, and probably results from the good sense and judgment of ordinary people rather than because of expert direction from above.

Once again the consumer has begun banking his money instead of spending it, and with the consumer growing more powerful as an economic factor, this cautious or conservative tendency can have profound effects.

In the second quarter of the year, the months of April-May-June, the savings of consumers rose to 7.7 per cent of after-tax income, about 2 per cent above "normal," and 3/4 of one per cent above the first quarter.

As a result, consumer purchases in the second quarter were at the rate of only $527.1 billion a year, far below private forecasts, some of which projected a rate close to $540 billion.

The cooling effect of such a downturn is immediately obvious when it is realized that any increase in the rate of consumer saving is a direct subtraction from retail sales.

This is the third sharp turn in the consumer spending pattern in about two years. All through 1967 the rate of savings remained unusually high and spending relatively lower than had been forecast by retailers.

Early this year, however, buffered against economic pitfalls by swollen bank accounts and encouraged by rising wages, the consumer went on a spending spree. The unusual strength in auto sales, for example, reflected this.

The reversion to the 1967 type of behavior in the second quarter presumably was in anticipation of a tax increase and the desire to lay away funds to offset any check to the standard of living. In this sense, perhaps, it might be said to reflect Washington economic policy.

Coolness in Steel Industry
Another potential area of coolness is bound to come in the steel industry, which has been operating at a strong pace. Much of this demand for steel, a demand which helped put inflationary pressures on the economy, resulted from buying in anticipation of a strike.

These large stockpiles now represent sales that ordinarily would have been made later in the year. Regardless of whether or not there is a strike, many steel users will be cutting their fall purchases.

At present, it looks like a few more months will pass before it can be determined precisely what effect anti inflation policies are having on the economy.

Discuss $400,000 Park in Ellenville

Will the Village of Ellenville get a municipal park? The $400,000 question appears up in the air after Mayor Eugene Glusker remarked about the possibility of such a project at the July 1 meeting of the village board.

The mayor had said then that there appeared a clear possibility of a park which would cost the village "about $100,000," with New York State paying $300,000 more, in line with the present state formula.

Paltz Airman Goes to Korea

Staff Sergeant Fred Hernwall of New Paltz has been listed as one of 98 members of the 904th Military Aircraft Group, stationed at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh, who have been transferred to Korea for active duty.

Hernwall, an employee with the New Paltz Post Office, was on 24 hour notice when he received his call-up on July 12. He left Stewart for his assignment in Korea at 6:40 a. m. the following Monday.

Hernwall is the only area resident to be affected by the controversial activation of the 904th reserve unit thus far.

Two weeks ago, members of the reserve outfit, who had been on active duty at Stewart since the Pueblo crisis in January, were informed that their unit was being broken up and sent to bases in Korea and Japan to augment regular Air Force personnel. Although the airmen claimed that the call-up defied several precedents involved in the activation of a reserve unit, the Air Force continued to transfer men overseas.

Since the call-up, approximately 150 men have been transferred to England and Korea—about 50 less than the total that was first announced. Within the past week, an additional ten men have been sent to bases in Vietnam, Formosa, and Greenland.

Geist also pointed to the area the mayor had mentioned as a possible park site and said that a flood control project was slated for the area.

The site, known as the Devine Estate and currently controlled by the Ulster Realty Company, consists of some 54 acres and lies to the northeast of Hickory and Spring Streets, bordering on the Beer Kill Creek.

Some years ago, then-village manager John Weichsel made application to the state for the purchasing and developing of two park sites, the Devine tract and the so-called Harrison Park area.

The Harrison Park site was later subtracted from the original request in 1963 and, on Jan. 15, 1965, William D. Mulholland, assistant commissioner for Lands and Forests, gave the state's approval for the project.

Mayor Glusker, contacted recently, said that he expected manager Geist to update the project, renew communication with the state, and possibly enter into negotiations with the realty company.

Geist, however, continued to question the feasibility of the project and it was learned that he had not, in fact, committed the village to any action on the park.

And No Ukuleles

McGUIRE AFB, N.J. (UPI)—"We just don't think that hair to the shoulders and 'Tiptoe Through the Tulips' is the thing for this year for active duty personnel," Lt. Joel M. Manary, chief of the personnel affairs section said Thursday.

So Manary issued two new regulations banning long sideburns, mod fashions, oversized sunglasses and long hair.

Ulster Academy Names Schafer As Director

Lou Schafer, former executive secretary and physical director of the Kingston YMCA, has been appointed as director of athletics and Master of Physical Education at Ulster Academy for the 1968-69 academic year.

Schafer received his bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Springfield College and has attended summer sessions both at Springfield and Cornell University. Prior to his service at the local YMCA, Schafer was physical education director and coach at LeRoy High School.

Raymond Nelson, headmaster of the new academy, has been meeting with Schafer for several weeks in an attempt to develop a special program of physical fitness through physical education and athletics to meet the needs of the new school.

In a recently published pamphlet, the academy listed as one of its three basic educational goals, its commitment "to strengthen the personal integrity of each individual student."

Athletic skill, the satisfactions of play, and the conditioning of a sturdy body are, according to Schafer, vital to a young person's health and integrity.

Schafer will direct a three season athletic program, which includes soccer, tennis, touch football, basketball, softball, track, and golf. All the students at the Academy will be given regular term physical tests in such areas as body strength, agility, coordination, and heart response.

Schafer will be assisted in the supervision and coaching of the program by the headmaster, who also has an extensive coaching background. The two will also be assisted by other members of the faculty.

The athletic teams at Ulster Academy will be using the facilities at Hutton Park and the Municipal Auditorium.

Twenty Years This Summer Hiss-Chambers Hearings Held

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twenty years ago this summer, few Americans had ever heard of a prothonotary warbler.

Or Alger Hiss.

Or Whittaker Chambers.

This changed within a matter of days in August of 1948. One of the most dramatic congressional hearings in history produced what has become known as the Hiss-Chambers case. The prothonotary warbler was a key.

Before it was over, a freshman congressman from California, Richard M. Nixon, flashed into a prominence that took him to the vice presidency. There had been a tense confrontation in a New York hotel room and another in the floodlit caucus room of the old House Office Building. Microfilm "pumpkin papers" had been brought out from concealment on a farm near Westminster, Md.

When it was over, Hiss, the impeccably correct former State Department official who became president of the prestigious Carnegie Endowment for World Peace, had been convicted of perjury for denying he had passed on secret documents to Chambers, a confessed former Communist agent who broke with the party and found a new life as an editor with Time magazine.

Chambers, a pudgy, moon-faced man, surfaced for the American public on Aug. 3, 1948, when he appeared as a surprise witness before the controversial House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Lived in Fear

In almost impassive voice, he testified that beginning in 1924 he had become a Communist, had been given a vital role as an underground contact in Washington, broke away in 1937 after the Hitler-Stalin pact and subsequently lived in fear of his life.

He supported previous testimony by Miss Elizabeth Bentley that a Communist ring operated in influential government circles of the New Deal days; and that its members included Nathan Witt, John Abt, Charles Kramer, Lee Pressman, Victor Perlo, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster and Henry Collins.

Also on Chambers' list was Hiss, who, as a member of the State Department, had organized the conferences at Dumbarton Oaks, San Francisco and the United States side of the Yalta Conference.

Under questioning, Chambers added that Hiss was the only member that he tries to pry away from the party when he himself broke but that Hiss, in tears, "absolutely refused to break."

"I was very fond of Mr. Hiss," he observed.

Injection of Hiss' name into the hearings didn't dominate the headline initially. The biggest commotion came when Chambers named Harry Dexter White, former secretary of the Treasury, as at least a fellow traveler, and called Lauchlin Currie, a one-time White House assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a left-wing friend.

White appeared before the committee to indignantly deny the charges and died of a heart attack a few days later. Currie made a similar denial. Abt, Witt and Silvermaster denounced Miss Bentley and Chambers but invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination when asked about Communist party participation.

Hiss, Baltimore-born and Harvard-educated, took a far different course. He challenged the committee to be heard under oath. On Aug. 5, 1948, he took the witness chair to deny having ever heard of Whittaker Chambers until the year previous when two FBI agents had asked him about such a man.

Denies Knowledge

Dark, well-tailored, urbane, Hiss told the committee in modulated voice: "So far as I know, I have never laid eyes on him and I should like to have the opportunity to do so."

He was shown a news photo of Chambers and said that although he could not swear to it, he did not think he ever had seen the man in the picture. He declared he would like to confront his accuser in person. Hiss acknowledged knowing most of those named by Chambers as fellow government workers but of the Communist charge, he declared: "The statements made about me by Mr. Chambers are complete fabrications. I think my record in the government service speaks for itself."

The issue was joined: Which of the two men was a liar?

The committee members—except for Nixon—were uncertain. Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt, now Republican senator from South Dakota, voiced appreciation to Hiss for his "very cooperative attitude" and the late Rep. John Rankin, D-Miss., paused to shake hands with Hiss before leaving the hearing room.

"Red Herring"

President Harry S. Truman derided the charge as a "red herring" cast up in an election year for political purpose.

But Nixon and committee counsel Robert E. Stripling, a terror questioning of witnesses, remained skeptical of Hiss and kept the case open.

Two days later, Nixon and two committee colleagues—Reps. Edward Hebert, D-La., and John McDowell, R-Pa.—traveled to New York to question Chambers intensively and secretly in the Federal Court House.

In an exhaustive session, Chambers repeated his charges, told of collecting party dues from Hiss and his wife ("he was rather pious about paying his dues promptly," he testified).

Then he began a recital of the intimate details he said he recalled of the Hiss family life. Hiss was slightly hard of hearing in one ear; he had rather long delicate fingers; he walked with a slight mince, his wife called him "Hilly," he called her "Dilly" and sometimes "Pross," they drove a roadster so dilapidated that the windshield wiper had to be operated by hand; later Hiss turned it over to a fellow Communist as a contribution to the party.

Did Hiss have any hobbies?

Bird Watchers

"Yes he did. They both had the same hobby—amateur ornithologists, bird observers. I recall once they saw, to their great excitement, a prothonotary warbler."

Nine days later on Aug. 17, Hiss returned before the committee in closed session and repeated his blanket denial of ever having been associated with the Communist party.

Early in the questioning, he volunteered that he vaguely recollected having known in his early Washington days a free lance writer by the name of George Crosley. He described him as sort of a deadbeat who had bad teeth. More out of pity than friendship, he had allowed Crosley, his wife and child to stay at their home for a bit.

Hiss wasn't prepared to swear on the basis of a photograph that Crosley was now Chambers but it was a possibility.

The questioning went on. Hiss told of owning a dilapidated Ford, Mrs. Hiss called him "Pross" or "Prossy."

He had hobbies, the witness replied to a question—tennis and amateur ornithology.

McDowell: Did you ever see a prothonotary warbler?

Hiss: I have right here on the Potomac.

McDowell: I saw one in Arlington.

Hiss: They come back and nest in those swamps. Beautiful ornithologist.

First Confrontation

The first Hiss-Chambers confrontation came on Aug. 17 at 5:35 p.m. in Room 1400 of New York's Hotel Commodore—again behind closed doors.

Hiss entered first, openly angry that details of his secret testimony had appeared in the newspapers.

Chambers was ushered in by an investigator and stood impassively facing the man he accused. Hiss demanded a better look at his accuser's teeth, asked what dental work had been done in recent years, insisted that Chambers read from Newsweek magazine to hear his voice.

After a period of acrid questioning, Chambers, Hiss made "positive" identification that the man facing him was George Crosley but again denied he knew him as a Communist. When Chambers again accused him, the boiling angry Hiss challenged him to make the accusation without the immunity from libel given congressional witnesses.

"I challenge you to do it and I hope you will do it damned quickly," the former State Department official snapped.

The public saw the next confrontation between the two on Aug. 25 under the glare of television and news reel lights in the old House Office Building.

The most intense moment of drama came when Hiss, seated in the witness chair, was asked to stand and face Chambers who rose from a chair on the outskirts of the committee dais.

In turn, they acknowledged having known each other in earlier days, but not in the roles ascribed to them.

Stick to their Guns

Hiss swore again he knew Chambers only as a sponger named Crosley; Chambers repeated that he knew Hiss as a Communist cell member.

For the moment, there matters stood—accusation and denial, both under oath. Then a new avalanche of events began.

On a national broadcast—without immunity from libel—Chambers bluntly made his accusation that Hiss had been a Communist. Hiss filed a $75,000 defamation suit, and pre-trial hearings began in Baltimore.

In mid-November, Chambers went to the home of a nephew in Brooklyn and from a ledge in a disused dumbwaiter shaft pulled forth a grime-encrusted package.

At the next pre-trial session, he produced the contents and for the first time the Hiss-Chambers case touched on espionage.

The packet contained 47 typed diplomatic documents, five rolls of microfilmed government communications, four memos in Hiss' handwriting and five others in the handwriting of Harry Dexter White.

The Justice Department was immediately notified and a federal grand jury called into session in New York.

The "pumpkin papers" erupted next.

Tipped off by a newspaper reporter that things were stirring under the surface of the case, Nixon instructed Stripling to send two investigators to visit Chambers at his Maryland farm.

In the early dusk of Dec. 2, Chambers escorted them to a nearby patch of pumpkins and squashes. From a hollowed out pumpkin, he extracted three sealed metal cartridges. Inside was more microfilm of top secret State Department documents from a locked file to which Hiss had had access.

On Dec. 15, the grand jury handed down its indictment, charging Hiss with two counts of perjury for denying having turned over government documents to an unauthorized person—Whittaker Chambers.

There were two trials. The first began May 1, 1949, and lasted 27 days. After 14 hours and 47 minutes, the jury was hopelessly split, although 8 to 4 in favor of conviction, and no verdict was reached.

The second began Nov. 17 and on the afternoon of Jan. 20, 1950 the case went to the jury. The next afternoon—about 24 hours later—the eight women and four men returned with their verdict. Mrs. Ada Conell, a widow from the Bronx, announced the judgment: "Guilty on the first count and guilty on the second."

Hiss was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary and merged to live in the side streets of New York, still insisting on his innocence. Nixon went on to become a senator, a vice president, a loser in the 1960 presidential race and now again a prospective president. Whittaker Chambers died in the quietude of his Maryland farm in July, 1961.

Revolutionaries Trained in Cuba

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro's government is giving revolutionary training to scores of leftist students from abroad at a special institute tucked away in the hills of Pinar Del Rio Province.

The majority of the students are French. There are also more than 70 Swedes reported enrolled, two or three from the United States and a scattering from Vietnam, England, Norway, Denmark and West Germany.

The students deny reports from France that they are being taught guerrilla tactics for use in the cities.

"We are studying the Cuban revolution and working to help the campesinos (peasants)," said a French student.

"I guess you could describe the seminars as political training," said a Dane.

From conversations with some of the students and others who have visited the institute, those attending apparently agree with Cuba's advocacy of armed struggle to make social revolution. And most apparently intend to try to carry out such a policy when they return home.

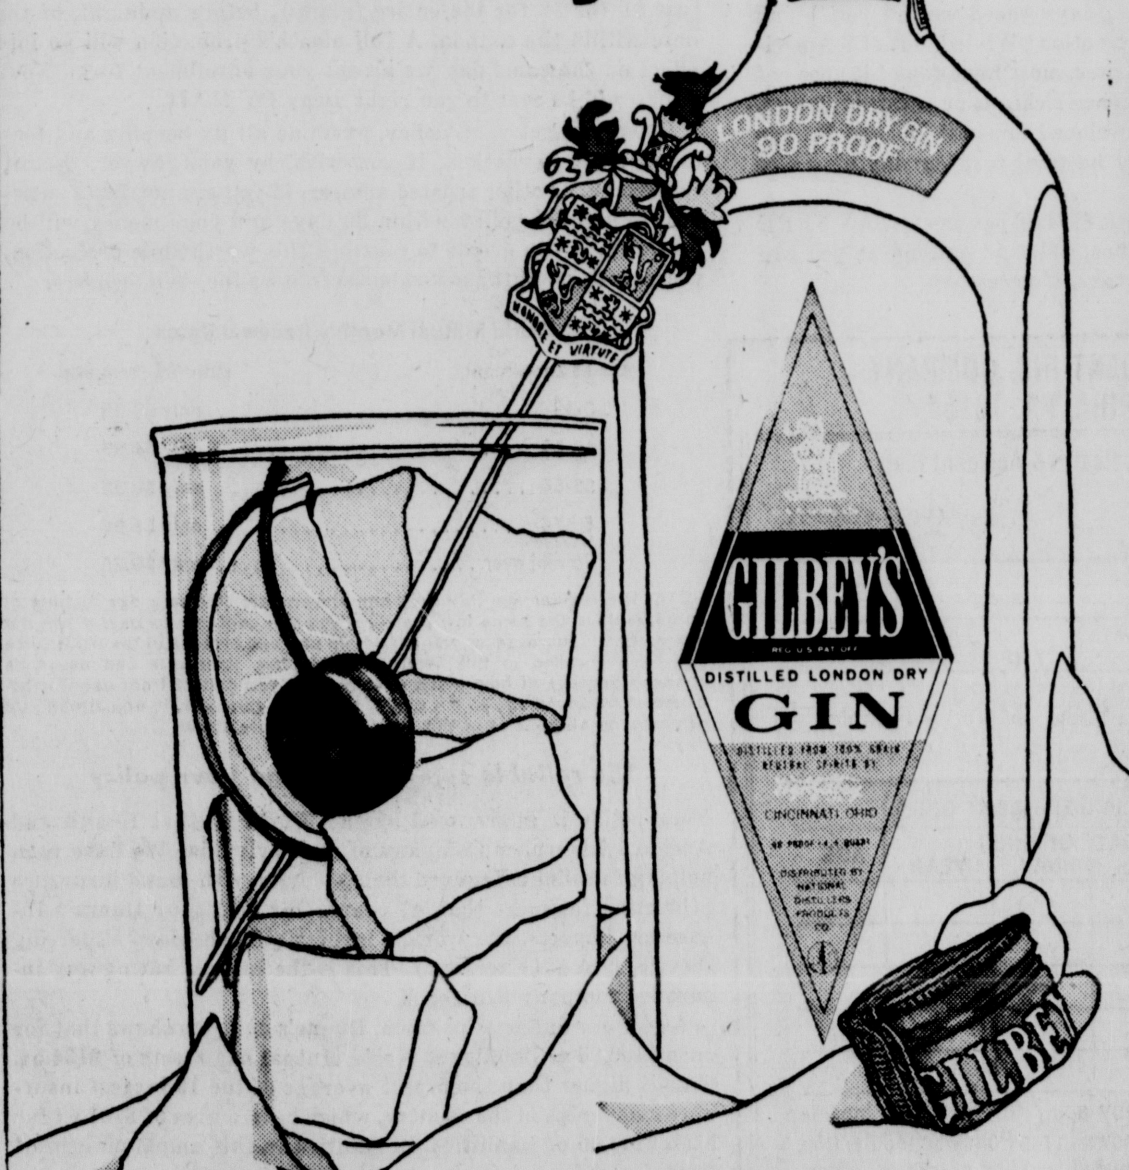

The students put in half of their working day on special agricultural projects and attend seminars the other half. About 400 took part in the six-week course which just ended. About a hundred new students are expected next week, but some of the old ones are staying on for a second course.

The institute is called the Fifth of May Camp, honoring the birth date of Karl Marx. It is near the village of Cayajobos, about 45 miles southwest of Havana.

A big sign saying welcome in English, French and Spanish—the three languages used in the seminars—points out the new road leading to the camp.

Students report that Melba Hernandez, head of the Cuban Committee for Solidarity with Vietnam, is a frequent visitor to the camp. Another visitor is reported to have been Capt. Osman Cienfuegos, a member of the Communist party central committee and the general secretary of the organization set up by the tricontinental revolutionary congress.

(OR $2 FOR YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY.) THEN YOU MAY CONTINUE AT WORLD MUTUAL'S REGULAR LOW RATES.

ONE OUT OF TWO FAMILIES will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family, tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have TRIPLED in just a few short years. They are expected to DOUBLE AGAIN in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stops, but living expenses go right on—rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop? What is the average bread winner to do?

Now you can receive $100.00 a week tax-free cash, from the very first day you enter the hospital for as long as you are confined there—even for 100 full weeks, if necessary!

This new plan relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness. But you must apply during this limited enrollment period BEFORE the date shown in your coupon below.

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee

To encourage you to see how much this Plan can save to you and your family, we make this unusual, money-saving offer:

You can now have your first month's protection for only one dollar! But, you must act immediately, because this unusual opportunity is offered for a limited time. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection plan must be mailed on your convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY Exclusions!

The new World Mutual Plan covers every conceivable kind of sickness and accident except, of course, hospitalization caused by the use of alcoholic beverages or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else IS covered.

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just $1 the first month ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This highly efficient

PAYS YOU CASH

...$100.00-A-WEEK tax free cash starting your very first day in the hospital. No waiting period!

PAYS YOU CASH

...to a maximum of $10,000.00 any time you go to the hospital and stay for as long as 100 weeks.

PAYS YOU CASH

...Money mailed directly to you—not to the doctor or hospital!

PAYS YOU CASH

...you get $100.00-A-Week in addition to whatever you receive from Medicare, Workmen's Compensation or any other insurance.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with The World Mutual Plan in addition to what "Medicare" will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you will still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have.

Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you, to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most—to help pay any bills you choose. Best of all, your World Mutual protection will pay even for 100 weeks, if necessary!

"mass enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short weeks—rather than spread the procedure over many long months—or even a year. Our overhead and processing expenses are reduced drastically—and the savings are passed on to you!

After your first month's protection, you may continue at World Mutual's regular low monthly rates—and the rate you pay now will never be increased because you grow older!

What Would Happen To Your Family?

The chances are one in seven that you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk—a sudden illness or operation—could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually takes care of only part of your expenses.

Can you afford the soaring costs of doctor, surgical, and nursing bills? Can you afford missing your weekly paycheck during the time you're laid up in the hospital? Even though you probably have some protection now—will it be enough? Sickness, accidents, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Extra Income Health and Accident Plan WNL-1-667 offers.

The Added Protection You NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your other insurance! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all the bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Income Protection that helps you pay either hospital costs or anything else you need or want!

You get your $100.00 per week ($14.28 per day)—TAX FREE—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even for 100 weeks, if necessary.

For Older Folks—Greater Protection Than You Ever Would Have Thought Possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Or perhaps you no longer have a regular income, and are living on Social Security. What would happen to you then if you had to suddenly go to a hospital?

Your "life saver" could be this wonderful World Mutual Income Protection Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. You can even be OVER 100 and still be eligible!

Can You Afford to Miss This Chance?

Now, at less cost than you may ever have thought would be possible, you can set up a "gold mine" of protection from desperate financial straits if the need arises. Thanks to this unique new Plan, you can assure the solid, substantial protection you need—and not only save money, but assure yourself of other benefits, too, during all the years to come.

Our Famous MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We are so sure that we offer the best protection at the lowest cost, that we make our famous MONEY-BACK guarantee.

When you send for your policy, and it arrives in your hands, we want you to look it over as carefully and as often as you wish. See how thoroughly it protects you. See how exactly it meets the needs that you want covered. See how here, at last, is the policy that makes it possible for you to get the sickness and accident protection you need, in greater measure than ever before!

If you are not 100% satisfied that your policy is exactly what we have promised it to be, and exactly what YOU want it to be—send the policy back to us within 30 days and we will REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL, AT ONCE. But meanwhile you will be protected. And, if you decide to continue this wonderful protection, you may do so at the low rate shown below—a rate which will never be raised because you grow older!

World Mutual Plans Are Nationally Known

This money-saving World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan truly offers outstanding value. Here's why: You can buy ordinary insurance from most companies at regular rates all year long. They are happy to issue one policy at a time. But World Mutual issues many new policies at one time during a limited enrollment period.

This "mass enrollment" method keeps our underwriting, processing and all other overhead expenses down to a bare minimum—and these savings are passed on to you!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Your policy is guaranteed by the World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania. We have been helping families safeguard their security with sound insurance protection for more than 47 years. As for our financial position, Dunne's analysis shows that for each $100.00 of liabilities, World Mutual has assets of $134.54. This is higher than the 5-year average of the 15 largest insurance companies in the country, which have assets of $107.62 for each $100.00 of liabilities. In addition to this ample margin of financial safety, you can count on us to handle your claims fairly and promptly when you are hospitalized. World Mutual has paid claims in every state and in many foreign countries as well.

THESE 20 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell us how World Mutual's $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

- How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week.
- When will my hospitalization benefits start?
The day you enter the hospital.
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
Yes. This new plan pays whether you are in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, or a year!
- Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
No. It will go into force on the same day we accept your completed enrollment form and $1 premium (or $2 for your entire family).
- How long will I continue to receive hospitalization benefits?
For every day you are in the hospital to a maximum of 100 weeks, as a result of any one accident or illness.
- Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
After you have resumed full normal activities for just six months, you are again eligible for benefits for a recurring condition, to a maximum of 100 weeks. And of course, any new condition would be covered immediately!
- How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you!
- Can I collect from World Mutual even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare, for folks over 65.
- Why do I need this World Mutual Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your World Mutual checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit!
- May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit!
- Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No. World Mutual guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
- Will benefits be reduced because of advanced age?
No. Regardless of how old you become or how many claims you have, your benefits remain the same.
- Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. World Mutual guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state!
- What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: the use of alcohol or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); act of war; or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else is covered!
- What are the requirements for membership in this World Mutual Plan?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must apply before midnight of the date in the coupon.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
- Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining World Mutual during this enrollment period?
Yes. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 15.
- How does the money-back guarantee work?

Rondout Churches Unite to Help Youth

GREETINGS FROM MAYOR — Youngsters from the Rondout Churches Summer Program say howdy to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan as he visits the newly coordinated program for children in the area. With the mayor are Angel Roach, Becky Andersen, Richard Shultis and Gregory Davis. Daily sessions are held at St. Mary's School, former Academy of St. Ursula and Trinity Methodist Church. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

CHOW TIME — Summer program personnel take time out after a busy morning with the children to have lunch. Helping themselves at the buffet in Trinity Methodist Church dining room are (L-R) Jeannette Hatcher, youth leader, Sandy DeCicco, Dorothy Roseberry and Diane Washington, assistant directors. (Freeman photos by Kruh).

By JEAN F. DOLAN
More than 250 youngsters from the Rondout area are having a most profitable summer through the coordinated efforts of the downtown churches.

All of the former independent summer recreation and study plans have been united this year in three locations. Weekday sessions are held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. at St. Mary's School, Broadway, former Academy of St. Ursula on Grove Street and at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets. More than 100 children are in attendance both at St. Mary's and St. Ursula with approximately 60 enrolled at Trinity.

Staffers include adult and high school volunteers in addition to 10 workers provided through Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. The Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, assistant pastor at St. Mary's and the Rev. James P. Veatch, pastor of Trinity Methodist, are directors. Sisters from St. Ursula and St. Mary's Convents are assisting.

An average day starts with remedial reading help from 9 to 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Miss Ann Vree. Arts and crafts, music, sports and trips make up the rest of the program.

Swimming trips to Taconic

State Park and Kingston Point Beach have been early highlights of the program which began July 8 and will continue through Aug. 9.

The Kingston Recreation Department has provided crafts and recreation equipment for use in the program. Community Action committee supplied the bus for the Taconic swim trip.

All of the participating churches have contributed financial support as well as volunteer workers. Donations have come from Kingston Kiwanis Club, Kingston Area Council of Churches and Church Women United.

Individual churches providing staff lunches include St. Mary's, Trinity, Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Riverview Baptist and St. Ursula. Children bring their own lunches. Milk is provided without cost through the cooperating churches.

One of the programs which has been of particular interest during the past week has been provided by Gilbert Gray of Doctors Ambulance service. Children have had an opportunity to inspect the ambulance and its life saving equipment while attendants explained the apparatus and detailed fundamentals of first aid.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan made an inspection tour of the three site program last week and was guest at the staff luncheon in Trinity Methodist Church. He was apparently very pleased at the progress made thus far by the cooperating groups.

The Rev. Mr. Veatch, too, registered approval of the program. He had glowing praise for the volunteers saying they were really the backbone of the program and were doing "terrific job."

He commended the efforts of the staff personnel who have given unstintingly of their time and efforts to make the summer meaningful for the Rondout youngsters.

Democrats See Action On Ulster Town Plans

Progress reports at last week's Ulster Town Board meeting on the proposed Spring Lake Water District, the zoning ordinance, a new town hall and sewer improvement area, prompted a statement today by the Town of Ulster Democratic Committee.

"The Town Board of the Town of Ulster has at least responded to the repeated calls for action," the statement signed by Walter D. Houle, chairman said.

"At the July meeting, the Town Board promised public hearings and information on the proposed Spring Lake Water District and on Town Zoning.

Plans for public referendums were announced for the Town Hall and garage project and the Ulster Sewer District plan.

"Evidently, the Town Board has come to agree with the Democrats that these matters have been discussed in private long enough and should now be settled in public once and for all. All of this activity during a single board meeting is hardly a coincidence. The Town Board is finally responding to the obvious needs of the town as pointed out by many citizens of both parties.

"It is time that controversial issues like zoning and sewers be brought before the public for a decision. The Town of Ulster is growing into what will eventually become a sister city of Kingston. If we are to have orderly growth and a less than ruinous tax rate, planning for the future must begin now.

"In order to help inform the public on these projects and programs, the Ulster Democratic Party will present an official public statement of its position, either pro or con, on each of them. We believe an informed public can be depended upon to make intelligent and sound decisions," Houle concluded.

House Will Study Mail Order Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which has virtually killed President Johnson's hopes for a gun registration law this session, turned today to the proposed ban on mail order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Amendments for licensing of gun owners, another Johnson proposal, also were up for action before a final House vote on gun controls, possibly late in the day.

The bill would add long guns and ammunition to the congressional ban on mail order sales of pistols, which was part of the recently-passed omnibus crime bill. It also would prohibit over-the-counter gun sales to juveniles, and nonresidents except those from adjoining states.

Two gun registration amendments were killed Friday by two-to-one votes which appeared to serve notice to the Senate that the House is not willing to compromise in conference and along with a registration bill this session.

Johnson called shortly after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination for legislation to require registration of every gun in the nation and licensing of all gun owners.

An amendment offered by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., that would have required registration of all firearms was defeated 172-68.

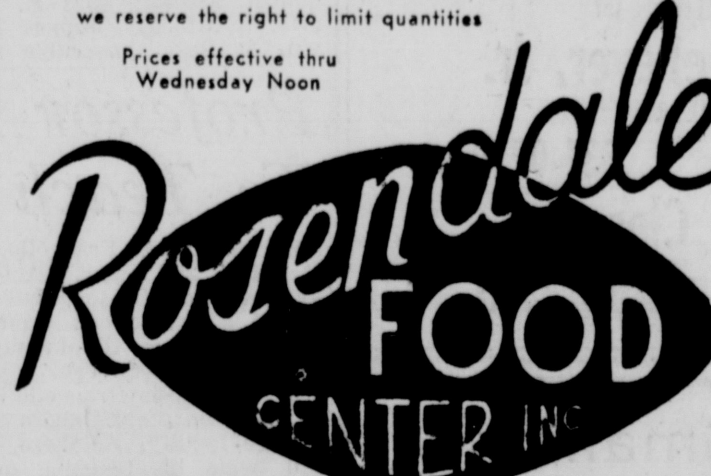

A less stringent amendment sponsored by Rep. Robert McCloskey, R-Ill., for registration of pistols only was defeated 168-89. But backers of stronger gun controls won approval of an amendment that would require mandatory prison sentences for carrying or using a gun while committing a federal felony such as rape, murder or robbery.

Violation would bring from one to 10 years for the first offense and 5 to 25 years for subsequent offenses. The sentences would have to be in addition to, not concurrent with, jail terms for the federal felony.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., was a substitute for one by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., that would have required mandatory sentences for use of guns in connection with state as well as federal felonies.

Youth Confab By 'Y'

Paul Coon, president of the Kingston-Ulster County YMCA, today announced plans for the annual fall conference-retreat of the YMCA staff and board of directors at Frost Valley.

Ralph Stewart, immediate past president, will chair the program planning committee, and he has announced the topic or discussion will be Disadvantaged Youth. Is the YMCA's role now relevant, and how can it be more so? Stewart said that the conference will encourage the participation of all other YMCAs in the Mid Hudson Valley, and already six other Associations have indicated their interest. In addition, Dr. George Erbstein, president of the Ulster County Community College, has indicated the college's willingness to participate in the conference in whatever role the committee feels it can best contribute. Initial meetings have been held at the college, and attending was State Advisor Howard Shinn, who will assist in the guidance of the program.

"The conference will take place over the Columbus Day weekend," Stewart said. "And will be initiated by a panel of persons who are conversant with ghetto environment. The panel discussions, guided by an outstanding moderator, will set the trend and tenor of the 'buzz' sessions and talks for the rest of the weekend."

It is hoped that from these dialogues an insight can be gained for the YMCA staffs and boards which will enable them to make a more valid contribution to our County. Besides Stewart, other members of the conference committee from the YMCA Board include Christos Larios, Rev. Harold Schadevold, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Jackie Weathery, and Richard Riseley.

Miss Hill Exchanges Vows with V. J. Haslam

Miss Sheila Susan Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon W. Hill of 29 Edith Avenue, Saugerties, exchanged marriage vows with Victor J. Haslam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor V. Haslam, Mt. Marion, at 1:30 p. m. on June 30 in the Dutch Reformed Church, Mt. Marion.

The Rev. John A. Needham officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Estelle Flicker, organist, accompanied Peter Sanson who sang "Ave Maria," "Because," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The church was decorated with white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The family pews were marked with white satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of Chantilly lace trimmed with pearls and enhanced by a lace scalloped sabrina neckline and long sleeves. It had a Victorian pannier skirt that revealed tiers of ruffles which extended to an attached chapel train. The skirt was accented in back by a large satin, floor-length bow. She wore a crown of pearls and rhinestones attached to an elbow-length, silk illusion veil, and carried a cascade of white rosebuds.

Mrs. Robert Frederickson of Woodstock, served as matron of honor for her sister, Miss Rose Haslam, sister of the bridegroom, served as maid of honor. They wore identical, floor-length gowns of yellow silk organza accented by an empire waist and lace-covered bodice and train. They carried cascades of yellow daisies.

Attendants were Mrs. Frederick Bechtold of Kingston, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Diana Hill, sister of the bride. They wore aqua gowns styled identically to those of the hon- or attendants and carried cascades of aqua daisies.

Miss Kelly Frederickson, niece of the bride, served as flower girl. She wore a yellow silk-organza dress trimmed with white lace and an embroidered bodice. She carried a sweetheart basket of yellow and aqua daisies.

James Curley of Quarryville was best man. Ushering were Robert Frederickson, brother-in-law of the bride; Donald DeBrosky of Kingston; and Frederick Bechtold, brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

Dwayne and David Hill of Harpersfield, nephews of the bride, were ring bearers.

After the ceremony a reception was held for 70 guests at the Flamingo Restaurant, Saugerties.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

The Margarine Dilemma
Have you been wondering about the differences among the varieties of margarine in the market place? For clarification, Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, thought you might be interested in knowing some of the facts about the "regular" stick margarine, soft and whipped margarine and the low-calorie imitation margarine.

Margarine's Composition — Any product labeled "margarine" must contain 80% refined food fat. Most margarines contain only the refined oils such as soybean, cottonseed, corn and peanut oils. Some are blends of animal and vegetable oils. Oleomargarine is a margarine containing some animal fat. Margarines also contain approximately 17-18% skim milk, pasteurized and cultured with harmless bacteria to create flavor. Some margarines use water in lieu of milk. From 1½-3% of margarine consists of salt. Salt free varieties are also available. Margarine is fortified with vitamin A and it contains other ingredients in small amounts to improve the product's usefulness and keeping qualities.

Soft Margarine — This is the commonly accepted term for a margarine with a consistency decidedly softer than the margarines found in the traditional four ¼ pound stick form. Soft margarine is retailed in tubs or cups due to its softness. This type of margarine is "soft" because of the high polyunsaturated fat content of the liquid oils.

Whipped Margarine — This is a margarine into which inert gases are injected to increase its volume by 50%. Whipped margarine is retailed 6 sticks to the pound and is similar in form and technology to whipped butter.

Low-calorie Imitation Margarine — A new addition to the table spreads is "imitation" margarine. Because this product does not conform to the Federal definition and standard of identity for margarine, it cannot be marketed as margarine. Imitation margarine contains no more than 40% fat since under Federal law there must be at least a 50% reduction in calories in order to make certain dietary claims. The first ingredient you will find listed on the label for the imitation margarine is water. According to the law ingredients must be listed in order of predominance.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
As do many people, I enjoy the comfort of traveling in shorts, but prefer to do my sightseeing and dining properly dressed. So I make my own outfits — shorts with button-down skirts to match.

While driving, this gives me the comfort of shorts, with my skirt folded lengthwise over the back of the front seat. Before I alight I put on the skirt and a pair of heels, kept for this purpose on the floor of the car. I'm ready for the nicest of restaurants or for sightseeing.

Chris Schneider

Dear Heloise:
While making grape jelly, I thought I'd save time by making a triple batch.

Wow, when that stuff started its full rolling boil, it really spit!

I grabbed a paper lunch bag, put my hand down into it and used it as a mitten to hold the spoon.

No more splattered arms.

When setting your hair in rollers, zig-zag the parts. Keeps permanent parts from forming at every place where you usually place a roller.

But there's one guy I snub

Walkthon Gives N.Y. Even Split

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mickey Mantle's two-run single featured a four-run sixth inning and the New York Yankees scored four runs on bases-loaded walks Sunday in beating Cleveland 8-2 for a doubleheader split after the Indians won the opener 4-1.

Steve Hargan, the Indians' starting pitcher in the second game, walked six in 2 2/3 innings and the Yankees drew 10 bases-on-balls.

New York broke open a tight game in the sixth as Jake Gibbs beat out an infield hit against Hal Kutz, Cleveland's fifth pitcher. Dick Howser walked and Lindy McDaniel was safe at first, loading the bases, when Kutz threw pulled first baseman Tony Horton off the bag on an attempted sacrifice.

One out later, Roy White walked to force in one run and Mantle greeted Vincente Romo with a line single to right field, scoring Howser and McDaniel. White scored on Joe Pepitone's single.

Tresh drew a bases-loaded walk from Hargan in the first inning and the Yankees scored three more in the third when Horace Clarke singled, Hargan walked three batters in succession and reliever Mike Paul forced in one run with a walk and batted in another.

Steve Barber, who pitched 5 2/3 innings, raised his record to 4-3 while Hargan was charged with his 11th loss.

Winning pitcher Sam McDowell singled in a run during a three-run fifth in the first game as the Indians extended their winning streak to six games. He was kayoed in the sixth when Tresh singled in the Yankees' only run but Romo preserved McDowell's 10th triumph with a two-hit 3 2/3-inning relief stint.

The Blond Bomber was 3-under-par for the distance when the match ended in anti-climatic circumstances on the No. 17 where both of the players picked up birdie-4s on the 578-yard hole. Bostic was even par. It was the fourth meeting between the friendly rivals in the 11-year history of the premier golf event which annually attracts its full quota of 128 players from all parts of the Hudson valley. They are 2 and 2 against each other.

Randall and Bostic played spectacular golf—7 birdies between them—to finish all-even after 14 holes. The Blond Bomber made the turn in 2-

Takes Lead on 7th
Randall took the lead with a birdie-4 on the par-five, 504-yard seventh and the old protagonists battled evenly through the next six holes. Both birdied the par-5, 12th, Randall from 9 feet and Bostic on a 3-footer.

Suddenly and inexplicably, Bostic's game collapsed after he overhauled Randall on the 14th hole where Leon picked up his second bogey of the day after missing the green and where Bostic rolled in a clutch, 7-foot putt for his par four.

Bostic ran into trouble on the 15th where his approach over shot the green and landed into a clump of pine trees bordering the green. His difficult wedge shot slipped 12 feet past the pin. Randall, meanwhile, was on in two 30 feet from the pin. He left his putt 3 feet but sank it after Bostic failed to negotiate his 12-footer and Randall led 1-up.

Trouble on 16th
On the par-three, 171-yard 16th, the "grief hole" at Wiltwyck, Bostic ran into more trouble, pushing his tee shot to the rough on the right of the green. Randall also hit the same area but closer to the hole and with a better lie.

Bostic peeked on his pitch shot, dribbling it only a few feet and his third shot was 2 feet short of the pin. Randall chipped 6 feet past the cup but holed it coming back for his par-3 which had Bostic dormie-2.

The match ended in anti-climatic fashion on the par-5 17th. Bostic dubbed his approach shot then laid an iron on the green 20 feet from the pin. Randall got a break when his approach was in and out of the shallow trip fronting the hole. He chipped to within 6 feet. Bostic canned his 20-footer for the birdie and when Randall dropped his the match was over.

Randall carded 6 birdies in the match. Bostic had four. Randall breezed to the finals with three easy victories. He defeated home clubbers Frank Weller, 5 and 3, George Cosenza, 6 and 5, and Dan Gaffney in the semi-finals, 6 and 5.

Bostic drew tougher opponents and after eliminating Woodstock champion Bill Van Aken, 3 and 2 in the first round, had to travel 19 holes to oust Rick Bates of Stamford, 1 up. Bates was a finalist in 1963 and 1965. Bostic then beat former champion Bob Botsford of Dutchess, 2 and 1 in the semi-finals.

Defending champion Heinz Mews of Dogwood Knolls was given the first round shock treatment by Bill McCullen of Wiltwyck, who upset him, 2 and 1. McCullen then bowed to Dan Gaffney in the second round, 5 and 4.

Harold Van Aken of Wiltwyck won First Flight honors with a 3 and 2 conquest of Rusty Bates of Normanside, Albany.

Mews overcame a three-hole deficit to edge Bill Van Aken of Woodstock, 1 up in 19 holes of the championship flight Beaten Eight finals.

Schoendienst Really Knows Jerry Koosman

By PETE ALFANO

Red Schoendienst "barely heard" of Jerry Koosman before he named the Mets' rookie pitching sensation to the National League All-Star team—and now the Cardinal manager will be happy if he never hears of him again.

Koosman, making only his first appearance of the season against the world champion, hurled a four-hit shutout Sunday for his 13th victory as New York defeated St. Louis 4-0 to salvage a split of their doubleheader after the Cards and Bob Gibson took the opener 2-0.

Schoendienst admitted he named Koosman to the All-Star squad on the recommendation of the other league managers since he hadn't seen the 24-year-old rookie pitch all season. But after watching the talented left-hander fan Carl Yastrzemski to end the mid-season classic and then set a career high of 12 strikeouts while beating the Cardinals in 90-degree weather, Red Bird skipper was full of praise. "Koosman is a great pitcher," said Schoendienst. "He was ahead of every hitter and followed through just great. He'll never get a sore arm pitching like that."

Koosman walked only one as he hurled his fifth shutout of the year, setting a club record in the process, and raising his record to 13-5 which tied a club record for most wins by a left-hander in a season.

The winning run came in the sixth inning off loser Nelson Plesha, now 11-7, when Cleon Jones singled, moved to second on an infield out and scored on J.C. Martin's single.

Gibson also raised his record to 13-5 as he posted his 10th consecutive victory in the opener with a seven-hitter.

Bobby Tolan supplied the hitting support for Gibson with an inside the park homer off Jim McAndrew, making his first major league start, in the sixth inning and a run producing double off reliever Bill Connors in the eighth.

In other NL action, Cincinnati trounced Philadelphia 12-6, Pittsburgh blanked Atlanta 6-0, Chicago topped Los Angeles 7-2 and Houston split with San Francisco, winning the first game 2-1 in 10 innings before losing the nightcap 6-1.

Tony Cloninger slammed a two-run homer in the second inning while picking up his first win in a Cincinnati uniform and Lee May and Jim Beauchamp added homers as the Reds routed Philadelphia and Chris Short.

Home Runs by Willie Stargell, Dose Pagan and Donn Clendenon powered Pittsburgh over Atlanta and helped Steve Blass gain his eighth win in 10 decisions.

Glenn Beckert collected four hits to stretch his hitting streak hammered two homers to give Chicago and Bill Hands a victory over Los Angeles.

Willie Mays, playing first base in the nightcap, singled home the tie-breaking run in the third inning and Jim Hart and Ron Hunt drove in two runs each as San Francisco defeated Houston after the Astros won the opener on Dick Simpson's one-out single in the 10th inning.

Are copycats as good as Tiger Paws?

We made a terrible mistake in putting red circles on our Tiger Paws. It made Tiger Paws so easy to imitate. And it made it easy for some dealers who sell these copycats to palm them off as Tiger Paws. Who do they think they're fooling? You. And they'll continue to fool you until you discover that your "Tiger Paws" aren't living up to their reputation. How could they? Copycats only look like Tiger Paws. Friends be warned: Tiger Paws are made only by Uniroyal. And sold only by Uniroyal dealers. And anybody who tells you different, isn't your friend.

Local Netters KO'd in HVTT

Kingston area tennis players ran into some stiff competition the last few days. All five local entrants were eliminated in the early rounds of the Hudson Valley Tennis Tournament being staged at the Powelton Club, Newburgh.

Of the five, all playing singles, and four of them in doubles, only the duo of Bill Zeeh and Joe Scott reached the quarter finals, and there they lost to Rick Wilbur and Steve Strom, Wednesday night, by scores of 6-1, 6-3.

The other doubles pair of Dick Smith and Dick Little, were ousted one round earlier by Buddy Eisenberg and Dick Berner, 6-4, 6-0.

In singles play, the Zeeshs, Bill and Pete, plus Scott were all kayoed in first round action, while in the second, Smith went down before Monroe's Paul Peschel, 6-1, 6-1 and Little was stopped by Ed Cunningham, 6-0, 6-0.

Murray Paces Wiltwyck Junior Swimming Team

Craig Murray, 15-year-old Kingston High School swimmer, paced the Wiltwyck Country swim team in an impressive performance at the AAU Junior Olympic swim meet at Clifton Knolls.

Murray placed second in the 200-meter breaststroke for 15-17 year olds in a 3:10 clocking. He was fourth in the 200-meter individual medley relay in 2:48.

Susan Helmrich, a speedy 12-year-old, placed third in the 100-meter freestyle and fifth in the 100-meter breaststroke. Jay Riftenbary, 11, was fifth in the 100-meter freestyle.

Although several Wiltwyck swimmers qualified for the Region 1 Junior Olympic Championships on July 27, they will have to forego the event. Wiltwyck has its first swimming invitational on that same date. Thirty Hudson Valley teams have been extended invitations.

A team trophy will be presented in addition to medals for first, second and third place, and a high point trophy will each division to the winning boy and girl swimmer based on cumulative points.

Mary Elizabeth Boyd, Wiltwyck pool director and team coach, has arranged the event. The top Wiltwyck performers at Cl

Making New Cartoon Without Walt Disney

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For the first time in the history of the Disney Studio, a feature cartoon is being made without the guidance and control of Walt Disney.

"Jungle Book" was the last animated feature produced under the watchful supervision of Walt, who oversaw all the films, beginning with the trail-blazing "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in 1937. Now his studio's animators and artists are engaged in a brand-new film, "The Aristocats."

"Actually, Walt did put the project into work," says Wolfgang "Wooley" Reitherman, who is directing the feature. "At the beginning it was very loose, just as all of them are at the start. It began as a show for the television series, and we were working on it after '101 Dalmations' (1961). The idea kept growing, and it appeared more suitable for a full-length feature."

Imprint Was Placed

"The Aristocats" had scarcely progressed beyond the formative stages when Disney died in December 1966. While he hadn't animated a frame of film since the earliest days of Mickey Mouse, his imprint had been placed on every detail of the cartoon features.

"Walt kept a good over-all eye on everything we did," said Reitherman. "During the earlier years he was in on every stage. In the last 10 or 15 years he was busy with other things, and his comments were more general."

"He would check to determine if the sequences were well balanced and if the personalities were coming off in a pleasant way. He came up with some damn good ideas in that important field. After all, the whole meat of the cartoon feature is personality and character."

The storyboards that line the walls of Reitherman's office and spill out into halls of the animation building—these are the pin-up preliminary sketches of the film—indicate a wide range of personalities and characters in "Aristocats." The plot concerns an eccentric Parisian lady, with the voice of Hermione Baddeley, who leaves her fortune to her cats. Upon their death, the money goes to the butler, and there hangs the plot. The butler tries to eliminate the cats—in a nice sort of way.

A Rollicking Duet

The mother cat is voiced by Eva Gabor, and Phil Harris plays Thomas O'Malley, the alley cat. He sings a rollicking duet with Louis Armstrong. "Everybody Wants to Be a Cat."

It will be a long wait before audiences will see "Aristocats." Reitherman reported that about one-third of the feature is in animation. The rest will be ready for the theaters by Christmas of 1970—"If we're lucky."

ROME, N.Y. (UPI)—Twenty-one persons from the Rome and Utica areas face hearings today in connection with drug raids. Most of those arrested were carried out over the weekend by state and local police.

Four locations were raided in Rome and two in Utica Saturday night and police said they confiscated a quantity of marijuana, hypodermic needles and a substance believed to be LSD. Fifteen persons were arrested in Rome and six in Utica. All except one were held without bail for arraignment Monday on charges ranging from selling and using LSD and marijuana to loitering for the purpose of using drugs. Authorities released one person on bail.

A small investment
gets the job done

When a small boy's sweet tooth starts to demand satisfaction, you might think it would take much more than an investment in a penny gum machine to solve such an annoying problem. It's hard to believe that in today's world a penny can still buy so much pleasure.

But the truth is, there are still a number of things which cost little and deliver much. Freeman Want Ads are a good example. The price is low (as little as 55c per day), but the accomplishment is big. To sell, buy, hire, rent or find, a Want Ad will almost always get the job done. Call 338-0606 for friendly assistance in placing your ad.

SHORT

Dear Abby

Should Tell It Like It Is

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sweet little 6-year-old daughter I'll call Molly, and I am "expecting" again in a few months. Molly plays with two neighbor girls who are 6 and 9. The mother of these girls has been instructing them in sex education which has become a problem to me. The neighbor girls told Molly that "her Mummy has a baby in her tummy, and it's growing like a watermelon, and Daddy planted the seed!"

Now, what in the world am I going to tell Molly when she asks me about this "planting" procedure?

I went over to have a talk with my neighbor, and I asked her to please tell her girls not to discuss such things with Molly because I intend to answer all her questions in my own way when the time comes, but right now she is too young to understand these things. I said this all in a very friendly way, and the mother agreed to cooperate. Twice since that time Molly has asked me some shocking questions as a result of something these girls have told her. It seems that their mother has shown the girls a book with pictures in it showing how a baby is born! Now my Molly wants to see the book. Can you help me?

CLEAN-MINDED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I think your neighbor's approach to teaching her daughters what every girl must know sooner or later (and the sooner the better) is healthier than yours. Have another talk with her. You can benefit greatly. You say that you will answer your child's questions when she asks. She is asking now, so tell her. Don't worry about whether she understands or not.

If she doesn't, it won't harm her, but it will make sense when she does reach the age of understanding.

When mothers become embarrassed and evasive when sex is mentioned, the child gets the idea that something is wrong (or "dirty") with the whole business. You desperately need to educate yourself before you can educate Molly properly.

DEAR ABBY: My brother collects motel keys. That is, he keeps the key to motels where he stays on business.

I chide him about being a "thief," and he huffily informed me that the room rent included the price of the key. Who is right and if I am, what is wrong with him!

LINCOLN, NEBR.
DEAR LINCOLN: The room rent does not include the price of the key. The key belongs to the establishment. I don't know what else is wrong with him, but so far, I'd say he is light-fingered and ill-informed.

DEAR ABBY: This letter isn't likely to impress MRS. PLANNED PARENTHOOD, but that's all right, because her letter didn't impress me either. I would like her to know that some of us with bigger families "plan," too. Only we plan on having children FIRST—then we have our expensive homes, fancy cars, pleasure trips, etc., if we can afford them, that is. I agree with her on one point, however. I think all children should come into the world wanted and loved. But the world would be a lot better off if people would learn how to love the children they get, rather than take pills to keep from having them.

MOTHER OF SEVEN
Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jim: "How about a few columns on preserving entries for a long suit?"

Oswald: "It looks as if you have been looking at Marshall Miles' article on that subject in the May-June issue of 'Popular Bridge'. We might even use some of his hands."

Jim: "Why not? Let's start with a simple one. South is in a normal contract of three no-trump. He has seven tricks in top cards and must look around for two more. The obvious place to find them is in the diamond suit, the only five carder in his hand or dummy."

Oswald: "South saw this, and at trick two he made the proper lead of a low diamond toward dummy. His plan was to play low from dummy and to repeat the ducking procedure to lead diamonds."

Jim: "That play would have worked, but unfortunately for declarer, West played his queen of diamonds when South led the deuce. South looked owlishly at the queen and could not resist putting dummy's ace on it. As South pointed out later, if that queen had really been a singleton, South would only have made one diamond trick if he had ducked and was going to be sure of two diamond tricks by rising with the ace."

Oswald: "South was wrong in both his play and analysis. South would not make his contract if that queen was a singleton. He needed three diamond tricks, not two. Furthermore, South was not sure of two diamond tricks when West played the queen. There is no law to prevent a smart player rising with the queen when holding K-Q-10."

Jim: "West's play of the queen had little to commend it except that it worked. Once South wasted dummy's ace of diamonds he had no way to make his contract. Of course he played it out to the bitter end, but East and West made no mistakes and South went down."

Baseball: the Prime Needs

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Habits are often comforting. When I was a boy, my father and I would have late-night ice cream sodas at Schrafft's on 57th Street in New York. To this day, I have a soda at home before going to bed, and the nostalgic memory helps make it my tranquilizer. I tried sleeping pills twice, but stayed up all night waiting for them to take effect.

Habits can also be a hangup. I was thinking of that this past weekend in relation to baseball, after watching and listening to some games on television and radio. I've always been a traditionalist about the sport every time somebody in television tried to mess around with it, and basically I still am. But there's no question baseball needs some new zip.

Most of the game announcers seem to be living in a time capsule. Across the country, their general outlook seems to be rigidly middleaged, locked in the same verbal motions, the same clichés, dull statistics, hoary anecdotes, well-known explanations of strategy—usually delivered with an oleaginous smugness and confidence that their listeners are in the same time capsule.

What baseball broadcasting needs is—in the new vernacular—a little soul. It needs a little cool 1960s style. It needs to try once more with feeling.

Maybe what baseball really needs is for a team or two to be bought by some very young people, and for them to shake up the business the way kid executives have done in the record industry. I'd like to see that. I'd like to hear their announcers, and watch the whole scene. If baseball doesn't turn on a little bit in the near future, it may find itself with a number of viewers and listeners tuning out. The year is 1968, even in baseball.

Civil War Shoot Results In Flaming Near-Tragedy

SOMERSET, Mich. (UPI)—When they shoot the Civil War cannons, they pack the powder in with a wad of paper or cloth. When the shell leaves the cannon the wadding is supposed to go with it and disintegrate. Usually it does. Sunday it didn't. A bit of flaming cloth fluttered in the air after a cannon was fired. It hung a second, then dropped into an open keg of gunpowder. The keg exploded. Flames shot in all directions. People stampeded. Some lay where they had fallen, their faces bloody masks.

The Heritage Muzzle Loaders Association Sunday was demonstrating the old instruments of Civil War destruction when the clot wadding wafted lazily into the powder keg. It was the close of the two-day national cannon and carbine team matches. It was very nearly a disaster.

Some 20 cannons were set up along a quarter-mile line, and members were firing round after round at makeshift forts. The curious stood around the cannons. Among them was Diane Korb, 8, Ferndale, Mich., and her sister Karen, 5.

Suddenly the flaming cloth fluttered into the air instead of whizzing off with the shell. The keg exploded.

Forty-one persons were injured, seven of them burned critically.

"I just heard a big noise and then all this smoke. I started running away," sobbed Diane.

"My hair was burning while I was running and my little sister Karen fell down. My brother had to carry her, but then he had to help another girl," she said.

Diane's father, Thomas Korb, a member of the Heritage Muzzle Loaders, explained.

"Some 30 clubs with carbine teams had come for the matches. They had built makeshift forts for targets and were firing away."

"My little girls were near the Gatling guns, as close as they could get to the cannon shoot when it went off," he said.

Diane and Karen were treated for flash burns, cuts and bruises.

A first aid tent on the rifle grounds treated 16 persons, while 25 more were taken to hospitals in Jackson, Tecumseh and Hillsdale. Hillsdale County sheriff's deputies said. Five of the critically burned were taken to the University of Michigan burn center in Ann Arbor.

'Favorite Son' Coalition Neutral in GOP Running

By United Press International

A coalition of Republican "favorite sons," which opponents of Richard M. Nixon had hoped might block his presidential nomination, has fizzled.

Instead, the three key Republican governors who had discussed the coalition, and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California who had not, have decided to remain neutral in a final attempt to keep the GOP race open.

The three governors were George Romney of Michigan, James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Proposal Collapses

The coalition, proposed by Romney, collapsed when Rhodes said he could not commit Ohio to any unified course of action at next month's GOP Convention in Miami Beach.

Rhodes told the governors he would remain uncommitted at least until the start of the August 5 convention and it was understood that Agnew and Romney, at a meeting with Rhodes Sunday morning, decided on the same stand.

They, along with Reagan, intend to remain favorite son candidates until the convention, withholding their support from Nixon or any other candidate until then.

Reagan meanwhile arrived at the governors' conference at Cincinnati acting very much like a candidate but still withholding any definite announcement.

He said convention delegates should have a "free and open mind" and not make a decision until they look over all factors at the convention.

In other Political developments: Debates—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy Sunday invited Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to join him in three nationally televised debates prior to the Democratic National Convention, instead of one.

Humphrey aide said the vice president would consider it. Both candidates have agreed to debate Vietnam and other issues but details still were to be worked out.

Nelson Rockefeller—The New York governor, in the latest of series of position papers, on campaign issues, called for a broad program for the planning and development of new cities by private developers with the help of government.

Nixon—Sen. John Tower, a key Nixon adviser, said Nixon is skeptical about chances the Vietnam talks in Paris would lead to peace. Nixon meanwhile returned to his native California for the first time since announcing his candidacy. He called Reagan a "major contender" for the GOP nomination.

Humphrey—The vice president over the weekend emphatically rejected the support of antiwar Democrats who want him to say President Johnson and his Vietnam policy were wrong.

Pact—Two congressmen Sunday asked all announced presidential contenders—including George Wallace—to endorse a plan to deny Wallace a voice in the selection of the next president if the election is thrown into the House. Wallace himself said the election "will not go into the House" but would not elaborate.

Poll—About a third of Rockefeller's supporters and a third of McCarthy's would rather vote for each other's candidates than for either Nixon or Humphrey, the latest Gallup poll indicated.

Suggests HHH Quit as Veep

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—

Two Democratic governors have told Hubert H. Humphrey he needs a dramatic political initiative to enlist new supporters and accelerate his White House campaign—and one of them suggested that the move be his resignation as vice president.

Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont said he leans toward support of Humphrey for the nomination.

They said Humphrey's nomination is not inevitable, but both expressed reservations about McCarthy.

"Perhaps, I've been around politics just too long to be too idealistic," Curtis said, "because I think it's going to take more than just an expression of ideals that Sen. McCarthy has to run the country."

"There is a certain remoteness about him," Hoff said of McCarthy, "and I guess I would call it a lack of leadership."

But he said Humphrey replied he could not resign the job to which he was elected.

Hoff and Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine, both former supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination, met secretly with the vice president in Washington one week ago.

They told of that meeting in interviews at a national governors conference marked by talk of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as a potent choice for second spot on a ticket headed by Humphrey.

Curtis, who did not join in Hoff's suggestion that Humphrey resign, said Kennedy's nomination for vice president might provide the drama and appeal he believes the Humphrey campaign now needs.

While Hoff and Curtis talked critically of the Humphrey campaign, they did not translate this into any hint of support for the vice president's chief rival, Minnesota Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy.

Hoff said he is uncommitted, added "I have been stewing because I love Hubert Humphrey."

Curtis said he leans toward support of Humphrey for the nomination.

Tragedies in Area: Taconic Drowning, 2 Die in RR Mishap

By JON POWERS

A three-year old Long Island girl was reported drowned while vacationing with her parents at Taconic State Park in the Columbia County community of Copake yesterday.

The incident was that community's third fatality of the weekend. Late Saturday afternoon, two teenage girls, both from Long Island were killed when their auto was struck by a Penn Central train at an unguarded crossing on New Copake Road, several miles southeast of Hudson.

Alone on West Beach

At approximately 11:30 a.m. Sunday morning, State Police report that Kathleen Robinson of 5 Oak Street, South Farmingdale was playing alone on the west beach of the park when she apparently fell headfirst into the water.

Lifeguards who were on duty at the beach, saw the youngster lying face down in approximately one foot of water, but their efforts to revive the child were futile. By the time they were able to pull her out of the lake, she had swallowed a large quantity of water.

The youngster was rushed by the Greenport Rescue Squad to Columbia County Memorial Hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival by Dr. Elia Bliss of Hudson.

The child's parents, James and Margaret Robinson were treated at Columbia Memorial Hospital for shock and later released.

Unguarded Crossing

At 5:15 p. m. Saturday an auto operated by Donna Campbell, 18, of 80-37 255th Street, Floral Park, L. I., was struck by a train operated by Hugo H. Staff, 63, of Germantown at an unguarded crossing on New Copake Road in the Town of Copake.

The driver, who was traveling north on the highway at the time of the incident, apparently drove through the crossing without checking for possible traffic on the tracks. The auto was struck on the right side by the train and carried for approximately 150 yards before being pushed off the side of the tracks.

The driver of the auto was pronounced dead at the scene with massive internal injuries. A passenger in the auto, Joan R. Slotnick of Little Neck, L. I., died of compound fractures of the skull.

No Action Pending

The auto was owned by the driver's brother, Davis Campbell, also of Floral Park. The engineer of the train was questioned by State Police investigators and released. There is no criminal action pending.

One other area fatality occurred over the weekend. On Saturday afternoon Brian T. Traynor, 18, of New York City, drowned while swimming in a small pond at a private campsite near the Sullivan County Community of DeBruce.

Across New York State a total of 25 persons died as a result of accidents during the weekend. Eighteen persons were reported killed in traffic accidents while four persons were the victim of drowning incidents.

Three Hurt on 209

At 3 a. m. Sunday, three persons were injured in a one-car crash on Route 209 in the Town of Wawarsing. Police report that an auto operated by Francine Nachman, 19, of Brooklyn was traveling south on Route 209 when the driver was blinded by the lights of an oncoming vehicle. The auto left the road and went into a ditch on the right side of the highway. The driver suffered head and right shoulder pains, while two passengers in the car received minor injuries. Eighteen-year-old Ronald Finn of Brooklyn suffered lacerations of the shoulders and chin and Bruce Hendricks, 17, also of Brooklyn received lacerations of the left hand. All three were taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where they were released after treatment.

Two persons were injured in a one car crash on Oak Ridge Road, three-tenths of a mile west of Route 209 in the Town of Wawarsing at 10:15 p. m. Sunday.

Romutald Nowakowski, 17, of Brooklyn was operating a vehicle when it failed to negotiate a right turn. The auto went off the right side of the road and struck a tree. Nowakowski was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital where he was treated for lacerations of the head. The owner, and passenger, of the auto, Irene Stobierski, 21, of Spring Glen was treated for lacerations of the forehead.

Nowakowski was issued a summons for failure to keep to the right, and driving without a license.

Still in Hanoi

The three captured American fliers, who are being released by the North Vietnamese were reported still in Hanoi. Stephen B. Cary, an official in Philadelphia of the American Friends Service Committee, said an associate had wired from Hanoi that the release has been delayed one week.

"We have no idea why they were held up," Cary said. The three airmen are Maj. James F. Low 43, Sausalito, Calif.; Maj. Fred N. Thompson, 32, Taylors, S.C., and Capt. Joe V. Carpenter, 37, Victorville, Calif.

Unit Wiped Out

East of Khe Sanh near Con Thien, Marine fighter pilots and artillery wiped out most of a 30-man North Vietnamese unit that was spotted moving in an open area. The U.S. Command reported 22 North Vietnamese bodies were found.

South Vietnamese forces reported killing 10 Viet Cong and capturing 21 others during the first contingent of a new infantry division from Thailand. Some 1,500 troops of Thailand's 12,000-man Black Panther Division arrived at the U.S. Army's Newport port facility just north of the capital.

The Thai division will have a dual mission: to block enemy infiltration into Saigon from the northeast, where elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division are said to be based, and to smash Viet Cong guerrilla bands in Bien Hoa province, east of the capital, easing the threat of enemy harassment against allied military installations there.

Along the northern frontier, an outnumbered U.S. Marine force hurled back a North Vietnamese battalion near Khe Sanh Sunday. The enemy opened up with mortars before launching a ground probe at dusk. U.S. headquarters said. While Marine artillery pounded the North Vietnamese, the defending Marines unleashed heavy automatic weapons fire.

When the fighting died down two hours later, the Leathernecks counted 12 enemy bodies outside their positions and reported 10 of their own men wounded.

Terrorists Bomb Four Theaters

SAIGON (AP) — A new wave of Viet Cong terrorism hit Saigon and two provincial capitals Sunday, killing 13 Vietnamese and wounding 92.

Intelligence sources have said terrorist attacks might precede the threatened third major enemy offensive of the year, but the lull in the ground war still continued.

Twelve Vietnamese were killed and 91 wounded in the weekend bombing of four theaters, one of them only a block from national police headquarters in Saigon. A large explosive charge set off outside the Saigon theater killed four persons and wounded 52. Also in Saigon, a minor official was assassinated and a 17-year-old boy seriously wounded.

Grenade

A hand grenade was thrown into a group of militiamen watching a traveling troupe perform in Phu Cuong, a provincial capital 15 miles north of Saigon. Four persons were killed and 23 wounded, including two of the performers.

Terrorists set off bombs outside two theaters in Ben Tre, another provincial capital in the Mekong Delta 50 miles southeast of Saigon. Government headquarters said four persons were killed and 16 wounded.

Vietnamese informants say at least 1,000 Viet Cong troops have infiltrated the capital city in preparation for the third major offensive of the year expected within the next two months.

Seaplane Salvaged in Saugerties

An amphibian aircraft, owned by Murray Pearlman of Tannersville is shown after it crashed while attempting to land in the Hudson River near Saugerties on Saturday afternoon. Police report that the plane landed in a boat wake, bounced back into the air, overturned and sank. Pearlman was rescued by three Port Ewen youths who were water skiing on the river at the time of the incident.

While there were several boats in the area at the time, the three boys, Jan Kline, Michael Leiching and Joseph R. Leiching, were the only ones who responded to the crash. The plane was recovered by Dedrick's Wrecker Service and towed back to shore. Pearlman was not injured in the crash. (Freeman photo by Haines)

No Let-Up in Viet War

AUSTIN, Tex., (AP) — President Johnson is enjoying a rancher's respite in the Texas hills after U. S.-Vietnam summit sessions that withered hopes for any early cease-fire or even a let-up in the Vietnamese war.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam did see some prospect, nevertheless, that his army's power will grow to the point of permitting what he termed a phasing out of some American military units one at a time in 1969. But he stressed this would not mean a complete U.S. withdrawal from the war.

Johnson and Thieu put in 10 hours conferring privately or with key advisers flanking them in meetings Friday and Saturday in Hawaii.

Thieu stayed on a bit afterward to relish the delights of sun, sand and surf at famed Waikiki beach.

Johnson, never known publicly to have tried this type of relaxation on visits to the "paradise of the Pacific," was off by jet for the LBJ Ranch near Johnson City, 65 miles west of here, shortly after the final meeting ended at the U.S. Pacific Command hilltop headquarters overlooking Pearl Harbor.

Back home, the President and Mrs. Johnson attended Mass Sunday at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic church in Stonewall, a mile or so up the Pedernales River from the ranch.

The time of the presidential return to Washington was flexible. It could be Tuesday night, by way of Cincinnati. The National Governors Conference there has been putting on pressure for a Johnson appearance and speech.

The Honolulu summit conference closed with a communiqué, a statement by Johnson to reporters, and a Thieu news conference.

The two presidents agreed that the comparative lull in the

What in the World!

2,000 Under Tent Collapse

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — A sudden gust of wind collapsed a large tent on more than 2,000 rock 'n' roll fans Sunday night. Authorities said a tragedy was averted because the young people refused to panic.

About 65 persons were injured. It was the second such incident in the past two weeks. On July 9 at Auburn, N. Y., a large tent of the Clyde Beatty-Cole Bros. Circus fell on 1,400 of 2,000 persons under the Big Top. Eighty-five persons were hurt, 24 seriously.

Forty persons, many of them teen-agers, were treated at three Milwaukee hospitals, Sunday night, and officials estimated another 25 were treated for cuts and bruises at a Red Cross station near the scene of the tent collapse on the shores of Lake Michigan. No one was seriously injured.

3rd Day With New Heart

HOUSTON (UPI) — Fred C. Everman was in "very satisfactory" condition today — his third day with a new heart.

Everman, 58, an Arlington, Va., barber, Saturday received the heart of Mrs. Evelyn G. Krikorian, a Houston housewife who died of complications from a kidney disease. The operation was the sixth human-to-human heart transplant for the St. Luke's Hospital surgical team headed by Dr. Denton Cooley.

One of Cooley's transplant patients, Everett C. Thomas of Phoenix, Ariz., has been released from the hospital.

Peking Aid Has a Price

LONDON (UPI) — Peking has renewed its call on Hanoi to "fight to the end" as apparent price for further Communist Chinese aid. But Hanoi has deftly avoided any commitment to Mao Tse-tung to change its present Vietnam strategy, diplomats said today.

Peking's move and Hanoi's reaction emerged from exchanges of the two sides in Peking during the recent visit there of a North Vietnamese top level mission. The exchange was revealed by the Communist Chinese diplomatic mission in London.

Biafra Famine Talks

NIAMEY, Niger (AP) — Representatives of Nigeria and secessionist Biafra have begun talks aimed at breaking the stalemate that is keeping food from millions of refugees threatened with starvation in the breakaway West African tribal state.

The two delegations met Sunday in Niamey, the Niger capital northwest of Nigeria and agreed on an agenda for peace talks getting under way soon in Ethiopia. A communiqué issued after the conference said the delegates also discussed "concrete proposals for the transportation of relief to the civilian victims of the war."

There was no indication, however, of any progress toward agreement on relief measures.

Not Guilty: Ray; Trial November 12

Trial was set for Nov. 12. Ray was arraigned under heavy security in an 11-minute hearing before Judge W. Preston Battle in the Shelby County Criminal Court.

Dressed in blue from his suit to a light blue shirt, Ray did not say a word throughout the brief hearing.

Judge Battle set the trial to begin November 12 and asked each side to try to complete the case within six weeks.

Ray also pleaded not guilty to a charge of carrying a dangerous weapon with intent to do bodily harm.

Against Gimmicks

Meanwhile, according to the Associated Press, Ray's lawyer, Arthur Hanes, a former mayor of Birmingham, Ala., said he wants "gimmicks" removed from the atmosphere in which Ray will be tried.

Hanes said Sheriff William N. Morris Jr. has sworn on his "Boy Scouts honor" that conversations between Ray and Hanes will not be monitored.

By gimmicks, Hanes said he meant bodyguards and bullet-proof vests of the type worn by Ray when he was whisked into Shelby County jail early Friday after an overnight flight from London.

Hanes and his son, Arthur Hanes Jr., had a city police bodyguard Sunday when they toured the neighborhood where King was shot.

Visit Rooming House

The lawyers also visited a rooming house which overlooks the motel. It was from this house and its communal bathroom that police say the fatal shot was fired.

A mattress fire broke out on the third floor of the jail Sunday night.

City firemen rushed into the building. Sheriff Morris would say only that the fire did little damage and was extinguished quickly.

The sheriff would not say if the fire was set, where on the third floor it broke out, or whether it was considered the work of other inmates who reportedly are irked over the elaborate treatment Ray is receiving.

Hanes described Ray's mood as one of optimism. "He's in good health and has no complaints whatsoever. He reads newspapers and magazines."

State Ends City Pigeon Trapping

By HUGH REYNOLDS

A State Department of Fish and Game official put Kingston out of the pigeon trapping business last week when he confiscated the city's cage.

Fish and Game Protector Phillip Gillen appeared at city hall Wednesday afternoon and informed City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle that the city's pigeon trapping operation was illegal and demanded the city's pigeon cage.

The cage, according to Lyle, was not in city hall at the time of Gillen's visit. It had been atop the roof for several weeks but was taken down recently after trapping only one bird.

The Conservation Department acted under a law that states "... Pigeons shall not be killed within the limits of any city except for food purposes or unless sick or injured beyond recovery." The law also states that "... pigeons may be trapped within any city whenever the Board of Health finds they have become a menace to public health."

The pigeon "menace" in Kingston first became a public issue through Editorials of the Air by Radio Station WGIIQ president Harry M. Thayer.

After blasting city officials over the radio at length, Thayer appeared at the June meeting of the Common Council and called for a committee to deal with the nuisance of pigeons and unlicensed dogs.

At that time, Alderman Edward Norton (D-Seventh Ward) suggested that Thayer be appointed as chairman of a Nuisance Committee by Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan.

The appointment has yet to come from Garraghan.

Meanwhile, Thayer teamed up with First Ward Alderman Florence S. Ludlow and had a pigeon cage built by City Department of Public Works at a cost of about $30. The cage was placed upon the roof of city hall, a favorite roosting place for pigeons where it quickly attracted its first and only customer.

Thayer's plan to trap pigeons in the city was thwarted by Mrs. Marguerite Isaacs, a strong advocate of animal protection and leader of a group called Raccoon Refugees at Large.

It was Mrs. Isaacs who defended the pigeons, found the law prohibiting their trapping in the city and alerted conservation officials to the city's illegal pigeon cage.

Mrs. Isaacs has been a long-time friend of the pigeon which she says are not violent or dangerous. For a time she fed them in the early morning hours but found it detrimental to the birds since local cats were attacking them when they landed for food.

Mrs. Isaacs said the best way to control pigeons is through birth control pills which have proven effective in Budapest, Hungary.

Thayer says he is still determined to get rid of the pigeons and will petition the board of health to declare the birds a health menace so that the city can resume trapping. He added that he would prefer to approach the board with official city sanctioning, that is, as chairman of the Nuisance Committee.

Thayer, who has met with county officials on the pigeon problem hopes to get $1,000 appropriated from both the city and the county for his war against the birds.

Garraghan, when informed of Thayer's desire to be named chairman of the Nuisance Committee, said he had no objections.

4 New Drug Arrests

By LYNN MULVANEY

The alertness of two Ellenville state troopers led to the arrest of four New York City men this weekend on charges of drug possession.

Cruising Rt. 52 in the Town of Wawarsing about 3 a.m. Sunday, Troopers R. M. Houst and J.J. Schetzel observed the driver of a 1964 car acting suspiciously.

Investigation disclosed that the three Brooklyn residents in the car were allegedly in possession of marijuana and amphetamine.

Those Arraigned

Ronald Bader, 16; Marc Edelstein, 19 and Mark Baron, 19, were turned over to Investigator Michael Mahoney at Ellenville and the trio were arraigned before Justice Frank Spada. Each was committed to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $500 bail.

At 1:30 this morning, the two troopers, again cruising Rt. 52, attempted to apprehend an alleged speeder whom they were forced to chase for three or four miles before making the arrest.

While being issued the speeding ticket, the driver, Harry Wagoner, 19, of the Bronx, stepped out of his car. It was then that Troopers Houst and Schetzel observed the odor of freshly burned marijuana and upon a search of the car found a quantity of marijuana in the glove compartment, the police report states.

Also found in the glove compartment was an instrument for use in administering narcotics.

Wagoner was turned over to Investigator Mahoney and arraigned before Justice Spada who ordered him confined to Ulster County Jail in lieu of $1,000 bail.

The defendant is scheduled to reappear before Justice Spada on Aug. 14.

This weekend's drug arrests are among a growing list of those made by state police in connection with cars passing through the area.

Liz Reported Resting After Abdominal Surgery

LONDON (UPI)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor was today "resting comfortably and in satisfactory condition" following "abdominal surgery" Sunday at a north London clinic, a medical spokesman said.

"She will not be going home for some time yet," said the spokesman for the Fitzroy Nuffield Nursing home.

The spokesman said the 36-year old actress' husband, Richard Burton, had visited her after the operation, Miss Taylor's second in less than a week. Details were not disclosed. Both operations were described only as a "woman's operation."

A fawn was born at Forsyth Park Zoo on July 4. This, together with the arrival of two emus, filled the zoo to capacity. The construction of a new bear cage is scheduled to start this month.

Prague to Soviet

Halt 'Uncomradely Interference'

PRAGUE (UPI)—Czechoslovakia's Communist reform leaders today demanded the Soviet Union stop its "uncomradely interference" in this country's affairs.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of the Czech Communist liberals who ousted Stalinist Antonin Novotny, told the Russians in an article in the party newspaper Rude Pravo that the reformers are true Communists.

"We therefore demand—calmly, deliberately but absolutely definitely—from our best friends too that they respect our rights and stands that exclude any kind of uncomradely interference," he said.

In Moscow, underlining the Soviet-Czech crisis rocking Eastern Europe, the Soviet Communist party warned that the Czechoslovakian situation threatens the security of the East Bloc and the military balance of power in Europe.

The Soviet party organ Pravda aimed a flurry of warnings at the American-led West which it calls imperialist. Pravda said the Soviets and their allies would never allow imperialism to "breach the socialist system and thus change the relation of forces in Europe in their favor."

Pravda's warning more than attacked the Czech Communist reform drive for more democracy and independence. It raised once more the threat of Soviet armed intervention in Czechoslovakia.

The exchange of demands and threats flared here and in Moscow as Soviet forces still dawdled en route to their long promised pullout from this country. Czech Communist leaders in turn kept silent about a Kremlin request for a face-to-face showdown meeting between leaders of both Red nations.

President Ludvik Svoboda, the only Czech party president member to surface over the weekend, told a rally at Javorina Sunday night that this nation will remain loyal to the East Bloc. But he said, "The Russians must learn to tolerate those who do not toe the Moscow line."

However, Svoboda—whose name means "freedom" in Slavic and Russian—said nothing about the Kremlin's call for a Czech-Soviet summit today or Tuesday in either of the Soviet cities of Kiev or Lvov.

In Moscow, authoritative sources said Dubcek was waiting for the last Russian troops to leave his country before meeting the Soviets.

The Soviet troops, estimated by Czechs at more than 27,000, came for East Bloc war games in June. They were to have left by June 30. But their departure has been at a snail's pace—

The Abe Fortas Matter Hurts Thornberry Case

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—The likelihood that the Senate won't act until September on the nomination of Abe Fortas as chief justice appears to have reduced chances of quick consideration of President Johnson's other Supreme Court appointment—Homer Thornberry as associate justice.

Recall Possible

Sen. James O. Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee said Thornberry probably would be dismissed after questioning today by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., and a few other committee members, then recalled "after the Fortas matter is determined by the Senate."

Eastland, D-Miss., said several committee members oppose acting further on Thornberry because they feel there won't be a vacancy for him to fill until Fortas' elevation from associate justice to chief justice is confirmed. Many senators refuse even to question Thornberry until then, Eastland said.

The conservative Liberty Lobby, meanwhile, introduced strong opposition to confirmation of Fortas to succeed retiring Chief Justice Earl Warren. W. B. Hicks Jr., the lobby's executive secretary, in prepared testimony assailed what he called Justice Fortas' record of permissiveness toward communism, crime and corruption. Hicks also called Fortas "a fixer" who tried to keep the Walter Jenkins and Bobby Baker cases from embarrassing the Johnson administration.

Eastland said he will call a committee meeting this week to consider the Fortas nomination but Senate leaders said floor action probably will not come until after Labor Day because of a long recess for political conventions.

"It looks that way," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield.

He said a Senate session is not likely to be sandwiched between the Republican National Convention starting Aug. 5 and the Democratic convention to begin Aug. 26.

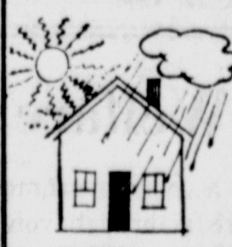

One of the senators saying he would not question Thornberry until Fortas is confirmed was Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., who is among GOP senators threatening to filibuster confirmation of both President Johnson's Supreme Court nominees.

They contend the appointments should be made by the new president in January, and some have accused Johnson of "cronyism" for nominating Fortas and Thornberry, both close friends of his.

Who Should Run Welfare?

Not so long ago, welfare was a non-government function run by professional sociologists through volunteer philanthropic organizations. That was a development from private charity. Now welfare is big business spending $5 to $6 billion a year; big politics, siphoning the benefits where they will do the incumbent administrations the most good; and big expectations, the source of big protests when the recipients don't get all they have been led to believe was coming to them.

You'd think that even a big federal administration would be satisfied to let the cities and states struggle with the consequences of their welfare doles, but not Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Wilburg J. Cohen. He proposed that the Federal Government—meaning his HEW department—should take over the entire running of the welfare program—"this would take the burden off the states and cities and make the entire system more uniform."

There is something to that argument. Welfare recipients getting little if anything in the South due to local opposition have flooded the cities of the North seeking the much richer handouts there, and created slums and ghettos that have made life miserable for them as well as their new neighbors. But what about the principle of local government? Is there no end to the Big Brother concept of doing things?

Cohen hinted at one reason for the change. He said, "The program is spending $5 to $6 billion annually and is still not fulfilling its responsibilities. If it were, this figure would probably be tripled." No idea of phasing out welfare by educating and training people to help themselves. Tripling the spending, a typical big government approach. At least local state officials try to hold welfare down, being responsible to the taxpayers that have to pay the bills.

Fighting Inflation

Now that the 10 per cent Federal income tax surcharge is in effect, with it the accompanying $6 billion cutback in Federal spending, the fight on inflation has begun in earnest. These weapons combine with the dampening effect of the tight money policy the Federal Reserve has pursued for months.

To reduce inflation, the economy must slow down and with it national economic growth. The money managers of the Federal Reserve must determine how much the economy should slow down, and when the slow down comes. Also, what it will do to the country in human terms—higher unemployment and more unrest in the country balanced against the balance of payments and the values of the dollar.

In current dollar terms, estimates are that the gross national product will increase at an annual rate of $12 billion to $14 billion in the third quarter as against $19 billion average in the first half. Also, that unemployment will rise from the 3.5 per cent to 3.8 per cent of the first half to perhaps as high as 4.5 per cent in the latter half.

Despite such a slow down, however, some easing in money is inevitable, observers believe, barring an international crisis. The question is one of timing—whether to start easing money now or wait to see what develops in the economy. With less money to spend, due to the surtax, the average citizen yearns for some loosening in money to conduct his own affairs.

Highway Vs. Golf Course

So next holiday you're going to escape all the nuts on the highway and spend a safe and sane day on the golf course?

Putt around with these statistics, as reported by Saga magazine:

Before the end of the year, more than 10,000 golfers, caddies and groundskeepers will have been skulled by flying balls; 1,600 will have been accidentally slashed by flailing clubs; 500 will have been felled by lightning, 2,000 by heat prostration and 1,200 by over-exertion and 1,500 either run down by, or overturned in, golf carts.

Burglar Time

The immutable fact that householders are often the unwitting accomplices of thieves through their negligence is shown in the rising volume of burglaries throughout the area.

It is acknowledged generally that summertime is a busy time for burglars and that homes and apartments vacated for weeks at a time are irresistible temptations.

Some folks invite trouble by leaving their home unlocked, or by alerting burglars that they are absent by leaving notes in milk bottles. There is no such thing as a burglar-proof home, but all deterrents are worthwhile such as locked doors and windows. Anything that slows down an attempted entry is good.

Will LBJ Keep Congress In Session to January?

WASHINGTON — Many unprecedented things have been happening in the relations of the executive, legislative and judicial branches of the federal government, but there is talk now of another big surprise — namely, that President Johnson may try to keep Congress in session just for a short time after the national political conventions but for a much longer period between Election Day and the inauguration of a new president.

It certainly would be unusual for a president going out of office to call both Houses of Congress into session after a presidential election in which he has not been a candidate. But, while Congress may, by joint resolution, announce its adjournment, the President still retains the authority to call a special session thereafter. On Capitol Hill there is some discussion already of the possibility that Mr. Johnson will seek to keep Congress in session almost up until January, when his successor will be inaugurated.

Mr. Johnson has put on his "must" list a large number of bills which cover some important projects. There is no emergency which would require action on all of them, but a president has the power, just the same to continue to call on Congress for the enactment of bills which he would like to see become law.

Congress, on the other hand — unless there is a truly pressing emergency—could ignore a president's request for action on legislation, and could recess from time to time at its own pleasure.

So the question of whether Mr. Johnson would be able to get his wishes fulfilled as he pushes for the passage of various laws that he says are urgent is related to how Congress itself might feel about staying in almost continuous session through this year.

Inasmuch as all members of the House or Representatives and a third of the Senate are up for election in November, the chances are that if, after a recess or adjournment in August, President Johnson summoned Congress again in September, there would be little done until after the presidential and congressional campaigns have been concluded.

One of the obstacles to congressional action after the election would be the fact that many new members will have won seats but will not take office until January 6. Likewise, the American people would certainly look askance at any pressure for legislation by an outgoing president before the new chief executive has even had a chance to take the oath of office. If, however, there are some unexpected developments in Vietnam and Southeast Asia requiring instant action, Congress undoubtedly would respond promptly with whatever steps might be necessary.

While Congress may be reluctant to pass a good many of the pending bills and several will be left for the January session, much depends on who the president-elect will be. If, for example, Hubert Humphrey is the democratic nominee and wins the election, there would be a tendency for him to work in close co-operation with

Mr. Johnson as well as the Congress. If, on the other hand, a Republican has been elected president along with a Republican majority in one or both Houses of Congress, there would be a disinclination to pass any new legislation until after inauguration day. The Washington Evening Star said in an editorial a few days ago:

"All indications point to the fact that the President wants to end his final term of office with as many legislative and other triumphs as superhumanly possible. Clearly a rump session ought not to be held merely to garner a few more legislative trophies for the LBJ School of Government of Texas University. If, however, they are genuinely 'vital' and immediate measures pending, the rump session should be limited to these."

Never before have there been so many projects under consideration which could have an impact on the economic situation of the country, especially when so many billions of dollars are involved. There probably will be continuing pressure from various groups and organizations to get Congress to act on bills which were put aside prior to the conventions.

It would be at variance with historic custom for an outgoing president to be so active in the closing months of his term in office. But Mr. Johnson may feel that, because he has not been a candidate for re-election, he should have the opportunity to complete his record with the passage of legislation that he deems in the public interest.

newspapers with White House passes. It includes people who work at the White House.

Actually, the "trip file" — of people to be checked out if the President makes a trip to a city where any of them live — is somewhere in the neighborhood of 1,000 names, nationwide.

The truth of the matter is this. After the assassination of President Kennedy, the Secret Service was instructed to multiply its activities. It doubled the number of agents and installed computers. More importantly, the Secret Service, which a few years back depended on what information someone might think of interest, now receives on a systematic basis thousands of reports from the Defense Intelligence Agency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the Department of State, the Post Office Department, the Immigration and Naturalization Service and state and local police departments.

The bits and pieces of raw information — rumors, tips, gossip, lies and truths which it now receives are running at about 20,000 a year. This compares with about 800 bits and pieces of information in 1961, 1962 and 1963.

Now it may be that President Johnson has been threatened more with assassination than previous presidents. But there is no hard evidence to prove or disprove this thesis — when the "threats" are analyzed.

Conspiracy Theory Exploded By FBI in Dr. King Murder Case

WASHINGTON — It now looks as if the FBI has exploded the generally prevalent theory that the murder of Dr. Martin Luther King involved a conspiracy.

The conspiracy theory has long been held, as a result of the large amounts of money spent by James Earl Ray, the suspected killer, and the manner in which he was able to travel around the United States, Canada, and Europe. It was believed his operations would have been impossible without help from other conspirators who were out to murder King.

For instance, Ray rented a safe deposit box in the Birmingham Trust National Bank, August 30 of last year, and suddenly began passing out crisp $20 bills. He paid $499 for dancing lessons. He also paid $395 for mail-order photographic equipment that he didn't know how to operate.

He shelled out money for a bartending course, though he showed no interest in working behind any bar. He also took a course in lockpicking from a correspondence school in Michigan, which cost about $400.

His white Mustang cost $1,995, which he paid for in cash. He drove it from Mexico to Montreal, from Los Angeles to New Orleans, and always seemed to have enough cash.

Occasionally Ray slipped $20 tips to bar girls and prostitutes.

All told, Ray spent an estimated $10,000 in seven months. Yet during this time he never held a job. After the King murder, the suspect went to Canada and then to England where he also seemed to be in the dough. He had plenty of money to spend on clothes and airplane fare.

So the big question was: Where did he get the money? For a long time the FBI toyed with the possibility that Ray was financed by a white supremacy ring. He had boasted to fellow prisoners that he intended to make a big "score" on the outside and that he might try to collect a rumored $1 million bounty that a business group supposedly had offered for death of Dr. King.

Source of Money

Now, however, the FBI has found a robbery where Ray probably got his money. On July 13 the Bank of Alton, Upper Alton, Ill., was robbed of $20,000. Alton is across the Mississippi River from Missouri, and it was from the Missouri State Penitentiary that Ray escaped on April 23, 1967, three months before the July 13 robbery in Alton.

The holdup was pulled off by two robbers who wore stocking masks. Their faces could not be identified. However, the FBI has been checking very carefully, and one of the robbers answers the description of James Earl Ray. He had the same long hair, the same height and the same physical make-up.

At first the FBI was inclined to be skeptical. However, rechecking the Alton bank robbery has convinced them that Ray was involved and that this was where he lived so extravagantly prior to the King murder.

The idea that a group conspired to murder King and paid Ray to do it has now been dropped.

Note 1: The FBI has also traced a British bank robbery to Ray from which he got more money.

Note 2: Arthur J. Hanes, the American lawyer who turned up in London to defend Ray, has been connected with various other cases involving racial violence. He was the attorney defending the Ku Klux Klansmen in the Viola Liuzzo case, has a flair for publicity and it's believed he went to London on his own. There is no evidence that he is being paid by conspirators.

CHE GUEVARA DIARY
Some authorities have questioned the authenticity of the Che Guevara diary which he kept before his death in the Bolivian mountains. We can report that the diary is completely authentic.

Cuban Dictator Fidel Castro got hold of it by purchasing bootleg excerpts from Bolivian officials, then piecing the excerpts together. A few pages were missing from the version which he released to friendly publications around the world, including Ramparts magazine in this country.

Parade magazine's enterprising editor, Jess Gorkin, organized a consortium of publication which sought to purchase the rights to the diary from the Bolivian government. Gorkin sent Andrew St. George, a bring-back-alive correspondent, to Bolivia to translate the diary and research the story behind it.

Actually, some of the other documents captured with Guevara are much more revealing than his diary. He lugged them around the jungle in a waterproof jungle pack and a portable field safe made of special, high-impact plastic.

The papers included the outline of a book Guevara planned to write on the evolution of man's thinking, going back to the ancient Greek philosophers; also an original short story, entitled "Passing the Test," which he wrote in the jungle.

The bloodthirsty guerrilla leader also packed poetry with him to occupy his leisure moments. His favorite poet apparently was Ruben Dario, although some verses appear to have been written by Guevara himself.

He also rated his Cuban officers in a confidential "rating book," which indicates he may have found the characters for his short story among his own guerrilla band. In a typical comment on one officer, Commandante Marcos, Che wrote: "He will not perform at the expected level, he is undisciplined, anti-study and arbitrary."

It would have been better if he had brought his bike and put that on the box. When he came out, the people were gone. There were petals on the floor. Shorty ran outside and saw the last coach pulling away. He tried to yell, but his throat hurt. Shorty ran and ran. The sweat was tickling inside his shirt. His lungs were bursting. As the funeral snaked along a picket fence and turned inside, someone saw him. The cars stopped. Old Lady O'Rourke opened the door and pulled him in. Shorty couldn't speak. He couldn't breathe.

It was sunny and green, and Shorty got his breath and said: "Willy didn't like bicycles, did he?" The old lady looked puzzled. "No," she said. "He never mentioned a bike to me." Shorty bent his head over his miserable flowers. Tears came. Deep sobs shook him. The old lady was lying. Willy would love to ride a bike—just once...

She took him over to the box with the shiny handles. Shorty didn't want to look. He knew what was in it. Then he looked. He felt sickish; too much smell of flowers. The old lady was saying that Willy had a blue heart or a blue

Shorty could see that drop as he knotted the too-long tie. He went back to the bathroom and slicked the hair back again. It glistened wetly and stood up straight. His mother was crying as she wrote a note on how to get to Hillside, New Jersey. She gave him some money, and placed the newspaper-wrapped flowers in his hands. "Be careful," she said. "And come straight home."

On the subway, he studied the note. It was all right. He would have to read it from the bottom up to get home again. A fat lady across the way saw the boy and the bouquet and smiled. Shorty wished he had given Willy that one lousy ride on the bike.

In Newark, he got on the bus. The windows were open and hot air came in. Shorty looked out at strange streets and kids at play. The driver told him when to get off. He walked down a hill and to the right. There was a bungalow with a piece of black on the door.

Shorty went up the stoop with his flowers and inside. Old Lady O'Rourke saw him and grabbed him and cried and he forgot what his mother told him to say.

He got dressed and he kept thinking "Dead," but it was a word just outside the circle of comprehension. Until a year ago, Willy had lived next door with his grandparents: the O'Rourkes. They were janitors. The whole neighborhood around 45th and Tenth knew them as quiet people who cleaned the hall and took the garbage out and ran the dumbwaiterbell every night at six.

Willy never had a mother or father. Nobody ever told him anything. He was quiet in his bigness—almost confident. He played marbles between the curb and the flagstones, knocking down hard when Shorty yelled at him. He never had money for ice cream like the other kids. And he never had a bike like Shorty. He was little for ten. A scrapper. The black hair came down over his forehead like a frond. Shorty came out of the bathroom with a towel on his shoulders and his mother was sitting in a chair and she said gently "Come here." He was disturbed by the way she said it. She folded her arms around him and rocked him against her bosom. "I just heard," she said softly. "Willy Stahl died. He's being buried today."

Shorty didn't move. He couldn't believe. Willy was his best friend that had moved away. Willy was big for ten. He had yellow hair and the kids called him Dutch. His mother talked, but Shorty heard no more words. Willy couldn't die. Dying was like when everything stops. It had happened to Shorty's great-grandfather and he had never seen the old man again.

"Get dressed," his mother said pushing him away. "Put on the blue serge and the good shoes. You want to say goodbye to Willy, don't you?" Shorty didn't know. "I'll get some flowers from the garden," she said. The child was dazed. Willy wouldn't like flowers. Flowers were for girls.

They were janitors. The whole neighborhood around 45th and Tenth knew them as quiet people who cleaned the hall and took the garbage out and ran the dumbwaiterbell every night at six.

Willy never had a mother or father. Nobody ever told him anything. He was quiet in his bigness—almost confident. One, Willy tried to take the bike for a ride and Shorty. Once Willy tried to friend. A drop of blood stood on his lower lip as he gave up the bike.

Exploiting Animals

Editor, The Freeman

The Ulster County SPCA strongly disapproves the current practice of some merchants, of terminating a sale by selling chances on a puppy kitten, pony, burro or any other animal.

The custom may be acceptable legally, but it is certainly contrary to the morals of anyone who has any consideration for animal life. There is no assurance that the animal will be properly cared for, and when the chances are bought by children, very often the parents do not want the animal or the responsibility of taking care for it.

The merchants must be hard-put to have to resort to exploiting animals, there are so many inanimate objects, which are much more suitable for raffles.

Is Peace the Objective?

Kingston, N. Y.

Editor, The Freeman

Last night one of the local radio commentators, speaking about Vietnam, said that the bombing was stopped. In actual fact, bomb tonnage and sorties have increased by about a third. If this commentator (who has claimed to read many magazines and to be well informed) says this, then what can others think?

A news report in The Freeman for May 29 reported that a bluntly worded directive has gone out to all field commanders in South Vietnam telling them to break the current military stalemate and win the war within the next three months (before the August convention). The high casualty rates seem to reflect this order.

Does anyone believe that peace is the objective of the Johnson Administration? Certainly not those who voted for McCarthy or O'Dwyer.

'The Frustrated Voters'

McCarthy, Rocky - Backers

PRINCETON, N. J., July 20—In a year characterized by unusual political trends, one special interest is the strong affinity between followers of Democratic Senator Eugene McCarthy and Republican Governor Nelson Rockefeller, two groups sometimes described as "the frustrated voters."

A third of McCarthy supporters presently indicate that they would vote for Rockefeller over Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

At the same time, a third of Rockefeller backers would vote for McCarthy over Nixon if this contest were to emerge from the nominating conventions.

This analysis is based on the latest nationwide test races that include third party candidate George C. Wallace. These races show McCarthy with a 3-point edge over Nixon and a 2-point edge over Rockefeller. Humphrey currently leads Nixon by 5 points and ties Rockefeller.

McCarthy supporters were selected on the basis of test races between McCarthy, Nixon and Wallace. Rockefeller supporters on the basis of test races between Rockefeller, Humphrey and Wallace.

The following table shows how McCarthy supporters would vote in a contest between Rockefeller, Humphrey and Wallace. The results are based on a combination of the last two national surveys that reached 2,374 registered voters over a period of two weeks.

Vote of McCarthy Backers

Rockefeller	33%
Humphrey	62
Wallace	2
Undecided	3

Here is how Rockefeller supporters vote in a McCarthy-Nixon-Wallace contest:

Vote of Rockefeller Backers

McCarthy	34%
Nixon	59
Wallace	3
Undecided	4

Wallace Vote Is Small

Further evidence of an affinity between McCarthy and Rockefeller followers is the small vote given Wallace by both groups.

Wallace receives the support of about one voter in six for the nation as a whole but among backers of McCarthy or Rockefeller his vote is only 2 and 3 per cent, respectively.

Hope Seen for 'Frustrated Voter'

While most political observers see Nixon and Humphrey far ahead in delegate strength, the "frustrated voter" may gain hope from the fact that dramatic trends can develop in the days prior to and during the political conventions.

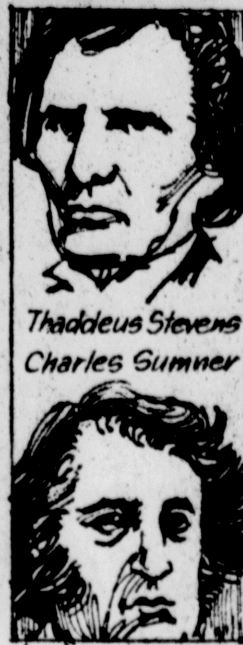

Wendell Wilkie's meteoric rise in popularity in 1940 and his capture of the GOP nomination that year was one of those times.

As late as March, 1940, nationwide Gallup surveys conducted among Republican voters in all parts of the United States, found less than one per cent naming Wilkie as their choice for the nomination. The GOP nominee was scarcely known at all in the West and Midwest, the surveys indicated.

Then, according to successive Gallup surveys, began a Wilkie trend that gathered momentum with the passing weeks until the actual moment of the nomination.

In the final pre-convention survey, Wilkie won the vote of 44 per cent of the GOP rank-and-file, to 29 per cent for Thomas E. Dewey and 13 per cent for Robert A. Taft.

THE LAST AMERICAN

13 Binding the Wounds

I had fondly dreamed that when any fortunate chance should have broken up for a while the foundation of our institution (we would have) . . . freed them of every vestige of human oppression, of inequality of rights.

—Thaddeus Stevens

The end of the Civil War found the South in ruins, its economy shattered, its cities devastated, its countryside laid waste—and with more than four million destitute former slaves.

In March 1865, the Freedman's Bureau was established, the first attempt by the government to directly aid the Negro.

Food distributed by the bureau saved thousands of Negroes—and whites—from starvation. The bureau resettled displaced persons, protected Negro workers and set up hospitals and schools, including universities like Howard and Fisk and Hampton Institute. Forerunners of the freedom riders of the 1960s came from the North to assist in teaching Negroes the basic rudiments of education and culture.

The much-maligned "Radical Republicans" had opposed the martyred Lincoln's lenient policies toward the South. Now under President Andrew Johnson, they saw their civil rights bills vetoed and ex-Confederate generals and politicians regaining power in Congress and the state legislatures. Legally, by means of restrictive "Black Codes," or illegally, by means of terror tactics, the slavocracy was restoring in peace what it had lost in war.

The radicals, led by Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania in the House and Charles Sumner of Massachusetts in the Senate, seized the reins of government, although they failed in an attempt to impeach Johnson in 1868. The South was divided into military districts and occupied by Union troops. The franchise was extended to Negroes and poor whites and denied to unregenerate rebels.

Stevens, a fervent believer in the words of the Declaration of Independence, realized that only by giving the freedmen land could they attain true freedom and equality. The cry was "40 acres and a mule." It was not to be, and it was this failure to institute thoroughgoing economic reform that ultimately doomed Reconstruction. Both the Negro and the poor white slowly drifted into a new kind of bondage called sharecropping.

In the meantime, however, the Negro was making stunning progress on the political front. For 10 years, between 1866 and 1876, black power was a fact.

Revolt by Rabid Mc Carthy
Delegates Feared by HHH

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA) — It is supposed to be something of a put-down for Vice President Humphrey that President Johnson seems to be stage-managing the 1968 Democratic national convention as he did the 1964 affair at Atlantic City.

Actually, the vice president's strategists are far more concerned over a put-down of another sort — how to put down an incipient rebellion at Chicago by the most militant of Sen. Eugene McCarthy's chosen convention delegates.

Humphrey men estimate that upward of 200 of the senator's committed delegates probably will be in noisy revolt throughout the convention and very likely will walk out under the glaring eye of glib television.

As one aide puts it: "These people are going to look upon Chicago simply as a place to demonstrate against the war."

The Humphrey camp's fears of a seriously disrupted convention thus are very real, and are not assuaged by triple-perimeter ticket checks to prevent packing of the hall — or provisions for a tight security seal to block any storming of the doors as some hotheads are calling for.

There is obviously no way to bar the doors to legitimately chosen McCarthy delegates obsessed with extreme dovish views on Vietnam and determined to condemn as undemocratic any convention that does not nominate McCarthy.

Humphrey leaders think they saw the shape of things to come in the Minnesota convention a few weeks ago.

A delegate who had been sharply criticized by McCarthyites in the hall stood up to answer on a point of personal privilege. A cluster of McCarthy delegates, loudly chanting, "We Want Peace!" from the convention floor, drowned him out for several minutes. He gave up.

"It was the first time in my memory," says a Minnesota Democrat, "that a delegate was not permitted to speak."

Curiously, not one of the many Humphrey men who voiced fears of a disrupted convention spoke of racial militants as a likely focus of trouble inside Chicago's International Amphitheater. The whole stress was on the peace types.

So it is these militants on the delegate rosters, rather than any gallery shouters or swirling demonstrators outside, who are believed to hold the potential for trouble. And there seems to be little confidence that the permanent convention chairman, Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma, or anybody else can contain it altogether.

Humphrey's managers are careful, however, to distinguish the no-compromise McCarthyites, whom they consider relatively few in number, from the larger bulk of McCarthy supporters.

These latter, where they are delegates to Chicago, are expected to press hard but reasonably for their candidate's nomination and to contend heatedly but fairly for a strong antiwar plank in the Democratic platform.

But they are also expected to accept the convention verdict on both these matters and to support the party choices of man and platform in the fall campaign.

The militants, on the other hand, are considered already lost to the cause of the front running vice president and as virtually sure to launch a fourth party once they have done their disruptive best at Chicago.

China Suffers Summer of Torment

By MARK GAYN

Chicago Daily News Foreign Service

HONG KONG—China is in the midst of her own long, hot summer of torment — with violence reported from every corner of the nation.

The range of this violence runs all the way from the murder of bus drivers belonging to the wrong faction to sizable battles in which the military are said to have employed artillery and napalm to drive out "revolutionary rebels."

In Shanghai, according to the latest issue of its leading newspaper, Wen-Hui Pao, grave trouble has been produced by "black elements" opposed to the dispatch of urban youngsters to frontier areas or to the countryside.

It seems likely that these "black elements" include the youngsters who in the chaos of the last year managed to return to their homes from the remote and forbidding frontier areas to which they had been shipped prior to 1966. According to Premier Chou En-Lai, large numbers of youths had been sent from Shanghai to Sinkiang, in China's far west, "because it is better to have there bourgeois youths there than in Shanghai."

This summer, an effort is being made to send them back to the desolate region and both they and their parents have been objecting strenuously.

According to Wen-Hui Pao, these people "made trouble under all excuses and even assembled bandits to assault those (youths) who were prepared to return to where they had worked. Some others provoked fighting and attacked railway stations and piers. Still some others, waving the flag of rebellion, assaulted cadres of residents' committees and engaged in beating people, smashing things and looting, thus seriously disrupting law and order."

As a result, the so-called "civil offense, armed defense command" in the Shanghai municipality—a force of revolutionary vigilantes—has been ordered into action. Its "dragnet" is said to have caught "these culprits who had committed many crimes."

The roundup is said to have been welcomed by the "broad revolutionary masses," who included the youngsters who had slipped back to Shanghai from their posts in the border regions as well as their "revolutionary kinsmen." All these are reported to have cried: "This revolutionary action is very fine."

According to Red Guard periodicals, the napalm and artillery were used by the army and militia in Kwangsi Province to drive out radical Red Guards known as the Kwangsi April 22 Grand Army. Following the pitched battles that destroyed much of the large city of Wuchow, the Red Guards fled to Canton, bringing their arms along with them.

Gen. Wei Kuo-Ching, the military boss of Kwangsi, is now said to have sent a force of 600 vigilantes to Canton to nab the escaped "Red Guards." This army of pursuit has been joined by the "Workers Militia Detachment Canton District General Headquarters," which wants the men of the "Kwangsi April 22" to leave the province.

Armed and desperate, the Kwangsi April 22 column has become a roving force determined to make revolution outside of its native province and has now become involved in the factional battles in Canton.

To make things still more complex, the Canton Workers Militia Detachment is also a force of armed malcontents at odds with the army command in Canton. And if this were not bad enough, a large delegation sent to Peking by the Kwangsi April 22 to complain and plead for succor found itself probably to its own surprise, welcomed by Chairman Mao Tse-Tung's inner circle. At the moment, it is the only out-of-town band in Peking being fed and housed at state expense.

As for the busmen's trouble, it finds the so-called "615 Headquarters" engaged in battle with a rival union faction known as "The Red Flag Headquarters of Kung-Kelien."

Hudson Conservation Leader Resigns Post

New York — William H. Osborn resigned Thursday as president of the Hudson River Conservation Society.

Osborn gave as his reason for resigning the presidency of the organization which was founded by his father, William Church Osborn, in 1936, as pressure from other activities which prevent devoting enough of his time to the affairs of the Society.

"There are many issues affecting the Hudson River and there are more to come, Osborn said. Therefore, I step down as president so a younger man may assume the energetic leadership the Society deserves. I will remain as a director, Osborn stated."

The board accepted his resignation with regret. A nominating committee, headed by Dudley Martin, one of the directors, was named to select a new presidential nominee. Carl Carmer, the author and senior vice president, will act in Osborn's place until a new president is selected by the membership of 480. Others on the nominating committee are E.P. Prentice Jr., Charles Bannerman and Peter Foshburgh.

Results of the referendum of Society members on the twin questions of locating the Hudson Expressway along the river from Croton to Tarrytown and on the proposal of damming the Upper Hudson as proposed by the state are as follows:

With 52 per cent (256) of the membership casting ballots the vote on the river location of the Expressway was 231 against and 25 for. The vote on the proposal to dam the Upper Hudson was 249 against and 7 for.

The referendum was ordered at the annual meeting held June 25.

The resignation of E.K. Hine of Garrison, a director, also was accepted with regret. He is moving to Florida.

Manhunt Ends In Capture at Warwick Resort

WARWICK, N.Y. (AP) — A man wanted in connection with the burglary of more than 20 homes near here has been seized at a resort area, climaxing a two-week manhunt by about 50 state policemen.

Police went through a row of summer cottages Saturday night and flushed out a man they identified as George Wentwood, 29, of Newton, N.J. Troopers from the Monroe barracks said they spotted Wentwood walk out the back door of a Cascade Road lodge owned by Ray Victor.

Wentwood, carrying a hunting rifle, fled into heavy brush, police said. They circled the fugitive and subdued him after a scuffle during which the rifle was discharged, troopers said. No one was injured.

Police said they found a loaded shotgun, two other rifles, two revolvers, five hunting knives and hundreds of rounds of ammunition hidden in nearby boulders.

Wentwood was arraigned before town Judge Thomas Telleur on charges of grand larceny, burglary and parole violation. He was held in $100,000 bail in the Orange County jail.

Ulster Ready to Unveil Specifications for Sewer

Town of Ulster will unveil specifications, costs and other details of its proposed $4,528,000 sewer project estimated to service 1,580 families within a four-mile area of the township at an informational meeting Thursday, July 25 at 8 p.m. in Lake Katrine Grange Hall.

The Ulster Town Board will attempt to set a date for a public hearing on the Ulster Sewer Improvement Area project at this time.

According to specifications drawn by J. Kenneth Fraser and Associates, consulting engineers of Rensselaer, the cost based on an estimated total assessed valuation of $7,200,000 by the time of the first year of operation will be $34.85 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The target date for full operation is 1970.

Breakdown of the $4,528,000 includes collection system cost of $3,584,000 and treatment plant $944,000 with $1,569,000 of this amount eligible for state and federal aid, or 34.6 per cent of the total project.

Along Esopus Creek

The proposed treatment facility would be located on a 10-acre plot to be acquired along the Esopus Creek in the area approximately 400 feet south of the Kingston by-pass.

The treatment plant would be constructed in stages, with the first stage to be constructed immediately and having a capacity of 85 million gallons daily. Treatment facilities would include grit removal, primary settling, high rate filtration through the use of trickling filters, secondary settling, disinfection of plant effluent prior to discharge to the Esopus Creek and the disposal of sludge through the use of sludge digesters and sludge drying beds.

The proposed improvement area embraces approximately 3.94 square miles and is generally bounded on the north by Leggs Mills Road, on the east by the natural drainage divide running generally parallel to and to the east of Route 9W, on the south by the city line and on the west by Esopus Creek.

The population to be served within the proposed improvement area was approximately 4,600 persons in 1965 and is estimated to be 5,400 in 1970; 7,085 in 1980; 10,440 in 2000, and 13,800 in 2020.

The project includes installation of about 134,000 feet of gravity sewers, 8 through 21 inches in size; construction of a .85 million gallons per day primary and secondary treatment plant; two sewage pumping stations, one for Orlando Street area and another for a portion of Parish Lane.

The consulting engineer's survey shows that the annual expense for proper operation and maintenance of the sewerage system is estimated at about $33,000 annually. It is assumed that the project will be financed with 40-year general obligation serial bonds having an average annual interest rate of 5 per cent.

The estimated total assessed valuation within the proposed improvement area as of December 1967 was $6,788,600. Based upon the growth within the area within recent years, it is anticipated that an annual growth rate of about $200,000 of assessed valuation per year will result in a total of $7,200,000 by the first year of operation 1970.

Depends on Aid

The actual annual cost per taxpayer will depend largely on family. The average residential property owner having an assessed valuation of about $1,650 will pay a total of $74.32 per year for sewer service in 1970.

The engineering firm recommends that application for both state and federal aid should be made for construction grants during the period awaiting legal establishment and approval of the state comptroller.

Suggests Positive Steps

Fraser and Associates also suggested that the township take positive steps to insure the availability for purchase of a site for the proposed sewage treatment plant and to include sufficient land for access and for future expansions.

Town Supervisor Thaddeus Musialkiewicz announced this week that he had filed a map of the proposed Ulster Sewer Improvement Area and report of full specifications with the town clerk.

Dr. Link Lists Ways to Beat Summer Heat

Dr. Vernon B. Link, Ulster County Commissioner of Health, has released some timely hints from the New York City Department of Health and the New York Heart Association on "How to Beat the Heat":

Take it easy. Physical activity places an extra burden on your heart—it has to pump extra blood to your muscles and work harder to cool your body down.

Eat light, cool, small meals often instead of a few large meals. Cut down on meat and fish because these and other protein foods tend to increase your body's temperature by raising metabolism.

Drink three to four extra glasses of water a day to replace the fluid lost through perspiration. Cool drinks help lower body temperature because body heat is used to warm the liquid to the temperature of your stomach. Drink iced drinks slowly.

Sprinkle an extra bit of salt on your food to replace that lost through perspiration.

Wear light-colored, loosely woven and loose-fitting clothing and absorbent undergarments. Dr. Donald J. Conwell, assistant health commissioner for New York, recommends shifts and A-line skirts for women and no jacket and open collar for men.

Dr. Conwell advises mothers not to worry if their children have no appetite. He suggests that this is a perfect time for a change in the family's diet.

Fresh fruit, leafy salads, and cold cuts come highly recommended because they are light, cool, and watery.

The New York Heart Association emphasizes that your comfort is only one reason why you should make every effort to keep cool. Summer heat places an extra workload on the heart because it has to pump blood faster to cool it down.

Many Memories In Old Heidelberg

HEIDELBERG, Germany (UPI)—Students may no longer proudly display dueling scars or spend nights drinking and singing but the visitor still can recapture some of the spirit of "The Student Prince" days of Old Heidelberg.

Head first for the Old University on Hauptstrasse in the old quarter of town and the picturesque student jail. Here, from 1788 to 1912, students guilty of minor infractions of university regulations or town laws were incarcerated on bread and water, sometimes for weeks.

There are five "cells" in the prison on the third floor in a wing of the university, which was founded in 1386 and was famous throughout Europe long before Sigmund Romberg wrote his operetta.

The windows are barred and there is an iron gate blocking the single stairway leading to the lower floors. Each room is still furnished with two iron cots, two hard chairs and a wooden table as in days of old.

Other mementoes were left by the countless student-prisoners—walls, ceilings, tables, chairs and stairwell are covered with names, dates, cartoons, poems and other amusing graffiti. There are writings in German and other languages, including English. Foreign youths, among them Americans, studied and sowed some of their wild oats in this town in southwestern Germany over the years.

Doors Covered
The doors of the rooms also are covered with small photographs of former "inmates," wearing the small peaked, striped student cap and big grins, and inscribed with their names and dates. A few of the names may seem familiar—students who went on to become famous in various fields.

If you run out of film or flash bulbs, you can purchase colored picture cards of the student art work from the caretaker's daughter who has her desk on the second floor. She speaks some English.

There is not much more to see higher in the Old University or the adjoining New University building, built in 1931 with American contributions. But you should find time to visit the great library with its priceless collections of manuscripts dating back hundreds of years. Also interesting may be the student bulletin boards—they were covered with anti-Vietnam war posters during our visit as guest of the German National Tourist Office and Lufthansa.

It is only a short walk to other historical sites in the Old Town on the Neckar River, 10 miles southeast of Mannheim. There are the 15th century Protestant churches of the Holy Ghost and St. Peter, and the Roman Catholic Jesuit church, built in the 18th century. The altars, stained glass windows and statuary are worth seeing.

Also outstanding are the Zum Ritter House, an elaborately decorated example of Renaissance architecture, built in 1592 and now a hotel; the sprawling double-winged Marstall, stables and arsenal of the prince electors dating back to the early 1500s; and the Karl-Theodor Bridge with its twin gate towers constructed across the river in 1786.

You can take the funicular to another of Old Heidelberg's famous landmarks—the Schloss (castle) about 350 steep feet up the side of the Koenigstuhl overlooking the town and the river.

The castle was once the palatial residence of the prince electors. It was begun in the 13th century and finished in the 17th century, barely in time to be twice destroyed by the armies of King Louis XIV in the late 1600s. In 1764, it was destroyed again—this time by a lightning bolt and fire.

It was partially restored once more around the turn of the 20th century. But much of the sprawling reddish-rock castle was left in ruins. Still standing are an eight-sided bell tower, an intricately decorated arched gateway and a fountain with several columns said to have come from one of Charles

Hubert One Way on Viet; Claims No Private Doubts

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The authorized campaign biography of Hubert H. Humphrey, due out this week, repeats the contention that the vice president's private feelings about the war in Vietnam match his public pronouncements.

The book, entitled "A Man for All People," was written by Ralph Martin and will be released in Washington Wednesday. A copy will be sent to each delegation to the Democratic National Convention.

In one part of the book, Humphrey deals with recurrent doubts that his support of the Johnson administration's Vietnam war policy isn't as enthusiastic in private as it is in public.

"Muriel (Mrs. Humphrey) always called me the happy warrior," the vice president says in the book. "She says I'm happy because there's no conflict between my private views and my public views."

The major portion of the heavily illustrated book, composed of captions in Humphrey's words, deals with events in the past and present, including the problems of being a vice president.

"The vice presidency is a job with sobering responsibility and very little authority," says Humphrey. "I don't recommend it to everybody. When I first became vice president, I was warned that my relationship with the President would deteriorate within six months to a year, according to the standard pattern of history. Well, we fooled them."

"President Johnson and I have been friends for 20 years. He knows me well enough to expect loyalty but not mimicry. This has been my standard," Humphrey says.

On Vietnam Humphrey says, "Nobody wants to see the war in Vietnam come to an end any quicker than I do so that we can bring our boys back home. What I'd really like to see in Vietnam is a cease-fire so that we can have peace while we talk peace."

The book includes pictures of Humphrey with his chief opponent for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, a fellow Minnesotan.

Humphrey recalls how McCarthy had supported him in his past campaigns including his abortive attempt for the vice presidency in 1956—a year that Humphrey thought Adlai Stevenson would make him his running mate.

Back in 1956, Humphrey says, he had a meeting with Stevenson in Washington "and I understood that if I could drum up strong support, that he could pick me at the convention to be his running mate."

However at the last minute the late Sen. Estes Kefauver's strength at the convention forced Stevenson to let the delegates choose the No. 2 man, to Humphrey's deep disappointment.

G. I.'s Money Is Returned in New Car Racket

ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz said Sunday his office arranged for refunds for 16 servicemen who deposited down payments for cars that were never delivered to them.

Lefkowitz said a European representative of World Wide Military Sales Corp. of Levittown took deposits from U. S.

servicemen for new cars to be "waiting" in New York City when the soldiers returned to the states.

The cars failed to materialize, the attorney general said, and in some cases the company, a Florida corporation authorized to do business in New York State, asked for additional down payments.

The Consumer Frauds Bureau

subpoenaed officers of the company and the attorney general's office negotiated refunds of approximately $4,000 for the 16 soldiers.

Decision by Czechs Gives Moscow Option

Sometime in the course of the week there may be a turning point in the history of the Communist world and Eastern Europe, Moscow observers report. As a result of Czechoslovakia's firm decision to go its own unconventional way towards what it still calls Communism, the following options remain open to Moscow and its four faithful allies:

—A face saving agreement which would involve removal of some Czech medium level leaders, an appeal to the communications media to exercise voluntary restraint in criticizing Soviet Communism and a moratorium on publicizing some of the misdeeds of the past.

—Invocation by the Soviet Union of economic sanctions which could slow down the country's economic development for several years.

—Armed intervention which would be applied only if the Russians despair and give up all hopes of compromise.

Although anything can happen, the chances are that, despite the tough language, both sides will play for time and try to avoid a collision.

Theater Company Does Something New

SPRING GREEN, Wis. (AP) — For what may be the first time in the nation, a professional metropolitan theater company—the Milwaukee Repertory Theater—has cast its lot for the summer with a small community.

And the audience of local farmers and merchants, who turned out in their Sunday best during the opening week at the Robert E. Gard Theater here, appeared, after a startled pause, to love the initial production.

Wisconsin theater pioneer, Robert E. Gard, after whom the theater is named, said: "Our intention in these experiments has always been to furnish artistically fine events in communities to expand the horizons of the citizens."

What can be seen in and around Spring Green this summer, however, Gard said, is not meant to be a "mere banquet of plays and the allied arts."

Sincere Attempt
"You will see a sincere attempt by hundreds of persons, both professional and volunteer, to root the arts in an area—in southwestern Wisconsin."

The MRT has opened its six-week summer season—June 19 to July 28—in conjunction with a project called "Arts in the Uplands," which is designed to bring together many facets of the arts to a rural area of the state.

The Uplands program includes, in addition to MRT's repertory, classes and workshops for scholarship students chosen from throughout the state and adult students from the Uplands area. These career-oriented students are studying theater, opera, ballet, oil and acrylic painting, water color, pottery, and life drawing.

Gard says he hopes this summer's experiment will become a standard to be followed by other regions of the country.

MRT, whose summer season is funded by the University Extension, is presenting in alternating repertory, "Mary Stuart" by the 18th century playwright Friedrich von Schiller, "Amphitryon 38" by Jean Giraudoux, a contemporary French playwright, and Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire."

The MRT company contributed about 30 actors, staff and technicians, plus 10 scholarship students, to Spring Green's official population of 1,142. Located about 100 miles west of Milwaukee among the rich green hills of the Uplands near the Wisconsin River, Spring Green was prepared for its summer visitors.

May Be Turning Point
Charles McCallum, MRT managing director, said: "If the desired fusion takes place among the MRT company, the Arts in the Uplands program and public interest, the summer of 1968 may well emerge as a turning point not only for us, but for the future of the art of theater in Wisconsin. The opportunity of having a summer home would enable MRT to keep its company working together practically on a permanent, year-round basis. And this may prove to be one of the initial steps toward the Wisconsin State Theater concept."

The Town of Ulster is recommending to the special committee on the Lower Esopus Creek of the Ulster County Legislature that a joint meeting be planned to discuss problems of the Lower Esopus Waterways.

The board suggests that officials of all the towns bordering the Esopus be in attendance as well as city and county officials and representatives of the state and U. S. Corps of Engineers.

It was further suggested that pictures of the condition of the creek by shown by the Lower Esopus Creek Citizens Committee.

Will Teach Negro History to All School Children

By THOMAS CORPORA

NEW YORK (UPI)—Matt Henson was one of those rollicking, romantic heroes of American history who went to the North Pole with Commander Peary on a bet and became the first man to stand atop the world.

The bet was that a Negro—as Matthew Henson was—could not reach the pole and return with all his fingers and toes intact. He did and won the $100 wager, twice saving the life of Robert Peary, leader of the first expedition to reach the North Pole, in the process.

Most school children in the United States know that Peary led the expedition, but the fact that his companion (Henson) was a black man is often glossed over in standard textbooks.

And most children old enough to watch television or go to the movies know that Geronimo was an Apache chief who terrorized the southwest until finally subdued by valiant U.S. Cavalry. How many know they were Negro cavalry?

Not many. But now the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) has a program with the goal of teaching every American school child—black and white—about the role of the Negro in U.S. history.

The key to the program is the "integrated" or "multiracial" textbook.

"White racism is reflected at its worst in the textbooks and the curriculum of American public schools," said June Shagalloff, the national education director of the NAACP. She said most textbooks give a "distorted and stereotyped" picture of the Negro and ignore his contributions to American history.

During the past three or four years, most major textbook companies have begun to publish new books which point up the Negro role in American life.

The NAACP, for its part, has compiled a list of 399 "multiracial" texts on the pre-school and elementary school levels with evaluations of each one. It is also compiling a bibliography of secondary and college textbooks for use by local educators and students who are trying to get school districts and colleges to buy the books and include them in their curriculum.

History texts note that Negroes were among the first settlers in America, that Crispus Attucks, a Negro, died on Boston Common in the first battle of the Revolutionary War, that Charles Drew, another black man, was instrumental in developing the bloodbank.

An there are books which deal entirely with the Negro in the United States, such as the Pitman Publisher Corp.'s "Eyewitness: the Negro in American History," a book that tells of the Negro's contributions to all periods of U.S. history and then gives eyewitness accounts written by the principals.

There are social studies books such as Holt, Rinehart and Winston's "Five Friends at School," which tells the story of no relationship to his own life, two Negro children, two white children and a Puerto Rican from the suburbs how Negroes live in a low-income housing project in New York City.

According to Miss Shagalloff, this book and others like it present the Negro child a picture he can identify with and give them something to "shoot for."

But having the books available is one thing and getting them into the classroom is another.

"Some officials and districts have been extremely responsive," said Miss Shagalloff, "but the vast majority are still dragging their feet."

She said after Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., was assassinated the NAACP decided to accelerate its efforts to get the new textbooks into school systems in the north and south.

She said NAACP branches throughout the country had been directed to assure that federal aid to education money and state and local money be used to buy "multiracial" textbooks.

Detroit Cops Waging Uphill Battle for Peace in Ghetto

By JUSTIN BAVARSKIS
And MICHAEL J. CONLON

DETROIT (UPI) — A few weeks ago Howard King, a Negro, was pulled from his car and beaten. He said the police did it.

It was not a new charge. Three years ago he was also beaten, his hand broken, and a glass opened above his eye. He said the police did it then, too.

This time, police said they tried to sell tickets to a policeman's ball to King. They said he became offensive. King claims he has been harassed by the police ever since the first beating.

Cases such as this, scores of them, clutter the desk of Insp. Charles E. Heffernan. He heads the Citizens Complaint Bureau of the Detroit Police Department.

Complaints Increase

There were many complaints against the police before the devastating race riots that exploded in Detroit a year ago on July 23, 1967, and continued for a week of shooting, looting and burning. At least 43 persons died and property damage topped $200 million before police, troops and National Guardsmen restored order. It was the nation's most terrible race rioting.

The complaints against Detroit's police have not stopped since that July a year ago. They have multiplied. Here lies at least one of the answers to the question whether things have improved in Detroit since last year. It may be the most important answer.

The President's National Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders (the Kerner Commission) investigated the causes of Detroit's and the nation's disturbances for six months. It concluded that a community's dissatisfaction with police practices is a major cause of riots. Insp. Heffernan is aware of this. So is Al Dunmore, former editor of the Michigan Chronicle, a weekly Negro newspaper published in Detroit. Dunmore says of the present atmosphere in the city:

"Police-community relations are really as far apart as they have ever been apart. The black community is really on edge, and the tension is great; but there is also a wait and see attitude as to how the new police commissioner will act. (Detroit's present commissioner, Ray Girardin, is retiring.) A great deal of the kind of summer we will have will depend on the ability of the new commissioner to establish a new image as far as law and order are concerned, with equal justice."

Hire More Negroes

The Kerner Commission called for massive changes in police practices. It suggested removing officers with bad reputations, poor records or insufficient training from the ghettos, replacing them with experienced men. Detroit has not done this, according to Insp. Heffernan. It still sends rookie cops to the ghettos.

But Detroit has begun to implement one of the recommendations of the Kerner Commission. It has started a sustained drive to hire more Negro policemen. The graduating class of July 8 had 17 Negroes, 17 whites. Heretofore, the ratio has been one-third Negro.

"In the future," said Robert Tindall, executive secretary of the NAACP in Detroit, "the classes will be two-thirds Negro until we have exhausted the openings. We've worked out this program with the mayor (Jerome P. Cavanagh)."

In addition, on July 8 Albert Evans, a Negro, was appointed inspector in charge of the 10th precinct. Many persons were allegedly beaten at this precinct during the 1967 riot.

Another Negro inspector, Jim Clark, was put in charge of the 5th Precinct, also in the inner city, on the East Side.

Insp. Heffernan's job at the Citizens Complaint Bureau, made gravely more difficult by the rioting, is said to have been made even more difficult this summer by the heavy sale in Detroit of a paperback book on the "Algiers Motel Incident," by John Hersey.

Motel Deaths

It tells of the case in which three young Negro men died, allegedly at the hands of police and National Guardsmen. Heffernan said the Algiers case is the most emotion ridden, difficult problem his bureau ever has had to handle. It is still hanging in the courts.

Before dawn on July 26, 1967, National Guard Warrant Officer Theodore J. Thomas heard what Hersey indicates were a few shots from a blank starter's pistol coming from the Algiers Motel. He reported he was under fire. Police and National Guard units rushed to the scene.

When they left, three Negro youths, Aubrey Pollard, Carl Cooper, and Fred Temple, were dead.

Patrolman Ronald August was charged with first degree murder in the death of Pollard and charged with first degree murder in the death of Temple. August's case came up for trial July 8, and was adjourned until Jan. 6. Pille's case was dismissed.

Rene Freeman, of the West Central Organization, a Negro group, said: "The Algiers Motel brings everything that we're up against home. It allows very little latitude for expecting to be dealt with or to deal with whites in any kind of sincere way at any level."

Veto Storefronts

Mayor Cavanagh tried to set up a store front concept in Detroit, where police could help out citizens in the inner city with any problems that came to them, or direct them to the agency that could provide assistance. "We already had the spots picked out," says Heffernan.

The Common Council overrode Cavanagh's veto of its budget cuts, wiping out the store front idea.

State Demo Choice: Peace or Disaster

By KIRTLAND I. KING

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)— New York Democrats face political disaster unless they can get together before the November elections.

The powerful organization has been slipping for the past 10 or 12 years because of feuding among local leaders. And now a new problem has come up with supporters of Sen. Eugene McCarthy breaking with old line regulars.

State Chairman John Burns, who took over the state committee with the backing of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, has a king-size headache trying to maintain peace. No matter what Burns does he just can't seem to satisfy both the McCarthy men and the "regulars."

"Unless we can restore harmony before November, our future will be hopeless," one influential leader said. "You can't win elections with an organization disrupted by bickering."

Had Top Power

Once the Democrats held top power bases—the governor's office, New York City Hall, several upstate cities and federal offices. At one time they had both houses of the state legislature.

First the governor's office fell, then "City Hall" and the State Senate. All they have left from

Cottetkill

COTTEKILL — Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy were given a surprise anniversary party by their friends and relatives on Sunday, July 14. Attending the party were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy and family, and Mrs. Rosemary Murphy, all of Hobart; Rosemary, Debby, Lorie, Lisa, and Amy Hillis of South Kortright; Mr. and Mrs. Frances Vermilyea of Oneonta; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Truax of Oneonta; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fitzgerald of High Falls; and Donna Truax of Oneonta.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lutz of Paramus, N.J., spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Oscar Beach.

Mrs. Katherine Winchell of Lake Mohank, spent a day with Mrs. Arthur DePuy.

Mr. and Mrs. William Perelli of East Northport, L.I., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Osterhoudt. They were accompanied by their two daughters, Lori Ann and Lisa Ann.

a patronage standpoint is the State Assembly, a few upstate areas and the state comptroller's office.

Continued control of the comptroller's office is due to the personal strength of Arthur Levitt. Levitt has been re-elected year after year despite Republican sweeps and has been the only statewide Democratic officeholder during Republican Governor Rockefeller's three administrations.

The open break now between McCarthy men and those backing Vice President Hubert Humphrey is going to make it difficult for Democrats to maintain a majority in the Assembly. This is the view of veteran party leaders.

Just how far the McCarthy backers will go is a matter of speculation. Some insist they will bolt the party in November if Humphrey is the nominee. The list includes Paul O'Dwyer, the Democratic U.S. senatorial candidate.

O'Dwyer's stiff opposition to the vice president has given Burns and other top leaders a serious problem. Should the Senate candidate go through with his threat, the leaders are wondering how they will be able to back O'Dwyer against Sen. Jacob K. Javits, Republican incumbent.

"What will we do?" one asked. "We certainly can't ignore the national ticket or run separate campaigns."

Some big and powerful party leaders have jumped on the McCarthy campaign. Eugene Nickerson, Nassau County Executive, and Percy Sutton, Manhattan Borough President, are a couple.

Close to Kennedy

Nickerson and Sutton were close to Kennedy and the late senator personally persuaded the Nassau leader to seek the Democratic senatorial nomination earlier this year. Nickerson was beaten by O'Dwyer in the primary.

Some leaders are unable to understand the switch of Kennedy men to McCarthy. They argue the Minnesota senator was prepared to go all-out after Kennedy in the New York primary. Their arguments are based on McCarthy's primary campaign expenses just filed with the New York secretary of state. The total was around $1 million.

"What other reason would he (McCarthy) have had in committing so much money to the New York primaries?" an upstate leader asked.

DICK LANDY'S DODGE CHARGER

Drag Racing Star Landy To Hold Safety Clinic

Drag Racing super star Dick Landy, whose 1967 campaign for a "Return to Stock Car Drag Racing" proved so successful last year, will hold a Safety Performance clinic at DeMico Motors in Kingston on Thursday, July 25 from 7-10 p. m.

Landy, along with his mechanics and pit crew, will show slides and movies on Drag Racing techniques as well as displaying two of the super stock Dodges that make up his nationally famous racing "stable."

More Than 70 Clinics

Last year, Landy conducted more than 70 Safety Performance clinics in 29 states, and played to an audience of over 50,000 racing enthusiasts. This year, he will hold over 100 clinics and a substantial increase in attendance is expected.

Included in the sessions are safety measures for drag race cars, tuning tips, slides and movies, and a thorough presentation by Landy on how he prepares and races his cars.

The Safety Performance clinics have been lauded by all sanctioning and law enforcement groups as a big move to return drag racing to the amateur. In addition, they are helping to encourage the youthful racing enthusiast to display his mechanical and speed talents in safe, sane and organized drag racing.

Commenting on the Safety Performance clinics, Landy said, "While we had some people who doubted whether the idea of 'stock' would go, I think the reaction last year has proved our point. The idea of achieving faster and faster speeds will continue, but the exotic car is out of reach of the average person."

Kripplebush

A large number of people attended the carnival held at the firehouse recently.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schwartz are on vacation. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert A. Davis of Erie, Penn., have returned home after visiting in this area.

The annual Labor Day Bazaar will be held with lunches served. Further details will be made later.

Church services will be held every Sunday at 9 a. m. with the Rev. Randall as pastor.

The Museum is open every Sunday afternoon from 2 until 4 p. m.

The "Thimble Club" held its weekly meeting at the home of Mary Lukena, with Mrs. Warren Cole serving as co-hostess.

If there is still a time and a place to organize an effective stop-Nixon movement, the time is now and the place is Cincinnati.

The nation's governors are holding their annual conference in Cincinnati this week for their formal talks about state issues and their informal talks about politics. Political talk is common at all governors' conferences, but is more noisy in presidential election years.

This 1968 conference opens just two weeks before the Republican National Convention meets at Miami Beach, Fla., to write a platform and nominate a candidate for the White House. Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the 1960 ballot winner of the nomination.

Two Members

Munoz Rivera Day Proclaimed By Rockefeller

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—Governor Rockefeller has proclaimed Sunday as Luis Munoz Rivera Day in honor of the Puerto Rican statesman, writer and poet who led the fight to win American citizenship for his people.

The law granting Puerto Ricans citizenship was enacted in 1917, a year after Munoz Rivera died.

Rockefeller, in his proclamation, said a "magnificent example" of Puerto Ricans' contribution to the state's economy and culture was their community development project in New York City. He said the project, composed of 100 Puerto Rican organizations working with both governmental and private funds, is putting most of its effort now into education and jobs.

See Nixon As Chief Topic At Governor's Conference

active potential rival, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California, is another member.

There is nothing to indicate that governors opposing Nixon's nomination will have any more success in blocking him than those who scurried around a Cleveland hotel four years ago searching for a way to keep the 1964 nomination from Barry M. Goldwater.

The 1964 governors who opposed Goldwater met once or twice a day in a floundering search for an alternative candidate or a way for the Republicans to win.

Nixon met with the governors and suggested the convention should have a choice. He suggested that Gov. George Romney be a candidate. Romney thought about it for a couple of hours and decided that he did not want to be the cat. But after the conference ended, then Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania went to Baltimore and embarked on his futile quest for the nomination.

After 1964, there was much talk about the governors uniting behind a presidential candidate for 1968. There was never any realistic chance that this unity could be achieved.

Romney became a candidate and quit before his first presidential primary confrontation with Nixon. Rockefeller became a candidate too late to enter primaries.

Before the conference, a UPI survey showed seven governors backing Rockefeller, including himself, and six behind Nixon.

Both may pick up more support before the convention. Proof is still needed to show that a coalition of favorite sons in alliance with Rockefeller and or Reagan backers can deny the nomination to Nixon.

Needs $20 Million

Doctor-Diplomat Has Plans for Crops

By MORT ROSENBLUM

COTONOU, Dahomey (AP)—Emile Derlin Zinsou, a doctor-diplomat handed power by the ruling army, has drafted a plan to double crops in two years and better the lot of Dahomey's two million population.

All he needs, he says, is about $20 million.

"We need a loan to provide means for production," the 50-year-old president designate said in an interview. "People have land, they have will ... but no money or tools."

A new peanut oil plant is expected to press 30,000 tons yearly by 1970.

"My program involves, above all, development of man," Zinsou asserted. "Governments are not for societies, they're for men."

The plan involves an agricultural credit agency where subsistence farmers can borrow enough to spread out.

"If you fly over Dahomey you'll see one hundredth of the land cultivated. We just need the means," Zinsou said.

He looks forward to exporting perhaps 300,000 tons of corn and some cotton to supplement the palm oil.

But Zinsou faces more than economic problems: Three former heads of state were stopped next door in Togo after unsuccessfully trying to take part in forming Zinsou's 10-man government.

He figures it will take five years to balance the $31 million annual budget, now $8 million off.

He hopes France will restore its $2 million budget support, stopped when Col. Alphonse Alley succeeded Gen. Christophe Soglo after a coup last December. It is understood France is waiting to see Zinsou's government working smoothly.

Two of them were blamed for sabotaging May elections which had only a 27 per cent turnout. It's a safe bet Dahomey has not seen the last of them, Zinsou said.

Dahomey has had six governments since independence in 1960.

Zinsou lives in a two-story white house conspicuously rising above a shacklined Cotonou side street with a drain sewer trench out front.

He reads poetry—a great fan of Senegal President Leopold Senghor's works—and admits to piles of unfinished manuscripts.

He has a wife and five children.

Coney Beach Battle Goes Into 2nd Night

NEW YORK (AP) — A rock and bottle-throwing attack on a patrol car at Coney Island prompted a second straight night of battling late Sunday between police and youths of the Brooklyn amusement and beach area.

At least five policemen were reported hurt, not seriously, and eight persons were arrested. In a nonrelated incident in another part of the city, a bar was firebombed early today and one man seriously burned.

About 80 per cent of the 40,000 persons living in the area of Coney where the trouble centered are either Negroes or Puerto Ricans.

Police said Sunday night's battling began when youths pelted a passing patrol car with rocks and bottles. Both occupants, Patrolmen Roger Swanson and David Nadel, were injured, police said.

Other police sought to make arrests for the attack and said an unruly crowd, some standing on tenement roofs along Mermaid Avenue near 25th Street, began throwing more missiles and some firebombs at officers. Reinforcements from the riot-trained Tactical Patrol Force moved into the area and brought the disorder to a halt shortly before midnight. TPF patrolmen also closed in

Search for Motive

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Police searched today for a motive in the slaying of Andrew James, 48, of this city whose body was found slumped on the front seat of his automobile with a bullet wound in the back of his head.

The body was found Sunday in the car parked on an east side street. Police said the bullet wound was behind James' right ear. They said it appeared that James was shot outside his car and then carried there.

4 Break-ins Keep Sheriff's Office Busy

Ulster County Sheriff's Deputies had a busy weekend investigating four break-ins, including Deitz automotive service station on Route 28 and a home in Rosendale where nearly $200 worth of tools were reported missing.

At 4:50 a. m. today an anonymous caller alerted the sheriff's department and said they saw two people attempting to enter the service station near the Route 28 traffic circle. Cpl. John R. Tucey was dispatched. When he arrived he found the place had been illegally entered by forcing the locked door and knocking loose the latch. Nothing appeared to be missing.

Later, Burton Deitz, owner, called and said the cash receipts box with a sum between $50 and $100 dollars was missing. County Investigator Harold T. Bowers is continuing the investigation.

In Rosendale, Paul Whitten of Mountain Road said his cellar and garage had been burglarized between Wednesday and Sunday when he arrived home. He listed nearly $200 worth of tools missing, including a 1/4 inch Ram drill, gas cutting torch, 710 by 15 auto tire, load leveler shock absorber, two timing lights, a torque wrench and other miscellaneous smaller tools. Deputy Harold Dohnken was dispatched and Investigator Bowers will continue the investigation.

At Glenelg Lake Park, Mrs. Mary Lou Duer of Barclay Heights, Saugerties said her parent's home on North Drive had been burglarized. Deputy Charles Daley and Donald Policastro, who responded found that entry had been gained by breaking a window. Nothing was reported taken.

Carl Wold of Hillside Farm Market and Dairy Bar on Route 9W, Glenelg reported a break-in Saturday night. He said someone broke the window of the men's room and went out the front door. Nothing appeared to be taken, he said.

Fish View On the Czech, Soviet Crisis

Hamilton Fish Jr., Republican congressional candidate, said today that the political, psychological and military pressure on Czechoslovakia by the Soviet Union posed a very dangerous threat to future disarmament negotiations between Russia and the United States.

Fish said, "The political assault upon Czechoslovakia should not be the prologue to another Hungary. If the Soviet leaders are sincere in their overtures to American officials to affect a disarmament agreement, then their words are not consistent with their actions in Eastern Europe. A liberal Czech government in no way threatens the Soviet Union's security."

"However," Fish continued, "mounting pressure against Czechoslovakia does imperil future United States-Soviet Union negotiations. Americans are afraid to begin disarmament agreements in the face of possible use of force by the Soviet Union against a nation striving to achieve freedom. Peace will only result if the two nuclear powers, the United States and Russia, avoid future Vietnam and Hungary."

"The Soviet Union has been in the forefront of those international powers demanding that the United States engage in no more Vietnam. The American people do not wish to engage in more Vietnam. But no more Hungaries are an indispensable part of any world order in which there are no Vietnam. 'Peace, as Harry Truman used to say, is a two-way street.' The Soviet Union and the United States must both drive on the same side of the road."

Financial and Commercial

Shortly after the opening the United Press International stock market indicator showed a loss of 0.20 per cent on 325 issues traded. The Dow Jones industrial average also eased.

U.S. Steel and Youngstown both opened lower, the former at 39 1/4 down 1/4 the latter at 36 1/2 down 1/4.

In the autos, Chrysler surrendered 1/4 to 65. In the oils, California Standard surrendered 1/4 to 65 1/2 and Mobil added 1/4 to 50 1/2.

An Ellenville man, apprehended by police on a charge of public intoxication Saturday night, says he has sought legal advice from the Czechoslovakian embassies in Washington and New York and wishes to return to his native Czechoslovakia.

Bohumil Janda, arrested by Ellenville police, meanwhile is confined to Ulster County jail in lieu of $250 bail.

According to Justice Ronald Elias, before whom he appeared Saturday night, Janda says he has requested a Czech lawyer to plead his case and arrange for his return to his native country.

Janda is scheduled to appear before Elias, with a lawyer tomorrow night at 7.

Economic Policymakers Give Taxpayers New Theme

NEW YORK (AP) — Cool it but don't kill it. That, taxpayers, is the new theme of the economic policymakers as they attempt to steer the world's largest production machine onto a new course.

It might be a bit early to say they are heading toward their targets of wage-price stability and orderly growth, even though spokesmen for the Commerce Department say they detect the beginning of an "orderly cooling off."

The latest figures show inflation still running at a rate of 4 per cent a year and the economy growing at the rate of 5 per cent, both pretty hot by most measurements.

But the experts often see things that others miss. Like the weatherman who sees cold fronts on the weather map when others see only lines, economists sometimes see trends in a jumble of statistics.

Could Level Off

Defense spending, the experts say, could begin to level off soon, although very serious miscalculations in this area have been damaging to the economy before. The expectation, then, cannot be assumed to be fact.

The coolest pattern in the latest quarterly figures was detected in the consumer economy, and probably results from the good sense and judgment of ordinary people rather than because of expert direction from above.

Once again the consumer has begun banking his money instead of spending it, and with the consumer growing more powerful as an economic factor, this cautious or conservative tendency can have profound effects.

In the second quarter of the year, the months of April-May-June, the savings of consumers rose to 7.7 per cent of after-tax income, about 2 per cent above "normal," and 1/4 of one per cent above the first quarter.

As a result, consumer purchases in the second quarter were at the rate of only $527.1 billion a year, far below private forecasts, some of which projected a rate close to $540 billion.

The cooling effect of such a downturn is immediately obvious when it is realized that any increase in the rate of consumer saving is a direct subtraction from retail sales.

This is the third sharp turn in the consumer spending pattern in about two years. All through 1967 the rate of savings remained unusually high and spending relatively lower than had been forecast by retailers.

Early this year, however, buffered against economic pitfalls by swollen bank accounts and encouraged by rising wages, the consumer went on a spending spree. The unusual strength in auto sales, for example, reflected this.

The reversion to the 1967 type of behavior in the second quarter presumably was in anticipation of a tax increase and the desire to lay away funds to offset any chock to the standard of living. In this sense, perhaps, it might be said to reflect Washington economic policy.

Coolness in Steel Industry
Another potential area of coolness is bound to come in the steel industry, which has been operating at a strong pace. Much of this demand for steel, a demand which helped put inflationary pressures on the economy, resulted from buying in anticipation of a strike.

These large stockpiles now represent sales that ordinarily would have been made later in the year. Regardless of whether or not there is a strike, many steel users will be cutting their fall purchases.

At present, it looks like a few more months will pass before it can be determined precisely what effect anti inflation policies are having on the economy.

And still more distant is the real but remote possibility that the so-called measures—primarily higher taxes and lower government spending—might not just cool the boom but kill it.

Ellenville Man Would Leave U.S.

An Ellenville man, apprehended by police on a charge of public intoxication Saturday night, says he has sought legal advice from the Czechoslovakian embassies in Washington and New York and wishes to return to his native Czechoslovakia.

Bohumil Janda, arrested by Ellenville police, meanwhile is confined to Ulster County jail in lieu of $250 bail.

According to Justice Ronald Elias, before whom he appeared Saturday night, Janda says he has requested a Czech lawyer to plead his case and arrange for his return to his native country.

Discuss $400,000 Park in Ellenville

Will the Village of Ellenville get a municipal park? The $400,000 question appears up in the air after Mayor Eugene Glusker remarked about the possibility of such a project at the July 1 meeting of the village board.

The mayor had said then that there appeared a clear possibility of a park which would cost the village "about $100,000," with New York State paying $300,000 more, in line with the present state formula.

Paltz Airman Goes to Korea

Staff Sergeant Fred Hernwall of New Paltz has been listed as one of 98 members of the 904th Military Aircraft Group, stationed at Stewart Air Force Base in Newburgh, who have been transferred to Korea for active duty.

Hernwall, an employee with the New Paltz Post Office, was on 24 hour notice when he received his call-up on July 12. He left Stewart for his assignment in Korea at 6:40 a. m. the following Monday.

Hernwall is the only area resident to be affected by the controversial activation of the 904th reserve unit thus far.

Two weeks ago, members of the reserve outfit, who had been on active duty at Stewart since the Pueblo crisis in January, were informed that their unit was being broken up and sent to bases in Korea and Japan to augment regular Air Force personnel. Although the airmen claimed that the call-up defied several precedents involved in the activation of a reserve unit, the Air Force continued to transfer men overseas.

Since the call-up, approximately 150 men have been transferred to England and Korea—about 50 less than the total that was first announced. Within the past week, an additional ten men have been sent to bases in Vietnam, Formosa, and Greenland.

Ulster Academy Names Schafer As Director

Lou Schafer, former executive secretary and physical director of the Kingston YMCA, has been appointed as director of athletics and Master of Physical Education at Ulster Academy for the 1968-69 academic year.

Schafer received his bachelor's degree in Physical Education from Springfield College and has attended summer sessions both at Springfield and Cornell University. Prior to his service at the local YMCA, Schafer was physical education director and coach at LeRoy High School.

Raymond Nelson, headmaster of the new academy, has been meeting with Schafer for several weeks in an attempt to develop a special program of physical fitness through physical education and athletics to meet the needs of the new school.

In a recently published pamphlet, the academy listed as one of its three basic educational goals, its commitment "to strengthen the personal integrity of each individual student." Athletic skill, the satisfactions of play, and the conditioning of a sturdy body are, according to Schafer, vital to a young person's health and integrity.

Schafer will direct a three season athletic program, which includes soccer, tennis, touch football, basketball, softball, track, and golf. All the students at the Academy will be given regular term physical tests in such areas as body strength, agility, coordination, and heart response.

Schafer will be assisted in the supervision and coaching of the program by the headmaster, who also has an extensive coaching background. The two will also be assisted by other members of the faculty.

The athletic teams at Ulster Academy will be using the facilities at Hutton Park and the Municipal Auditorium.

Twenty Years This Summer Hiss-Chambers Hearings Held

By SAM FOGG

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Twenty years ago this summer, few Americans had ever heard of a prothonotary warbler.

Or Alger Hiss.

Or Whittaker Chambers.

This changed within a matter of days in August of 1948. One of the most dramatic congressional hearings in history produced what has become known as the Hiss-Chambers case. The prothonotary warbler was a key.

Before it was over, a freshman congressman from California, Richard M. Nixon, flashed into a prominence that took him to the vice presidency. There had been a tense confrontation in a New York hotel room and another in the floodlit caucus room of the old House Office Building. Microfilm "pumpkin papers" had been brought out from concealment on a farm near Westminster, Md.

When it was over, Hiss, the impeccably correct former State Department official who became president of the prestigious Carnegie Endowment for World Peace, had been convicted of perjury for denying he had passed on secret documents to Chambers, a confessed former Communist agent who broke with the party and found a new life as an editor with Time magazine.

Chambers, a pudgy, moon-faced man, surfaced for the American public on Aug. 3, 1948, when he appeared as a surprise witness before the controversial House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Lived in Fear

In almost impassive voice, he testified that beginning in 1924 he had become a Communist, had been given a vital role as an underground contact in Washington, broke away in 1937 after the Hitler-Stalin pact and subsequently lived in fear of his life.

He supported previous testimony by Miss Elizabeth Bentley that a Communist ring operated in influential government circles of the New Deal days; and that its members included Nathan Witt, John Abt, Charles Kramer, Lee Pressman, Victor Perlo, Nathan Gregory Silvermaster and Henry Collins.

Also on Chambers' list was Hiss, who, as a member of the State Department, had organized the conferences at Dumbarton Oaks, San Francisco and the United States side of the Yalta Conference.

Under questioning, Chambers added that Hiss was the only member that he tries to pry away from the party when he himself broke but that Hiss, in tears, "absolutely refused to break."

"I was very fond of Mr. Hiss," he observed.

Injection of Hiss' name into the hearings didn't dominate the headline initially. The biggest commotion came when Chambers named Harry Dexter White, former secretary of the Treasury, as at least a fellow traveler, and called Lauchlin Currie, a one-time White House assistant to President Franklin D. Roosevelt, a left-wing friend. White appeared before the committee to indignantly deny the charges and died of a heart attack a few days later. Currie made a similar denial. Abt, Witt and Silvermaster denounced Miss Bentley and Chambers but invoked the protection of the Fifth Amendment against self-incrimination when asked about Communist party participation.

Hiss, Baltimore-born and Harvard-educated, took a far different course. He challenged the committee to be heard under oath. On Aug. 5, 1948, he took the witness chair to deny having ever heard of Whittaker Chambers until the year previous when two FBI agents had asked him about such a man.

Denies Knowledge

Dark, well-tailored, urbane, Hiss told the committee in modulated voice: "So far as I know, I have never laid eyes on him and I should like to have the opportunity to do so."

He was shown a news photo of Chambers and said that although he could not swear to it, he did not think he ever had seen the man in the picture. He declared he would like to confront his accuser in person. Hiss acknowledged knowing most of those named by Chambers as fellow government workers but of the Communist charge, he declared: "The statements made about me by Mr. Chambers are complete fabrications. I think my record in the government service speaks for itself."

The issue was joined: What of the two men was a liar?

The committee members—except for Nixon—were uncertain. Acting Chairman Karl E. Mundt, now Republican senator from South Dakota, voiced appreciation to Hiss for his "very cooperative attitude" and the late Rep. John Rankin, D-Miss., paused to shake hands with Hiss before leaving the hearing room.

"Red Herring"

President Harry S. Truman derided the charge as a "red herring" cast up in an election year for political purpose.

But Nixon and committee counsel Robert E. Stripling, a terror questioning of witnesses, remained skeptical of Hiss and kept the case open.

Two days later, Nixon and two committee colleagues—Reps. Edward Hebert, D-La., and John McDowell, R-Pa.—traveled to New York to question Chambers intensively and secretly in the Federal Court House.

In an exhaustive session, Chambers repeated his charges, told of collecting party dues from Hiss and his wife ("he was rather pious about paying his dues promptly," he testified.)

Then he began a recital of the intimate details he said he recalled of the Hiss family life. Hiss was slightly hard of hearing in one ear; he had rather long delicate fingers; he walked with a slight mince, his wife called him "Hilly," he called her "Dilly," and sometimes "Pross," they drove a roadster so dilapidated that the windshield wiper had to be operated by hand; later Hiss turned it over to a fellow Communist as a contribution to the party.

Did Hiss have any hobbies?

Bird Watchers

"Yes he did. They both had the same hobby—amateur ornithologists, bird observers."

I recall once they saw, to their great excitement, a prothonotary warbler.

Nine days later on Aug. 17, Hiss returned before the committee in closed session and repeated his blanket denial of ever having been associated with the Communist party.

Early in the questioning, he volunteered that he vaguely recollected having known in his early Washington days a free lance writer by the name of George Crosley. He described him as sort of a deadbeat who had bad teeth. More out of pity than friendship, he had allowed Crosley, his wife and child to stay at their home for a bit.

Hiss wasn't prepared to swear on the basis of a photograph that Crosley was now Chambers but it was a possibility.

The questioning went on. Hiss

told of owning a dilapidated Ford. Mrs. Hiss called him "Pross" or "Prossy."

He had hobbies, the witness replied to a question—tennis and amateur ornithology.

McDowell: Did you ever see a prothonotary warbler?

Hiss: I have right here on the Potomac.

McDowell: I saw one in Arlington.

Hiss: They come back and nest in those swamps. Beautiful ornithologist.

First Confrontation

The first Hiss-Chambers confrontation came on Aug. 17 at 5:35 p.m. in Room 1400 of New York's Hotel Commodore—again behind closed doors.

Hiss entered first, openly angry that details of his secret testimony had appeared in the newspapers. Chambers was ushered in by an investigator and stood impassively facing the man he accused. Hiss demanded a better look at his accuser's teeth, asked what dental work had been done in recent years, insisted that Chambers read from Newsweek magazine to hear his voice.

After a period of acrid questioning, Chambers, Hiss made "positive" identification that the man facing him was George Crosley but again denied he knew him as a Communist. When Chambers again accused him, the boiling angry Hiss challenged him to make the accusation without the immunity from libel given congressional witnesses.

"I challenge you to do it and I hope you will do it damned quickly," the former State Department official snapped.

The public saw the next confrontation between the two on Aug. 25 under the glare of television and news reel lights in the old House Office Building. The most intense moment of drama came when Hiss, seated in the witness chair, was asked to stand and face Chambers who rose from a chair on the outskirts of the committee dais. In turn, they acknowledged having known each other in earlier days, but not in the roles ascribed to them.

Stick to their Guns

Hiss swore again he knew Chambers only as a sponger named Crosley; Chambers repeated that he knew Hiss as a Communist cell member.

For the moment, there matters stood—accusation and denial, both under oath. Then a new avalanche of events began.

On a national broadcast—without immunity from libel—Chambers bluntly made his accusation that Hiss had been a Communist. Hiss filed a $35,000 defamation suit, and pre-trial hearings began in Baltimore.

In mid-November, Chambers went to the home of a nephew in Brooklyn and from a ledge in a disused dumbwaiter shaft pulled forth a grime-encrusted package.

At the next pre-trial session, he produced the contents and for the first time the Hiss-Chambers case touched on espionage.

The packet contained 47 typed diplomatic documents, five rolls of microfilm, government communications, four memos in Hiss' handwriting and five others in the handwriting of Harry Dexter White.

The Justice Department was immediately notified and a federal grand jury called into session in New York.

The "pumpkin papers" erupted next.

Tipped off by a newspaper reporter that things were stirring under the surface of the case, Nixon instructed Stripling to send two investigators to visit Chambers at his Maryland farm.

In the early dusk of Dec. 2, Chambers escorted them to a nearby patch of pumpkins and squashes. From a hollowed out pumpkin, he extracted three sealed metal cartridges. Inside was more microfilm of top secret State Department documents from a locked file to which Hiss had had access.

On Dec. 15, the grand jury handed down its indictment, charging Hiss with two counts of perjury for denying having turned over government documents to an unauthorized person—Whittaker Chambers.

There were two trials. The first began May 1, 1949, and lasted 27 days. After 14 hours and 47 minutes, the jury was hopelessly split, although 8 to 4 in favor of conviction, and no verdict was reached.

The second began Nov. 17 and on the afternoon of Jan. 30, 1950 the case went to the jury. The next afternoon—about 24 hours later—the eight women and four men returned with their verdict. Mrs. Ada Condell, a widow from the Bronx, announced the judgment: "Guilty on the first count and guilty on the second."

Hiss was sentenced to five years in the federal penitentiary and merged to live in the side streets of New York, still insisting his innocence. Nixon went on to become a senator, a vice president, a loser in the 1960 presidential race and now again a prospective president. Whittaker Chambers died in the quietude of his Maryland farm in July, 1961.

Revolutionaries Trained in Cuba

By FENTON WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government is giving revolutionary training to scores of leftist students from abroad at a special institute tucked away in the hills of Pinar Del Rio Province.

The majority of the students are French. There are also more than 70 Swedes reported enrolled, two or three from the United States and a scattering from Vietnam, England, Norway, Denmark and West Germany.

The students deny reports from France that they are being taught guerrilla tactics for use in the cities.

"We are studying the Cuban revolution and working to help the campesinos (peasants)," said a French student.

"I guess you could describe the seminars as political training," said a Dane.

From conversations with some of the students and others who have visited the institute, those attending apparently agreed with Cuba's advocacy of armed struggle to make social revolution. And most apparently intend to try to carry out such a policy when they return home.

The students put in half of their working day on special agricultural projects and attend seminars the other half. About 400 took part in the six-week course which just ended. About a hundred new students are expected next week, but some of the old ones are staying on for a second course.

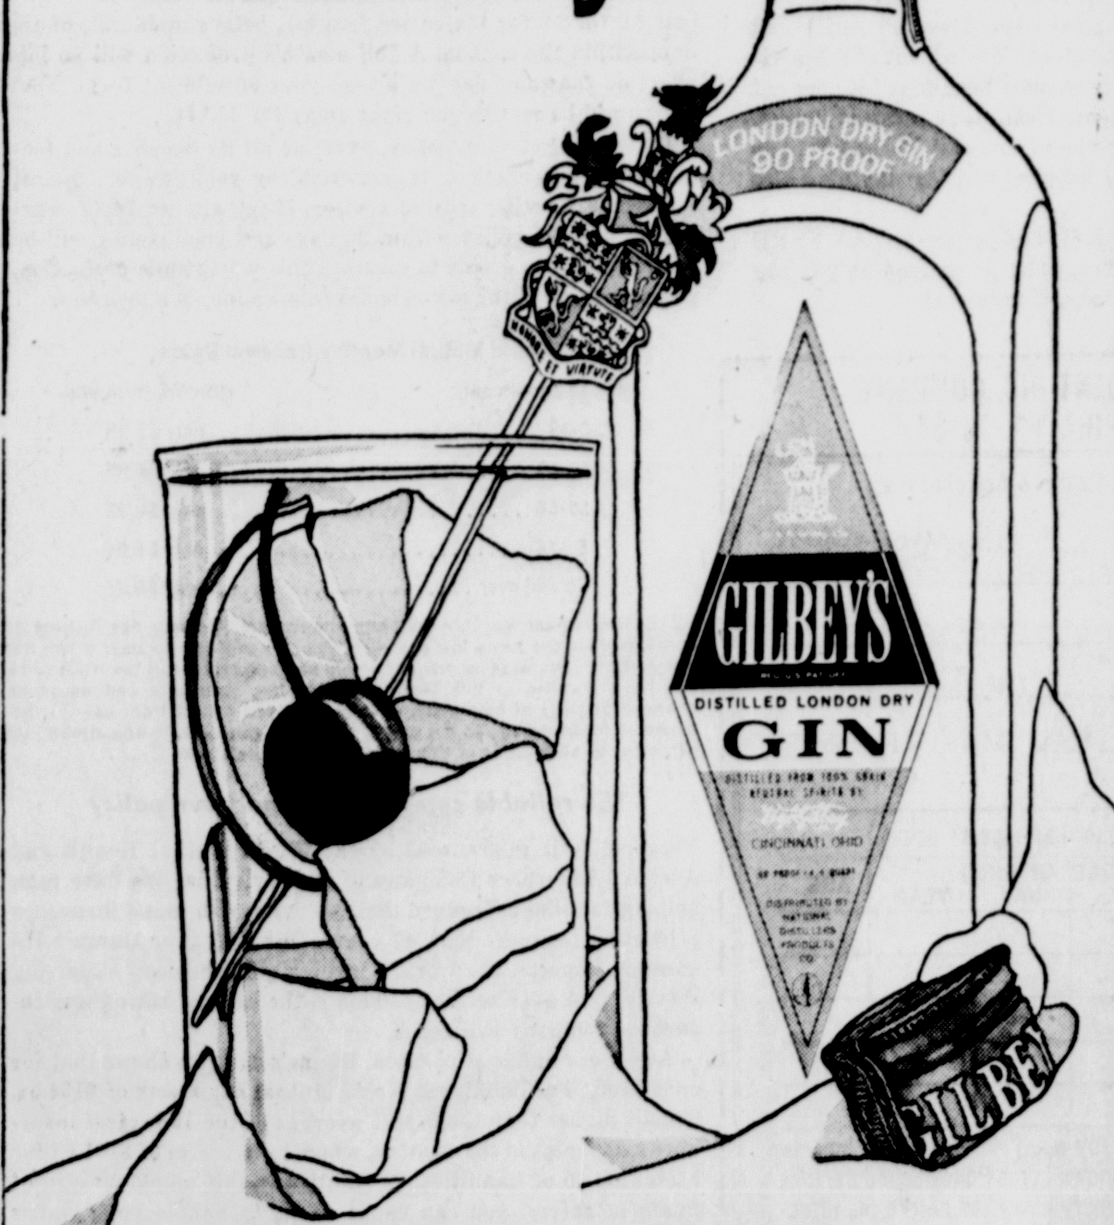

The institute is called the Fifth of May Camp, honoring the birth date of Karl Marx. It is near the village of Cayajobos, about 45 miles southwest of Havana.

A big sign saying welcome in English, French and Spanish—the three languages used in the seminars—points out the new road leading to the camp.

Students report that Melba Hernandez, head of the Cuban Committee for Solidarity with Vietnam, is a frequent visitor to the camp. Another visitor is reported to have been Capt. Osmany Cienfuegos, a member of the Communist party central committee and the general secretary of the organization set up by the tricontinental revolutionary congress.

Act Now—GET FIRST MONTH'S PROTECTION FOR ONLY $1

(OR $2 FOR YOUR ENTIRE FAMILY.) THEN YOU MAY CONTINUE AT WORLD MUTUAL'S REGULAR LOW RATES.

Money back in full if not 100% satisfied. No age limit—Apply NOW by date shown in Enrollment Form below.

ONE OUT OF TWO FAMILIES will have someone in the hospital this year! It could be you—or some beloved member of your family, tomorrow...next week...next month. Sad to say very few families have anywhere near enough coverage to meet today's soaring hospital costs. These costs have TRIPLED in just a few short years. They are expected to DOUBLE AGAIN in the few years ahead.

Stop for a moment. Think how much a long stay in the hospital will cost you or a loved one. How would you ever pay for costly but necessary X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? What would you do if your pay check stops, but living expenses go right on—rent, phone, food, all the day-to-day expenses that never stop? What is the average bread winner to do?

Now you can receive $100.00 a week tax-free cash, from the very first day you enter the hospital for as long as you are confined there—even for 100 full weeks, if necessary!

This new plan relieves you of worry about the terrible financial threat of accident or illness. But you must apply during this limited enrollment period BEFORE the date shown in your coupon below.

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only $1 for First Month—Money-Back Guarantee

To encourage you to see how much this Plan can mean to you and your family, we make this unusual, money-saving offer:

You can now have your first month's protection for only one dollar! But, you must act immediately, because this unusual opportunity is offered for a limited time. Your request for this wonderful Income Protection plan must be mailed on your convenient form below NOT LATER THAN MIDNIGHT, of the date in the Enrollment Form.

This midnight expiration hour cannot be extended. If your enrollment form is mailed later, it cannot be accepted.

These are the ONLY Exclusions!

The new World Mutual Plan covers every conceivable kind of sickness and accident except, of course, hospitalization caused by the use of alcoholic beverages or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else IS covered.

How can $1 buy so much?

You can buy ordinary insurance at any time and pay the regular rates, if you wish. But World Mutual can now provide you with $100.00 a week tax-free Income Protection for just $1 the first month ONLY BECAUSE WE ENROLL A NUMBER OF PEOPLE AT ONE TIME—direct by mail! This highly efficient

PAYS YOU CASH

...$100.00-A-WEEK tax free cash starting your very first day in the hospital. No waiting period!

PAYS YOU CASH

...to a maximum of $10,000.00 any time you go to the hospital and stay for as long as 100 weeks.

PAYS YOU CASH

...Money mailed directly to you—not to the doctor or hospital.

PAYS YOU CASH

...you get $100.00-A-Week in addition to whatever you receive from Medicare, Workmen's Compensation or any other insurance.

IF YOU ARE 65 OR OVER YOU WILL COLLECT IN ADDITION TO MEDICARE

Why are smart folks over 65 now hastening to protect themselves with The World Mutual Plan in addition to what "Medicare" will do for them?

Even though Medicare is a great boon to folks over 65, it will not, of course, pay all the bills that quickly pile up as a result of illness or accident.

Regardless of your age, you will still need additional health protection.

We have designed this plan as the important addition to what you receive from Medicare—or any other health insurance you may have.

Remember, all checks will be sent directly to you, to give you that "extra" help just when you need it most—to help pay any bills you choose. Best of all, your World Mutual protection will pay even for 100 weeks, if necessary!

"mass enrollment" method cuts costs to the bone. We are able to issue thousands of policies in a few short weeks—rather than spread the procedure over many long months—or even a year. Our overhead and processing expenses are reduced drastically—and the savings are passed on to you!

After your first month's protection, you may continue at World Mutual's regular low monthly rates—and the rate you pay now will never be increased because you grow older!

What Would Happen To Your Family?

The chances are one in seven that you will spend some time in the hospital this year. A fall on the stairs, in the bathtub, or on the sidewalk—a sudden illness or operation—could lay you up for weeks, months, perhaps even years.

Right now, you probably have some hospital coverage. You may think you're "safe" from all the financial burdens of sickness and accident. But hospital coverage usually takes care of only part of your expenses.

Can you afford the soaring costs of doctor, surgical, and nursing bills? Can you afford missing your weekly paycheck during the time you're laid up in the hospital? Even though you probably have some protection now—will it be enough? Sickness, accidents, hospitalization, cost many people their savings, their cars, even their homes. Don't take chances with your financial security. Now for only pennies a day, YOU can enjoy the added protection, the peace of mind, the freedom from worry that this new World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Extra Income Health and Accident Plan WNL-1-667 offers.

The Added Protection You NEED!

All benefits of this World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan are paid directly to you, in tax-free cash, in addition to whatever you may receive from your other insurance! Spend the money as you see fit—for hospital or doctors' bills, mortgage payments—or any necessary but costly extras not fully covered by usual hospital policies.

Everything costs more these days (need we tell you?) and hospital care is certainly no exception! While 7 out of 8 Americans have some hospital insurance, most have found it does not cover all the bills that pile up when sickness or accident strikes. That's why World Mutual developed low-cost Income Protection that helps you pay either hospital costs or anything else you need or want!

You get your $100.00 per week ($14.28 per day)—TAX FREE—from your first day in the hospital, and as long as you are confined there, even for 100 weeks, if necessary.

For Older Folks—Greater Protection Than You Ever Would Have Thought Possible!

Right now, would advancing age prevent you from getting hospital insurance, or income protection with another company? Or if you could get a policy elsewhere, would you have to pay a big premium for it? Or perhaps you no longer have a regular income, and are living on Social Security. What would happen to you then if you had to suddenly go to a hospital?

Your "life saver" could be this wonderful World Mutual Income Protection Plan—because World Mutual welcomes folks of all ages into its Plan. You can even be OVER 100 and still be eligible!

Can You Afford to Miss This Chance?

Now, at less cost than you may ever have thought would be possible, you can set up a "gold mine" of protection from desperate financial straits if the need arises. Thanks to this unique new Plan, you can assure the solid, substantial protection you need—and not only save money, but assure yourself of other benefits, too, during all the years to come.

Our Famous MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

We are so sure that we offer the best protection at the lowest cost, that we make our famous MONEY-BACK guarantee.

When you send for your policy, and it arrives in your hands, we want you to look it over as carefully and as often as you wish. See how thoroughly it protects you. See how exactly it meets the needs that you want covered. See how here, at last, is the policy that makes it possible for you to get the sickness and accident protection you need, in greater measure than ever before!

If you are not 100% satisfied that your policy is exactly what we have promised it to be, and exactly what YOU want it to be—send the policy back to us within 30 days and we will REFUND YOUR MONEY IN FULL, AT ONCE. But meanwhile you will be protected. And, if you decide to continue this wonderful protection, you may do so at the low rate shown below—a rate which will never be raised because you grow older!

World Mutual Plans Are Nationally Known

This money-saving World Mutual $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan truly offers outstanding value. Here's why: You can buy ordinary insurance from most companies at regular rates all year long. They are happy to issue one policy at a time. But World Mutual issues many new policies at one time during a limited enrollment period.

This "mass enrollment" method keeps our underwriting, processing and all other overhead expenses down to a bare minimum—and these savings are passed on to you!

THIS LIMITED ENROLLMENT OFFER ENDS SOON

Only $1 for First Month—

Unconditional Money Back Guarantee

To introduce you to this new Plan, we make you this unusual offer: Act during this enrollment period and get your first month's protection for only one dollar (only $2 for your entire family)!

Simply fill out your enrollment form here and mail it with just $1 (or $2 for the entire family), before midnight, of the date within the coupon. A full month's protection will go into effect on the same day we accept your enrollment form. Your policy will be sent to you right away BY MAIL.

When you get your policy, examine all its benefits and features. Have it checked, if you wish, by your lawyer, doctor, clergyman, or other trusted adviser. If you are not 100% satisfied, return the policy within 30 days and your money will be refunded. If you decide to continue this worthwhile protection, you may do so at the low rates as follows for each member:

World Mutual Monthly Renewal Rates

Age at Enrollment	Monthly Premium
0-39	only $3.95
40-54	only $4.95
55-64	only $5.95
65-74	only $6.95
75 and over	only $9.25

NOTE: The regular Monthly Premium shown here (for your age at time of enrollment) is the same low premium you will continue to pay; it will not automatically increase as you pass from one age bracket to the next. Once you have enrolled in this World Mutual plan, your rate can never be changed because of how much or how often you collect from us—or because of advanced age—but only if there is a general rate adjustment, up or down, on all policies of this type in your entire state!

The reliable company behind your policy

Your policy is guaranteed by the World Mutual Health and Accident Insurance Company of Pennsylvania. We have been helping families safeguard their security with sound insurance protection for more than 47 years. Our rating by Dunne's Insurance Reports, the world's largest policyholders' reporting service, is A+ (Excellent). This is the highest rating any insurance company can reach.

As for our financial position, Dunne's analysis shows that for each $100.00 of liabilities, World Mutual has assets of $134.54. This is higher than the 5-year average of the 15 largest insurance companies in the country, which have assets of $107.62 for each $100.00 of liabilities. In addition to this ample margin of financial safety, you can count on us to handle your claims fairly and promptly when you are hospitalized. World Mutual has paid claims in every state and in many foreign countries as well.

Act NOW—"Later" May Be TOO Late!

TIME IS PRECIOUS! Act quickly. (No salesman will call.) Get your enrollment form into the mail today—because once you suffer an accident or sickness, it's TOO LATE to buy protection at any cost. That's why we urge you to act today—before anything unexpected happens.

THESE 20 QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Tell you how World Mutual's $100.00-A-Week Income Protection Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

- How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
$100.00 per week.
- When will my hospitalization benefits start?
The day you enter the hospital.
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
Yes. This new plan pays whether you are in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, or a year!
- Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
No. It will go into force on the same day we accept your completed enrollment form and $1 premium (or $2 for your entire family).
- How long will I continue to receive hospitalization benefits?
For every day you are in the hospital to a maximum of 100 weeks, as a result of any one accident or illness.
- Suppose I am paid benefits for any sickness or accident. What happens if I am again hospitalized for the same condition?
After you have resumed full normal activities for just six months, you are again eligible for benefits for a recurring condition, to a maximum of 100 weeks. And of course, any new condition would be covered immediately!
- How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them in any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses, or anything else. This is entirely up to you!
- Can I collect from World Mutual even if I carry other insurance?
Of course. This plan will pay you in addition to whatever you may receive from any other policies, including Medicare, for folks over 65.
- Why do I need this World Mutual Plan in addition to my other hospital and health insurance?
While hospital costs have tripled in recent years, very few people have tripled their insurance. The chances are one in seven that you will require hospital care this year—and you will need money to take care of all your other expenses, as well as your hospital bills. Your World Mutual checks are rushed to you by air mail to use as you see fit!
- May I apply if I am over 65?
Yes, you may. Folks any age are welcome to apply—there is no age limit!
- Will my protection be cancelled because I have too many claims?
No. World Mutual guarantees never to cancel your protection because you have too many claims or because of advanced age. We also guarantee never to refuse to renew your policy unless the premium is not paid before the end of the grace period, or unless renewal is declined on all policies of this type in your entire state. (Of course, if deception is used in making application, the policy may be ineffective.)
- Will benefits be reduced because of advanced age?
No. Regardless of how old you become or how many claims you have, your benefits remain the same.
- Will my rates be raised as I grow older or if I have too many claims?
No matter how many claims you have, or regardless of how long you keep your policy, your rate will remain the same as it was for your age when you applied. World Mutual guarantees never to adjust this rate unless the rates are adjusted on all policies of this type in your entire state!
- What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are those caused by: the use of alcohol or narcotics; mental or nervous disorders; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; expenses resulting from any sickness or injury you had before the policy Effective Date (during the first 3 years only); act of war; or where care is in a Government hospital. Everything else is covered!
- What are the requirements for membership in this World Mutual Plan?
You must not have been refused any health, hospital or life insurance; and, to qualify during this enrollment period, you must apply before midnight of the date in the coupon.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time, underwriting, processing and policy issuance costs can be kept at a minimum—and we can pass these savings on to you.
- Besides the savings, are there other advantages to joining World Mutual during this enrollment period?
Yes. A very important one is that you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief form in the lower left hand corner of this page. Also, during this enrollment period there are no other requirements for eligibility—and no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy!
- Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes, as long as they can meet the few requirements listed under Question 15.
- How does the money-back guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your own home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 30 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile you will be fully protected while making your decision!
- How do I join?
Fill out your brief enrollment form (be sure to sign your name) and mail it, with just $1 for the first month's protection. ($2 covers your entire family.) Mail to: World Mutual, 11401 Roosevelt Blvd., Philadelphia, Pa. 19154.

Rondout Churches Unite to Help Youth

GREETINGS FROM MAYOR — Youngsters from the Rondout Churches Summer Program say howdy to Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan as he visits the newly coordinated program for children in the area. With the mayor are Angel Roach, Becky Andersen, Richard Shultis and Gregory Davis. Daily sessions are held at St. Mary's School, former Academy of St. Ursula and Trinity Methodist Church. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

CHOW TIME — Summer program personnel take time out after a busy morning with the children to have lunch. Helping themselves at the buffet in Trinity Methodist Church dining room are (L-R) Jeannette Hatcher, youth leader, Sandy DeCicco, Dorothy Roseberry and Diane Washington, assistant directors. (Freeman photos by Kruh).

By JEAN F. DOLAN

More than 250 youngsters from the Rondout area are having a most profitable summer through the coordinated efforts of the downtown churches.

All of the former independent summer recreation and study plans have been united this year in three locations. Weekday sessions are held from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m. at St. Mary's School, Broadway, former Academy of St. Ursula on Grove Street and at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts and Hunter Streets. More than 100 children are in attendance both at St. Mary's and St. Ursula with approximately 60 enrolled at Trinity.

Staffers include adult and high school volunteers in addition to 10 workers provided through Ulster County Community Action Committee Inc. The Rev. Edward L. Farrelly, assistant pastor at St. Mary's and the Rev. James P. Veatch, pastor of Trinity Methodist, are directors. Sisters from St. Ursula and St. Mary's Convents are assisting.

An average day starts with remedial reading help from 9 to 9:30 a. m. under the direction of Miss Ann Vree. Arts and crafts, music, sports and trips make up the rest of the program.

Swimming trips to Taconic

State Park and Kingston Point Beach have been early highlights of the program which began July 8 and will continue through Aug. 9.

The Kingston Recreation Department has provided crafts and recreation equipment for use in the program. Community Action committee supplied the bus for the Taconic swim trip.

All of the participating churches have contributed financial support as well as volunteer workers. Donations have come from Kingston Kiwanis Club, Kingston Area Council of Churches and Church Women United.

Individual churches providing staff lunches include St. Mary's, Trinity, Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, Riverview Baptist and St. Ursula. Children bring their own lunches. Milk is provided without cost through the cooperating churches.

One of the programs which has been of particular interest during the past week has been provided by Gilbert Gray of Doctors Ambulance service. Children have had an opportunity to inspect the ambulance and its life saving equipment while attendants explained the apparatus and detailed fundamentals of first aid.

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan made an inspection tour of the three site program last week and was guest at the staff luncheon in Trinity Methodist Church. He was apparently very pleased at the progress made thus far by the cooperating groups.

The Rev. Mr. Veatch, too, registered approval of the program. He had glowing praise for the volunteers saying they were really the backbone of the program and were doing "terrific job."

He commended the efforts of the staff personnel who have given unstintingly of their time and efforts to make the summer meaningful for the Rondout youngsters.

Democrats See Action On Ulster Town Plans

Progress reports at last week's Ulster Town Board meeting on the proposed Spring Lake Water District, the zoning ordinance, a new town hall and sewer improvement area, prompted a statement today by the Town of Ulster Democratic Committee.

"The Town Board of the Town of Ulster has at least responded to the repeated calls for action," the statement signed by Walter D. Houle, chairman said. "At the July meeting, the Town Board promised public hearings and information on the proposed Spring Lake Water District and on Town Zoning.

Plans for public referendums be brought before the public for a decision. The Town of Ulster is growing into what will eventually become a sister city of Kingston. If we are to have orderly growth and a less than ruinous tax rate, planning for the future must begin now.

"In order to help inform the public on these projects and programs, the Ulster Democratic Party will present an official public statement of its position, either pro or con, on each of them. We believe an informed public can be depended upon to make intelligent and sound decisions," Houle concluded.

House Will Study Mail Order Guns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, which has virtually killed President Johnson's hopes for a gun registration law this session, turned today to the proposed ban on mail order sales of rifles, shotguns and ammunition.

Amendments for licensing of gun owners, another Johnson proposal, also were up for action before a final House vote on gun controls, possibly late in the day.

The bill would add long guns and ammunition to the congressional ban on mail order sales of pistols, which was part of the recently-passed omnibus crime bill. It also would prohibit over-the-counter gun sales to juveniles, and nonresidents except those from adjoining states.

Two gun registration amendments were killed Friday by two-to-one votes which appeared to serve notice to the Senate that the House is not willing to compromise in conference and go along with a registration bill this session.

Johnson called shortly after Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's assassination for legislation to require registration of every gun in the nation and licensing of all gun owners.

An amendment offered by Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., that would have required registration of all firearms was defeated 172-88.

A less stringent amendment sponsored by Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., for registration of pistols only was defeated 168-89.

But backers of stronger gun controls won approval of an amendment that would require mandatory prison sentences for carrying or using a gun while committing a federal felony such as rape, murder or robbery.

Violation would bring from one to 10 years for the first offense and 5 to 25 years for subsequent offenses. The sentences would have to be in addition to, not concurrent with, jail terms for the federal felony.

The amendment, sponsored by Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Ind., was a substitute for one by Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., that would have required mandatory sentences for use of guns in connection with state as well as federal felonies.

Youth Confab By 'Y'

Paul Coon, president of the Kingston-Ulster County YMCA, today announced plans for the annual fall conference-retreat of the YMCA staff and board of directors at Frost Valley.

Ralph Stewart, immediate past president, will chair the program planning committee, and he has announced the topic or discussion will be Disadvantaged Youth. Is the YMCA's role now relevant, and how can it be more so? Stewart said that the conference will encourage the participation of all other YMCAs in the Mid Hudson Valley, and already six other Associations have indicated their interest. In addition, Dr. George Erbstein, president of the Ulster County Community College, has indicated the college's willingness to participate in the conference in whatever role the committee feels it can best contribute. Initial meetings have been held at the college, and attending was State Advisor Howard Shinn, who will assist in the guidance of the program.

"The conference will take place over the Columbus Day weekend," Stewart said. "And will be initiated by a panel of persons who are conversant with ghetto environment. The panel discussions, guided by an outstanding moderator, will set the trend and tenor of the 'buzz' sessions and talks for the rest of the weekend."

It is hoped that from these dialogues an insight can be gained for the YMCA staffs and boards which will enable them to make a more valid contribution to our County.

Besides Stewart, other members of the conference committee from the YMCA Board include Christos Larios, Rev. Harold Schadewald, Dr. W. Wendell Hoover, Jackie Weatherly, and Richard Riseley.

Redingote Is Queen of Fashion

By NADEANE WALKER
AP Fashion Writer

ROME (AP) — As far as Italian designers are concerned, the hemline next fall and winter stays about two inches above the knee and the slim-waisted flared redingote will be queen of the fashion scene.

In the showings of their new collections that ended Thursday night, the Italians largely abandoned their penchant for vivid colors and turned to black and white and neutral shades for daytime. But they let themselves go with plenty of lame and rhinestone sparkle and multicolor jeweled embroidery to enliven the evening.

Many designers harked back to the 1940s, and only a few forged ahead with novel ideas. Valentino was the undisputed star of the season, Italy's most valuable asset in couture export.

It looked like a cold winter ahead with furs and fur trimmings galore. The big fox shako hat was seen everywhere. Trouser suits, thigh-high boots and capes were high in the popularity stakes. Even the bride wore thick boots, a woolen dress bordered with white fox and a halo of the same fur at Daniele in the last show of the season.

A few maxicoats, often over pants, turned up at many houses, but only Tita Rossi went all out for long skirts.

Long scarves were part of the '40s kick, but only De Barentzen to the 1940s, and only a few brought back snoods. Shoe heels were higher and thicker, and stockings were fanciful, with clocks of anything from climbing vines to white elephants, or simply naughty in sheer black.

Galitzine even put a seam stripe down the front, if these catch on, we may have to put up with being told that we've put our stockings on backwards.

Look Here Mrs. Homemaker

The Margarine Dilemma
Have you been wondering about the differences among the varieties of margarine in the market place? For clarification, Phyllis W. Barlow, Extension Home Economist, thought you might be interested in knowing some of the facts about the "regular" stick margarine, soft and whipped margarine and the low-calories imitation margarine.

Margarine's Composition—Any product labeled "margarine" must contain 80% refined food fat. Most margarins contain only the refined oils such as soybean, cottonseed, corn and peanut oils. Some are blends of animal and vegetable oils. Oleomargarine is a margarine containing some animal fat. Margarines also contain approximately 17-18% skim milk, pasteurized and cultured with harmless bacteria to create flavor. Some margarines use water in lieu of milk. From 1½-3% of margarine consists of salt. Salt free varieties are also available. Margarine is fortified with vitamin A and it contains other ingredients in small amounts to improve the product's usefulness and keeping qualities.

Soft Margarine—This is the commonly accepted term for a margarine with a consistency decidedly softer than the margarines found in the traditional four ½ pound stick form. Soft margarine is retailed in tubs or cups due to its softness. This type of margarine is "soft" because of the high polyunsaturated fat content of the liquid oils.

Whipped Margarine—This is a margarine into which inert gases are injected to increase its volume by 50%. Whipped margarine is retailed 6 sticks to the pound and is similar in form and technology to whipped butter.

Low-calorie Imitation Margarine—A new addition to the table spreads is "imitation" margarine. Because this product does not conform to the Federal definition and standard of identity for margarine, it cannot be marketed as margarine. Imitation margarine contains no more than 40% fat since under Federal law there must be at least a 50% reduction in calories in order to make certain dietary claims.

The first ingredient you will find listed on the label for the imitation margarine is water. According to the law ingredients must be listed in order of predominance.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise:
As do many people, I enjoy the comfort of traveling in shorts, but prefer to do my sightseeing and dining properly dressed. So I make my own outfits — shorts with button-down skirts to match.
While driving, this gives me the comfort of shorts, with my skirt folded lengthwise over the back of the front seat. Before I alight I put on the skirt and a pair of heels, kept for this purpose on the floor of the car. I'm ready for the nicest of restaurants or for sightseeing.
Chris Schneider

Dear Heloise:
While making grape jelly, I thought I'd save time by making a triple batch.
Wow, when that stuff started its full rolling boil, it really spit!
I grabbed a paper lunch bag, put my hand down into it and used it as a mitten to hold the spoon.
No more splattered arms.
Mrs. M. A. Lyon

Dear Heloise:
When setting your hair in rollers, zig-zag the parts. Keeps permanent parts from forming at every place where you usually place a roller.
"Former Hairdresser"

Dear Heloise:
At home, my mother had a sign above our bathtub that said:
I like most everybody
But there's one guy I snub
The guy who takes a bath
And won't wash out the tub!

Randall Checks Bostic in Invitational, 2 and 1

By CHARLES J. TIANO

Sports Editor

Put Leon Randall and Harvey Bostic head to head, with all the chips on the table, and you invariably get the same thing—an area golf classic.

It happened again Sunday, when Randall defeated his old golf caddy, 3 and 2, to capture his third Wiltwyck Invitational 11-year history of the premier title at Wiltwyck Country Club, golf event which annually attracts its full quota of 128 players from all parts of the Hudson Valley. They are 2 and 2 against each other.

where both of the players picked up birdie-4s on the 578-yard hole. Bostic was even par, 72, after 14 holes. The Blond Bomber made the turn in 2-under 23, with three consecutive birdies on the 5th (25 feet), 6th (5 feet) and 7th (15 feet) holes. Bostic playing even to the card (36) picked up his only birdie on the par-4, 387-yard sixth hole.

Takes Lead on 7th

Randall took the lead with a birdie-4 on the par-five, 504-yard seventh and the old protagonists battled evenly through the next six holes. Both birdied the par-5, 12th. Randall from 9 feet and Bostic on a 3-footer.

Suddenly and inexplicably, Bostic's game collapsed after he overhauled Randall on the 14th hole where Leon picked up his second bogey of the day after missing the green and where Bostic rolled in a clutch, 7-foot putt for his par four.

Bostic ran into trouble on the 15th where his approach over-shot the green and landed into a clump of pine trees bordering the green. His difficult wedge shot slipped 12 feet past the pin. Randall, meanwhile, was on in two 30 feet from the pin. He left his putt 3 feet but sank it after Bostic failed to negotiate his 12-footer and Randall led 1-up.

Trouble on 16th

On the par-three, 171-yard 16th, the "grief hole" at Wiltwyck, Bostic ran into more trouble, pushing his tee shot to the rough on the right of the green. Randall also hit the same area but closer to the hole and with a better lie.

Bostic peeked on his pitch shot, dribbling it only a few feet and his third shot was 2 feet short of the pin. Randall chipped 6 feet past the cup but holed it coming back for his par-3 which had Bostic dormie-2.

The match ended in anticlimactic fashion on the par-5 17th. Bostic dubbed his approach shot then laid an iron on the green 20 feet from the pin. Randall got a break when his approach was in and out of the shallow trip fronting the hole. He chipped to within 6 feet. Bostic canned his 20-footer for the birdie and when Randall dropped his the match was over.

Randall carded 6 birdies in the match. Bostic had four.

Randall breezed to the finals with three easy victories. He defeated home clubbers Frank Weller, 5 and 3, George Cosenza, 6 and 5, and Dan Gaffney in the semi-finals, 6 and 5.

Bostic drew tougher opponents and after eliminating Woodstock champion Bill Van Aken, 3 and 2, in the first round, had to travel 19 holes to oust Rick Bates of Stamford, 1 up. Bates was a finalist in 1963 and 1965. Bostic then beat former champion Bob Potford of Titchess, 2 and 1 in the semi-finals.

Defending champion Heinz Mews of Dogwood Knolls was given the first round shock treatment by Bill McCullen of Wiltwyck, who upset him, 2 and 1. McCullen then bowed to Dan Gaffney in the second round, 5 and 4.

Harold Van Aken of Wiltwyck won First Flight honors with a 3 and 2 conquest of Rusty Bates of Normanside, Albany. Mews overcame a three-hole deficit to edge Bill Van Aken of Woodstock, 1 up in 19 holes of the championship flight Beaten Eight finals.

Walkthon Gives N.Y. Even Split

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mickey Mantle's two-run single featured a four-run sixth inning and the New York Yankees scored four runs on bases-loaded walks Sunday in beating Cleveland 8-2 for a doubleheader split after the Indians won the opener 4-1.

Steve Hargan, the Indians' starting pitcher in the second game, walked six in 2 2-3 innings and the Yankees drew 10 bases-on-balls.

New York broke open a tight game in the sixth as Jake Gibbs beat out an infield hit against Hal Kutz, Cleveland's fifth pitcher. Dick Howser walked and Lindy McDaniel was safe at first, loading the bases, when Kutz' throw pulled first baseman Tony Horton off the bag on an attempted sacrifice.

One out later, Roy White walked to force in one run and Mantle greeted Vincente Romo with a line single to right field, scoring Howser and McDaniel. White scored on Joe Pepitone's single.

Tresh drew a bases-loaded walk from Hargan in the first inning and the Yankees scored three more in the third when Horace Clarke singled. Hargan walked three batters in succession and reliever Mike Paul forced in one run with a walk and balked in another.

Steve Barber, who pitched 5 2-3 innings, raised his record to 4-3 while Hargan was charged with his 11th loss.

Winning pitcher Sam McDowell singled in a run during a three-run fifth in the first game as the Indians extended their winning streak to six games. He was kayoed in the sixth when Tresh singled in the Yankees' only run but Romo preserved McDowell's 10th triumph with a two-hit 3-2-inning relief stint.

Schoendienst Really Knows Jerry Koosman

By PETE ALFANO

Red Schoendienst "barely heard" of Jerry Koosman before he named the Mets' rookie pitching sensation to the National League All-Star team—and now the Cardinal manager will be happy if he never hears of him again.

Koosman, making only his first appearance of the season against the world champion, hurled a four-hit shutout Sunday for his 13th victory as New York defeated St. Louis 4-0 to salvage a split of their doubleheader after the Cards and Bob Gibson took the opener 2-0.

Schoendienst admitted he named Koosman to the All-Star squad on the recommendation of the other league managers since he hadn't seen the 24-year-old rookie pitch all season. But after watching the talented left-hander fan Carl Yastrzemski to end the mid-season classic and then set a career high of 12 strikeouts while beating the Cardinals in 90-degree weather, he praised. "Koosman is a great pitcher," said Schoendienst. "He was ahead of every hitter and followed through just great. He'll never get a sore arm pitching like that."

Koosman walked only one as he hurled his fifth shutout of the year, setting a club record in the process, and raising his record to 13-5 which tied a club record for most wins by a left-hander in a season.

The winning run came in the sixth inning off loser Nelson Briles, now 11-7, when Cleon Jones singled, moved to second on an infield out and scored on J.C. Martin's single.

Gibson also raised his record to 13-5 as he posted his 10th consecutive victory in the opener with a seven-hitter. Bobby Tolan supplied the hitting support for Gibson with an inside the park homer off Jim McAndrew, making his first major league start, in the sixth inning and a run producing double off reliever Bill Connors in the eighth.

In other NL action, Cincinnati trounced Philadelphia 12-6, Pittsburgh blanked Atlanta 6-0, Chicago topped Los Angeles 7-2 and Houston split with San Francisco, winning the first game 2-1 in 10 innings before losing the nightcap 6-1.

Tony Cloninger slammed a two-run homer in the second inning while picking up his first win in a Cincinnati uniform and Lee May and Jim Beauchamp added homers as the Reds routed Philadelphia and Chris Short.

Home Runs by Willie Stargell, Dose Pagan and Donn Clendenon powered Pittsburgh over Atlanta and helped Steve Blass gain his eighth win in 10 decisions.

Glenn Beckert collected four hits to stretch his hitting streak hammered two homers to give Chicago and Bill Hands a victory over Los Angeles.

Willie Mays, playing first base in the nightcap, singled home the tie-breaking run in the third inning and Jim Hart and Ron Hunt drove in two runs each as San Francisco defeated Houston after the Astros won the opener on Dick Simpson's one-out single in the 10th inning.

Are copycats as good as Tiger Paws?

We made a terrible mistake in putting red circles on our Tiger Paws.™

It made Tiger Paws so easy to imitate. And it made it easy for some dealers who sell these copycats to palm them off as Tiger Paws.

Who do they think they're fooling?

You.

And they'll continue to fool you until you discover that your "Tiger Paws" aren't living up to their reputation.

How could they? Copycats only look like Tiger Paws.

Tiger Paws are made only by Uniroyal. And sold only by Uniroyal dealers.

Rubin's 154 Takes Warren Townley Cup

Drew Rubin of New York City, the lowest handicap player in the field, maintained a Woodstock Country Club tradition by winning the coveted Warren Townley Memorial tournament on Sunday.

Rubin, a 6 handicap shooter, put together a pair of 77s for a 36-hole total of 154, four strokes better than runnerup Mike Boyle, who carded 81-77.

Ray DuBois placed third in the gross division with his 78-81-159, Walter Van Wagenen's 79-81-160 was good for fourth place.

The low gross shooter is recognized winner of the Townley Trophy.

An interesting development occurred in the competition for low net honors, when Harold Dungey, who annually donates the Townley Trophy, won another trophy for himself by

Murray Paces Wiltwyck Junior Swimming Team

Craig Murray, 15-year-old Kingston High School swimmer, paced the Wiltwyck Country swim team in an impressive performance at the AAU Junior Olympic swim meet at Clinton Knolls.

Murray placed second in the 200-meter breaststroke for 15-17 year olds in a 3:10 clocking. He was fourth in the 200-meter individual medley relay in 2:48.

Susan Helmrich, a speedy 12-year-old, placed third in the 100-meter freestyle and fifth in the 100-meter breaststroke. Jay Rifenburg, 11, was fifth in the 100-meter freestyle.

Although several Wiltwyck swimmers qualified for the Regional Junior Olympic Championships on July 27, they will have to forego the event. Wiltwyck has its first swimming invitational on that same date. Thirty Hudson Valley teams have been extended invitations.

A team trophy will be presented in addition to medals for first, second and third places; and a high point trophy in each division to the winning boy and girl swimmer based on cumulative points.

LL: PB's Alexander 0-Hits Jaycees, Hurley KO's Ulster

The Ulster County Little League championship, culminating some two months of Little League baseball, will be decided tonight, 6 p. m. at Kingman Park when the Pine Bush All-Stars, 3-0, no-hit conquerors of the Jaycees take on the Hurley All-Stars, 6-5 victors over Ulster in yesterday's semi-final action.

The winner of tonight's clash goes on to the District 15 tournament later this month.

Pine Bush pitcher, Barry Alexander, walked the first batter he faced, Anthony Pagliaro, then proceeded to retire everybody else the rest of the way, picking up 13 of those outs on strikes — the lone walk running his perfect game bid.

For the 12-year-old, it was his third no-hit no-run performance in two years. In last year's tournament he tossed a no-hitter in the first round, but was defeated in succeeding play. Earlier this year, he blanked another team over in Pine Bush, hurling a perfect game that time.

The contest, played at Kingman, looked like it would go forever as Alexander's hill opponent, Kevin Coughlin of the Jaycees, whiffed the first 10 batters he faced and had a no-hitter going through the initial four innings.

PB Scores in Fifth
In the fifth, Pine Bush caught Coughlin for two runs — Rusty Bonney opening with a double, then a pair of singles and an error letting in the two tallies. Coughlin allowed five hits in all and had a higher total of 10 strikeouts than Alexander, chalking up 16 whiffs. He didn't issue a walk.

Over at Armory Field, Hurley and Ulster were knotted 4-4 after four. Ulster went ahead in the fifth. A sixth-inning, two-run rally by Hurley, plus relief and winning pitcher, Lee Geanealus had three hits, one a double, in four ups to pace the Ulster nine.

A total of seven two-base hits, plus a triple, accounted for the high score. There were 18 safeties in all. 11 for Hurley. Chuck Bouton of Hurley leading the way, driving in three runs on two doubles in four trips to the plate, his last scoring the game-winning tallies.

Lee Geanealus had three hits, one a double, in four ups to pace the Ulster nine.

Hurley Scores in Second
A single, an error, and Kantor's triple scored the first run for Hurley in the second inning, igniting a four-run rally. John Carr's double, an error, Bouton's double and passed ball scored the remaining runs.

Ulster came back with four, a pair of frames later, a walk, error, Phil Palladino's double and three consecutive fielder's choices knotting it.

A double by leadoff batter Walt Houghtaling in the lower half of the fifth, plus a ground nout and another fielder's choice put Ulster ahead, only to have Hurley win it on Bouton's no-out double with two on.

Braves Regain First by Bombing Astros, 7-0

The Kingston Braves accomplished a very important item over the weekend; first on Ron Thomas' two-hit pitch they avenged their lone second round loss and at the same time, moved into first place in that same round's standings. Thomas struck out seven, walked one. At the same time, the Braves belted Kiesbye for another base on end, sending 10 to the plate and getting all the runs across before an out was registered. Chalk Boice opened for Kingston and drew a walk. Joe Schabot followed and worked through the infield, sending Schabot and Davis home with runs two and three. Mike Patrick followed with another single to score Perry and Valle, making it 5-0. Garry Hawkins came up and belted his third home run of the year, pushing Patrick across ahead of him to make it 7-0.

That followed.

Ron Valle poked a single through the infield, sending Schabot and Davis home with runs two and three. Mike Patrick followed with another single to score Perry and Valle, making it 5-0. Garry Hawkins came up and belted his third home run of the year, pushing Patrick across ahead of him to make it 7-0.

Out came Kiesbye, in came Reed, and it was all over. Reed blanking the Braves until the seventh when he came out in favor of Steve Garo.

In other weekend action, New Windsor blanked Middletown, 3-0, Florida shutout Cornwall, 1-0 and Wappingers downed Cornwall again, 5-3, in second round action. First round games found Cornwall, the leader, beating Middletown, 11-1 and Middletown's Brian Seebor tossing an 8-0, no-hitter over New Windsor.

Windham Bombs Glasco All-Stars

The Windham Little League All-Stars, led by the hitting and pitching of Steve Smith, pounded out a 10-2 victory over the Glasco Little League in the district tournament to Athens, where the final rounds will be played.

Smith drove in three runs on a home run and single to give Windham all the scores it needed. In addition, he worked the mound, pitching the full six frames striking out three, walking two and scattering three singles, two of them to Lou Lareau.

Windham touched starter Allen Simpkins for all 10 runs. The second relief man, Ray Bonelli, also was unable to get anybody out, thus giving way to Mickey Watzka, who hurled two innings — plus of scoreless ball.

In all, Windham clouted Glasco for 14 hits, Ron Fisher's homer to go with Smith's, and Ken Holmok and Eric Euecher both smacking a double.

That Buckeye Tourney

Carol: Flabbergasted; Marilyn Sheds Tears

FIRST TIME 600 — Edna Bonestell of Woodstock is the latest entry in the KWBA's 600 Hall of Fame. She rolled a 232-607 in a Woodstock summer league. (Freeman photo by Krul).

By BOB WESTON

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Now golf star Marilyn Smith knows just how Roberto DeVicenzo felt in the Masters Tournament this year.

Like DeVicenzo, she became the victim of a costly official ruling Sunday. A two-stroke penalty for playing too slowly wiped out her one-stroke victory in the Ladies Buckeye Golf Tournament and made Carol Mann a flabbergasted winner.

Miss Mann won $2,775 for first prize, while Miss Smith had to settle for the $2,120 runner-up award which still was her biggest payday this year.

Before the official decision, Miss Mann was berating herself for missing a two-foot putt on the last hole which would have tied her with Miss Smith without the two-stroke penalty. She wound up with a seven-under-par 209, compared with 210 for Miss Smith.

"I hate to win a tourney this way," Miss Mann acknowledged. "I know I don't deserve it. Still there have to be some rules against slow play."

"It's like taking an exam in school," she added. "One girl finishes it in two hours and another girl takes three hours. That gives her an hour advantage."

Miss Smith, a 39-year-old veteran, buried her head in her hands and wept bitter tears at the scorers table. It was especially heart-breaking because she had lead throughout the tourney and played what she called the best golf of her career.

"I think this decision is justified," she sobbed. "We were held up by the gallery and we did some scrambling on the backside which also slowed us up."

Ironically, Miss Smith, a great favorite with fans because of her outgoing personality, took up some extra time by pausing to sign autographs along the way.

Booted and jeered by a large crowd around the scorers table, tourney director Leonard Wirtz showed he was one man who doesn't like to be kept waiting.

But, you would never know Big Julie was about out of shot. He withstood the challenge of several younger players, ignored the staggering summer heat and skipped the "one bad round" to win his first PGA Championship Sunday.

It was a big kick for the usually poker-faced Boros, whose parents migrated from Hungary, and he admitted rather shyly that he was excited at winning over Pecan Valley Country Club's 7,069 yard, par 35-70 layout. But, it marked another frustrating day for Arnold Palmer, who was trying for the 11th time to win the elusive PGA title.

Palmer saw birdie putt after birdie putt just miss, including an eight-footer on 18 that would have earned him a tie with Boros, and he wound up tied with Bob Charles, the New Zealander with the peculiar left-handed swing, for second place — one shot back of Boros.

Boros fired a closing 69 for a 72-hole total of one-over-par 281 — not normally enough to win. But it was enough in this one where no one could muster much of a charge and Boros was the first to admit, "I sort of backed into this," which netted him $25,000.

Backing out of it were Marty Fleckman, who had led or was tied for the lead after each of the first three rounds, and Frank Beard, who shared the top spot after the second and third rounds. Beard hogged himself to a 74 and 284, three shots back of Boros. Fleckman had a scrambling round, dilling two birdies with five bogeys, including one on the 18th when he hit a trap, for a 73 and 283. "I'm happy—I did the best I could," Fleckman said.

A HAPPY HEAVE, for Julius Boros, tossing the ball to the crowd after finishing the 18th hole with a par yesterday, giving him a four-round total of 281, one-over par, and the 50th annual PGA championship. Boros, the oldest player to win the title, beat out Arnold Palmer and Bob Charles with his one-under round of 69 yesterday. (UPI TELE-VIDEO).

Oldest Winner at 48 Boros Licked Jinx To Win PGA Laurels

By JACK WILKINSON

UPI Sports Writer

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—Julius Boros has been trying for weeks to beat "that one bad round."

I seemed to hit him just about every tournament this year—one bad round which nullified some nifty playing the rest of the way—and, at age 48, you know there's not many shots left.

But, you would never know Big Julie was about out of shot. He withstood the challenge of several younger players, ignored the staggering summer heat and skipped the "one bad round" to win his first PGA Championship Sunday.

It was a big kick for the usually poker-faced Boros, whose parents migrated from Hungary, and he admitted rather shyly that he was excited at winning over Pecan Valley Country Club's 7,069 yard, par 35-70 layout. "I'm happy—I did the best I could," Fleckman said.

Also backing away was Palmer, 10 years younger than Boros but only a shadow of his former self despite a great recovery shot on the 18th. Palmer missed makeable birdie putts on 11 of the last 13 holes, and it left him shaken.

"I was deeply disappointed," he said, adding that he had wanted to birdie 18 as much as any he had ever played, but had to settle for par and second place when his eight-foot putt missed by inches.

Tigers Are Caged

Turnabout AL Race Makes Weaver Happy

By MIKE RECHT

Associated Press Sports Writer

Earl Weaver knew what it would take to make him happy, but the question is: what does it take to make Mayo Smith unhappy?

Smith, with a stiff upper lip, watched the Baltimore Orioles sweep a doubleheader from his Detroit club 5-2 and 4-1, Sunday, turning the Tigers' American League pennant runaway into a pennant race, and still he found reason to rejoice.

"I'd have liked someone to tell me we would be 5½ games in front this late in the season," he managed to say with a smile. This despite the fact that the Tigers led the league by 9½ games 10 days ago at the All-Star break.

The happiness of Weaver, who is 9.3 since taking over from Hank Bauer as Baltimore's manager, is easier to believe.

"Three out of four was what we wanted," he said of the Orioles three straight victories over the Tigers after Friday night's loss.

Alvin Dark, manager of Cleveland, can't be too sad either after his Indians walked backward into third place and still gained ground on Detroit. The Indians are also 5½ games back, two percentage points behind Baltimore, after beating the New York Yankees 4-1 and then losing 8-4.

Boston, 9½ games out, also missed a chance to climb closer by splitting with Washington, winning 4-3 before losing 4-3. Completing the full schedule of doubleheaders, Minnesota swept Oakland 7-5 and 10-0 and the Chicago White Sox stumped California 5-1 before losing 7-0.

Hardin, 12-5, scattered seven hits for the first game victory. He was in command after Detroit's Tom Matchick tied the score 2-2 with a two-run homer in the fifth inning, and got the run he needed when Frank Robinson doubled and Boog Powell singled him home in the sixth off Earl Wilson, 7-8.

Dave Johnson, who had three hits, scored twice and drove in one run, and Curt Blefary later homered for insurance runs.

Phoebeus, 10-9, who left six Tigers on base in five innings, left in favor of Brabender with the bases loaded and one out in the sixth of the nightcap, and Brabender completed the three-hitter by retiring 11 consecutive hitters.

Home runs by Mike Epstein and Bernie Allen helped Washington to a 4-0 lead and ruined Boston in its second game after Reggie Smith clouted two homers to give the Red Sox the opener.

Frank Howard had belted his 27th homer and a two-run triple for a 3-2 lead before Smith connected with one on in the eighth. Bob Allison, who homered in the first game for Minnesota, cracked a double, triple and three-run homer to make Jim Perry's seventh victory in 13 decisions easy.

Joe Horlen and Hoyt Wilhelm combined on a five-hitter for Chicago's triumph, but Clyde Wright twirled a six-hitter for the Angels in the second game to stop the White Sox. He was backed by home runs from Rick Reichardt and Roger Repoz.

Making New Cartoon Without Walt Disney

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — For the first time in the history of the Disney Studio, a feature cartoon is being made without the guidance and control of Walt Disney.

"Jungle Book" was the last animated feature produced under the watchful supervision of Walt, who oversaw all the films, beginning with the trail-blazing "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in 1937. Now his studio's animators and artists are engaged in a brand-new film, "The Aristocats."

"Actually, Walt did put the project into work," says Wolfgang "Wooley" Reitherman, who is directing the feature. "At the beginning it was very loose, just as all of them are at the start. It began as a show for the television series, and we were working on it after '101 Dalmatians' (1961). The idea kept growing, and it appeared more suitable for a full-length feature."

Imprint Was Placed

"The Aristocats" had scarcely progressed beyond the formative stages when Disney died in December 1966. While he hadn't animated a frame of film since the earliest days of Mickey Mouse, his imprint had been placed on every detail of the cartoon features.

"Walt kept a good over-all eye on everything we did," said Reitherman. "During the early years he was in on every stage. In the last 10 or 15 years he was busy with other things, and his comments were more general."

"He would check to determine if the sequences were well balanced and if the personalities were coming off in a pleasant way. He came up with some damn good ideas in that important field. After all, the whole meat of the cartoon feature is personality and character."

The storyboards that line the walls of Reitherman's office and spill out into halls of the animation building—these are the pin-up preliminary sketches of the film—indicate a wide range of personalities and characters in "Aristocats." The plot concerns an eccentric Parisian lady, with the voice of Hermione Baddeley, who leaves her fortune to her cats. Upon their death, the money goes to the butler, and there hangs the plot. The butler tries to eliminate the cats—in a nice sort of way.

A Rollicking Duet

The mother cat is voiced by Eva Gabor, and Phil Harris plays Thomas O'Malley, the alley cat. He sings a rollicking duet with Louis Armstrong. "Everybody Wants to Be a Cat."

It will be a long wait before audiences will see "Aristocats." Reitherman reported that about one-third of the feature is in animation. The rest will be ready for the theaters by Christmas of 1970—"If we're lucky."

BOSTON STRUGGLE — Boston police officers struggle with youths during a riot on the Boston Common early Sunday. The "hippie" raid was staged by 40 policemen including members of the tactical patrol. Some 50 youths were arrested for violating the Common's midnight curfew. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Narcotics Raid Nets 21 Suspects

ROME, N.Y. (UPI)—Twenty-one persons from the Rome and Utica areas face hearings today in connection with drug raids carried out over the weekend by state and local police.

Four locations were raided in Rome and two in Utica Saturday night and police said they confiscated a quantity of marijuana, hypodermic needles and a substance believed to be LSD. Fifteen persons were arrested in Rome and six in Utica. All except one were held without bail for arraignment Monday on charges ranging from selling and using LSD and marijuana to loitering for the purpose of using drugs. Authorities released one person on bail. Most of those arrested were between the ages of 17-21, police said.

When a small boy's sweet tooth starts to demand satisfaction, you might think it would take much more than an investment in a penny gum machine to solve such an annoying problem. It's hard to believe that in today's world a penny can still buy so much pleasure.

But the truth is, there are still a number of things which cost little and deliver much. Freeman Want Ads are a good example. The price is low (as little as 55c per day), but the accomplishment is big. To sell, buy, hire, rent or find, a Want Ad will always get the job done. Call 338-0606 for friendly assistance in placing your ad.

Dear Abby

Should Tell It Like It Is

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1968 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I have a sweet little 6-year-old daughter I'll call Molly, and I am "expecting" again in a few months.

Molly plays with two neighbor girls who are 6 and 9. The mother of these girls has been instructing them in sex education which has become a problem to me. The neighbor girls told Molly that "her Mummy has a baby in her tummy, and it's growing like a watermelon, and Daddy planted the seed!"

Now, what in the world am I going to tell Molly when she asks me about this "planting" procedure?

I went over to have a talk with my neighbor, and I asked her to please tell her girls not to discuss such things with Molly because I intend to answer all her questions in my own way when the time comes, but right now she is too young to understand these things. I said this all in a very friendly way, and the mother agreed to cooperate. Twice since that time Molly has asked me some shocking questions as a result of something these girls have told her. It seems that their mother has shown the girls a book with pictures in it showing how a baby is born! Now my Molly wants to see the book. Can you help me?

CLEAN-MINDED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: I think your neighbor's approach to teaching her daughters what every girl must know sooner or later (and the sooner the better) is healthier than yours. Have another talk with her. You can benefit greatly. You say that you will answer your child's questions when she asks. She is asking now, so tell her. Don't worry about whether she understands or not.

If she doesn't, it won't harm her, but it will make sense when she does reach the age of understanding.

When mothers become embarrassed and evasive when sex is mentioned, the child gets the idea that something is wrong (or "dirty") with the whole business. You desperately need to educate yourself before you can educate Molly properly.

DEAR ABBY: My brother collects motel keys. That is, he keeps the key to motels where he stays on business.

I chide him about being a "thief," and he huffily informed me that the room rent included the price of the key. Who is right and if I am, what is wrong with him!

LINCOLN, NEBR.

DEAR LINCOLN: The room rent does not include the price of the key. The key belongs to the establishment. I don't know what else is wrong with him, but so far, I'd say he is light fingered and ill-informed.

DEAR ABBY: This letter isn't likely to impress MRS. PLANNED PARENTHOOD, but that's all right, because her letter didn't impress me either.

I would like her to know that some of us with bigger families "plan," too. Only we plan on having children FIRST—then we have our expensive homes, fancy cars, pleasure trips, etc., if we can afford them, that is. I agree with her on one point, however. I think all children should come into the world wanted and loved. But the world would be a lot better off if people would learn how to love the children they get, rather than take pills to keep from having them.

MOTHER OF SEVEN
Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jim: "How about a few columns on preserving entries for a long suit?"

Oswald: "It looks as if you have been looking at Marshall Miles' article on that subject in the May-June issue of 'Popular Bridge'. We might even use some of his hands."

Jim: "Why not? Let's start with a simple one. South is in a normal contract of three no-trump. He has seven tricks in top cards and must look around for two more. The obvious place to find them is in the diamond suit, the only five carder in his hand or dummy."

Oswald: "South saw this, and at trick two he made the proper lead of a low diamond toward dummy. His plan was to play low from dummy and to repeat the ducking procedure to lead diamonds."

Jim: "That play would have worked, but unfortunately for declarer, West played his queen of diamonds when South led the deuce. South looked owlishly at the queen and could not resist putting dummy's ace on it. As South pointed out later, if that queen had really been a singleton, South would only have made one diamond trick if he had ducked and was going to be sure of two diamond tricks by rising with the ace."

Oswald: "South was wrong in both his play and analysis. South would not make his contract if that queen was a singleton. He needed three diamond tricks, not two. Furthermore, South was not sure of two diamond tricks when West played the queen. There is no law to prevent a smart player rising with the queen when holding K-Q-10."

Jim: "West's play of the queen had little to commend it except that it worked. Once South wasted dummy's ace of diamonds he had no way to make his contract. Of course he played it out to the bitter end, but East and West made no mistakes and South went down."

Baseball: the Prime Needs

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Habits are often comforting. When I was a boy, my father and I would have late-night ice cream sodas at Schrafft's on 57th Street in New York. To this day, I have a soda at home before going to bed, and the nostalgic memory helps make it my tranquilizer. I tried sleeping pills twice, but stayed up all night waiting for them to take effect.

Habits can also be a hangup. I was thinking of that this past weekend in relation to baseball, after watching and listening to some games on television and radio. I've always been a traditionalist about the sport every time somebody in television tried to mess around with it, and basically I still am. But there's no question baseball needs some new zip.

Dull Picture

The sports writers have been making suggestions about how to enliven the actual playing of the game, and many of the recommendations make sense—especially those that would result in more runs being scored. But most of us are connected in to baseball either through the television picture or the sound of radio broadcasts. That's where we get our impression of the sport, and it's not a flattering one. It's dull for the most part, regardless of how many runs are scored.

We're living in a more visually oriented age, with the vividness of colors impressing us in clothes and other basic items. But baseball remains gray and flat, with hardly any flair—the most game broadcasts help create this image.

I know it's a small point, but I like to watch the Oakland Athletics on television because of their uniquely flashy and colorful uniforms. They remind me of the uniforms I remember since childhood—the ones worn by softball teams who played under the lights at MacWilliam Stadium in Perth Amboy, N.J., where my grandfather had a hot dog and soda stand. What great colors! I wish more major league baseball teams got rid of their drab costumes. I think many younger people wish that too.

Times Past

Most of the game announcers seem to be living in a time capsule. Across the country, their general outlook seems to be rigidly middleaged, locked in the same verbal motions, the same clichés, dull statistics, hoary anecdotes, well-known explanations of strategy—usually delivered with an oleaginous smugness and confidence that their listeners are in the same time capsule.

What baseball broadcasting needs is—in the new vernacular—a little soul. It needs a little cool 1960s style. It needs to be once more with feeling.

Maybe what baseball really needs is for a team or two to be bought by some very young people, and for them to shake up the business the way kid executives have done to the record industry. I'd like to see that. I'd like to hear their announcers, and watch the whole scene. If baseball doesn't turn on a little bit in the near future, it may find itself with a number of viewers and listeners tuning out. The year is 1968, even in baseball.

'Favorite Son' Coalition Neutral in GOP Running

By United Press International

A coalition of Republican "favorite sons," which opponents of Richard M. Nixon had hoped might block his presidential nomination, has fizzled.

Instead, the three key Republican governors who had discussed the coalition, and Gov. Ronald Reagan of California who had not, have decided to remain neutral in a final attempt to keep the GOP race open.

The three governors were George Romney of Michigan, James A. Rhodes of Ohio and Spiro T. Agnew of Maryland.

Proposal Collapses

The coalition, proposed by Romney, collapsed when Rhodes said he could not commit Ohio to any unified course of action at next month's GOP Convention in Miami Beach.

Rhodes told the governors he would remain uncommitted at least until the start of the August 5 convention and it was understood that Agnew and Romney, at a meeting with Rhodes Sunday morning, decided on the same stand.

They, along with Reagan, intend to remain favorite son candidates until the convention, withholding their support from Nixon or any other candidate until then.

Reagan meanwhile arrived at the governors' conference at Cincinnati acting very much like a candidate but still withholding any definite announcement.

He said convention delegates should have a "free and open mind" and not make a decision until they look over all factors at the convention.

In other political developments: Debates—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy Sunday invited Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to join him in three nationally televised debates prior to the Democratic National Convention, instead of one.

A Humphrey aide said the vice president would consider it. Both candidates have agreed to debate Vietnam and other issues but details still were to be worked out.

Nelson Rockefeller—The New York governor, in the latest of series of position papers on campaign issues, called for a broad program for the planning and development of new cities by private developers with the help of government.

Nixon—Sen. John Tower, a key Nixon adviser, said Nixon is skeptical about chances the Vietnam talks in Paris would lead to peace. Nixon meanwhile returned to his native California for the first time since announcing his candidacy. He called Reagan a "major contender" for the GOP nomination.

Humphrey—The vice president over the weekend emphatically rejected the support of antiwar Democrats who want him to say President Johnson and his Vietnam policy were wrong.

Two congressmen Sunday asked all announced presidential contenders—including George Wallace—to endorse a plan to deny Wallace a voice in the selection of the next president if the election is thrown into the House. Wallace himself said the election "will not go into the House" but would not elaborate.

Poll—About a third of Rockefeller's supporters and a third of McCarthy's would rather vote for each other's candidates than for either Nixon or Humphrey, the latest Gallup poll indicated.

Suggests HHH Quit as Veep

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Two Democratic governors have told Hubert H. Humphrey he needs a dramatic political initiative to enlist new supporters and accelerate his White House campaign—and one of them suggested that the move be his resignation as vice president.

Gov. Philip H. Hoff of Vermont said he suggested resignation to Humphrey as a declaration of political independence from President Johnson and the administration. He said he told Humphrey his major campaign problem is that "you can't be your own man" while serving as vice president.

But he said Humphrey replied he could not resign the job to which he was elected. Hoff and Kenneth M. Curtis of Maine, both former supporters of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy for the Democratic nomination, met secretly with the vice president in Washington one week ago.

They told of that meeting in interviews at a national governors conference marked by talk of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy as a potent choice for second spot on a ticket headed by Humphrey.

Curtis, who did not join in Hoff's suggestion that Humphrey resign, said Kennedy's nomination for vice president might provide the drama and appeal he believes the Humphrey campaign now needs.

While Hoff and Curtis talked

SAUGERTIES SKIRMISH—The Civil War vintage cannon of the 10th Massachusetts Battery won the top score of 13 in the weekend North-South Skirmish in Saugerties. The event was sponsored by the reactivated 120th Volunteers of Saugerties. More than 27 cannon groups participated. The 14th Virginia Cavalry Company B. won second with 10 points and Company A of the same unit won fourth place with 9 points. The 115th Pennsylvania Volunteers were third with 9 points. This skirmish event was held on the grounds of Sawyerkill Country Club at Washington Avenue Extension. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Civil War Shoot Results In Flaming Near-Tragedy

SOMERSET, Mich. (UPI)—When they shoot the Civil War cannons, they pack the powder in with a wad of paper or cloth. When the shell leaves the cannon the wadding is supposed to go with it and disintegrate. Usually it does. Sunday it didn't.

A bit of flaming cloth fluttered in the air after a cannon was fired. It hung a second, then dropped into an open keg of gunpowder. The keg exploded. Flames shot in all directions. People stamped. Some lay where they had fallen, their faces bloody masks.

The Heritage Muzzle Loaders Association Sunday was demonstrating the old instruments of Civil War destruction when the clot wadding waited lazily into the powder keg. It was the close of the two-day national cannon and carbine team matches. It was very nearly a disaster.

Some 20 cannons were set up along a quarter-mile line, and members were firing round after round at makeshift forts. The curious stood around the cannons. Among them was Diane Korb, 8, Ferndale, Mich., and her sister Karen, 5.

Suddenly the flaming cloth fluttered into the air instead of whizzing off with the shell. The keg exploded.

Forty-one persons were injured, seven of them burned critically.

"I just heard a big noise and then all this smoke. I started running away," sobbed Diane.

"My hair was burning while I was running and my little sister Karen fell down. My brother had to carry her, but then he had to help another girl," she said.

Diane's father, Thomas Korb, a member of the Heritage Muzzle Loaders, explained.

"Some 30 clubs with carbine teams had come for the matches. They had built makeshift forts for targets and were firing away."

"My little girls were near the Gatling guns, as close as they could get to the cannon shoot when it went off," he said.

Diane and Karen were treated for flash burns, cuts and bruises.

A first aid tent on the rifle grounds treated 16 persons, while 25 more were taken to hospitals in Jackson, Tecumseh and Hillsdale. Hillsdale County sheriff's deputies said. Five of the critically burned were taken to the University of Michigan burn center in Ann Arbor.
